PLANE UPSETS IN RIVER, LINDYS SAVED

Today

A 21-Billion City.
How Strange Is Gold.
From Chinatown to China.
Lovely Forgiveness.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

IF REAL ESTATE values impress you, take off your hat to old Father Knickerbocker, of New York City. New York's real estate for taxation is tentatively assessed over NINETEEN BILLIONS, TWO HUNDRED AND NINETY-SIX MILLION DOLLARS an increase of more than $1,100,000,000. That doesn't include personal property, or franchise assessments, which would bring the total value up to $21,000,000,000.

No wonder New York State and New York City have good credit in the money market. One single building, the Empire State erected by former Gov. Smith and associates, is assessed at $42,000,000.

STRANGE IS GOLD, "yellow and cold, scorned by the young and loved by the old, almost within the grave's cold mould."

First, foreign nations, including Switzerland and Belgium, take away nearly $300,000,000 of our gold. Today you read that Japan is sending us $35,000,000 gold. Japan intends to cling to the gold standard, and sends us the gold to protect "yen exchange against our dollar."

If you don't understand that, you have plenty of company, in your lack of understanding.

THE ENGLISH pound went up in value yesterday. Why?

There is talk of an increase in Federal Reserve rediscount rates. Why is that necessary?

The Federal Reserve is not doing the work it was supposed to do, making currency plentiful in times of depression.

The Federal Reserve can rediscount only what is called "commercial paper." In a depression, when currency is most needed, with flexible credit, the "commercial paper" disappears and there is nothing for the Federal Reserve to discount.

How much time will be needed to make the Federal Reserve more flexible, that it may issue currency against other values as good as commercial paper?

THERE IS COMFORT in the words "a dollar's worth of gold back of every dollar," but it is possible to have your money too valuable. Ask the businessmen of Niagara Falls. Canadian dollars are worth only 70 cents in American money, and Canadian customers are not buying on the American side.

What applies to tourists from Canada applies to importers of all countries that must use their feeble money to buy our powerful dollars when they purchase goods here.

IT IS SAID that the administration in Washington will not even discuss bi-metalism or putting silver back to its old respectable place. The government believes that gold is the best basis for our country's monetary system, that Britain and other European countries have abandoned the gold standard only temporarily.

HOWEVER, SILVER has been good money for 5,000 years. We have plenty of it, and it is generally admitted that the nation, as a whole and as individuals, needs "more currency."

Uncle Sam's revenue in a year is off $1,000,000,000. Governments, like individuals, suddenly lose their credit when they really want money. They can get all they want when they don't need it.

Borrowing may not be so easy and opinion on bi-metalism may possibly be revised "temporarily."

FIFTY YEARS ago in New York there lived a small boy, son of Tom Lee, Chinese, and a Christian woman. He was a Baptist, nominally, and educated at New York University. Today, that boy, under the name of Frank W. Lee, is foreign minister of China.

His career recalls an older, more interesting Mongolian, Attila, King of the Huns. Attila got his ideas of Christian civilization, such as it was, 1500 years ago, in the city of Rome, went back to his native Mongolia, returned to terrify and override Europe, until he died suddenly on the night of his marriage to a young girl named Ildico. He is supposed by some to have been poisoned by her.

CANON ROGERS, chaplain to King George, says the nations should adopt a doctrine of forgiveness and Uncle Sam should lead in "constructive sympathy" in dealings with other nations.

Uncle Sam was "constructively sympathetic" to the tune of $10,000,000,000, and was called "Uncle Shylock" for his pains. Forgiveness has been in the Lord's Prayer for a long time, but not in active use.

France never forgave Germany for taking away Alsace and Lorraine, which had previously been taken from Germany. French and German mothers will not forgive the killing of their sons.

Forgiveness has little to do with world affairs, but intelligence should teach men that war doesn't pay and persuade them to abandon it.

A SUIT BROUGHT against Otto H. Kahn, well-known New York banker, is thrown out of court for lack of proof, a slander action included in the case being declared fraudulent by the court.

Leaving aside the merits of any particular case, Mr. Kahn is to be congratulated upon preferring a fight in open court

LIMIT USE OF VOTING MACHINES

Commissioners Restrict Equipment; Can't Prepare Sheets in Time—Cloonan

The County Commissioners today voted to limit use of voting machines election day to the three third-class cities and not more than the first 10 wards of Pittsburgh. Paper ballots will be printed for every district as a safeguard.

The action was based on the declaration of Gilbert C. Cloonan, election bureau chief, that it would be a physical impossibility to prepare and print vote machine ballots for universal use in the time remaining. He said the copy could not be prepared before October 10, with the election November 3.

He said legislation would be needed to correct the situation. It was not explained how other cities overcome the problem.

Armstrong Asks Recount In Seven Districts

County Commissioner Joseph G. Armstrong today tore a leaf from Commissioner Charles C. McGovern's rules of campaigning when he filed petitions for the recount of ballots cast September 15 in seven districts—six in Mt. Lebanon and one in Carnegie.

All of these districts gave McGovern substantial leads in his hotly contested battle with Armstrong for the second Republican Commissionership nomination. Several districts, where exceptionally heavy votes were cast for Armstrong, now await Recount Board retabulation on McGovern petitions.

DISTRICTS NAMED

The districts in which Armstrong asked for the recounts are the First and Fifth of the First Ward, the one district comprising the Third Ward, and the Second, Third and Fourth Districts of the Fourth Ward, Mt. Lebanon Township, and the Second District of the Second Ward, Carnegie.

Imprisonment of minority election inspectors who have not complied with the District Attorney's order to present their triplicate tally sheet of the September 15 vote count for inspection by the grand jury investigating election frauds was urged by McGovern today.

McGovern, whose friends charge he is being "counted out" of the second majority commissionership nomination after apparently having won it on the face of unofficial returns, had a long conference with District Attorney

Jeweler Hit By Auto Dies From Injuries

Marcus Goldstone, 53, of 3 Stevenson street, at one time a well known jeweler, died in the Mercy Hospital today from injuries suffered Monday when hit by an automobile. Goldstone was crossing Stevenson street at Fifth avenue when hit by the machine of J. McCaffrey, of 1317 Webster avenue.

McCaffrey was notified to post bond with the Coroner pending an inquest.

Rudy Croons Love to Fay, Denies Buying Baby Cart

By DAVID P. SENTNER
International News Service.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—Rudy Vallee, of whom girls dream, today put on a real love-scene when his bride, Fay Webb, returned to his arms after a month's visit to her parents in California.

Stepping off her train, the black-eyed, dimpled Fay flung herself into the outspread arms of the waiting king of crooners. They kissed. It was a humdinger of a kiss.

It was better than a stage kiss. It was a three-and-one-half minute kiss—time enough to make any kiss boil.

A movie cameraman who was grinding away, shouted:

"That's hot. Do it again."

They hugged and Rudy crooned silvery music into the tiny ears of his bride. He murmured:

"Do you love me? I love you."

And Fay crooned right back:

"Oh, Rudy darling, I missed you terribly."

To break affectionate tension which hung all over Grand Central Terminal, the newspaper reporters began asking questions.

What was this story of Rudy going into a department store the other day and purchasing a baby-cart? Rudy replied, with smiling dignity:

"I must emphatically deny that I purchased a baby-cart. I bought a small cart to carry around my moving picture camera. It was not intended to be used as a baby-cart."

LIPTON DIES IN LONDON AT 80

Death Ends Colorful Career Of Famous Sportsman And Merchant; Chill Fatal

LONDON, Oct. 2.—(AP.)—Sir Thomas Lipton died here tonight.

The 80-year-old yachtsman, as popular in the United States as he was at home, became gravely ill from the effects of a chill contracted several days ago and yesterday was reported near death.

LONG FIGHT FOR CUP

Internationally famous yachtsman and tea merchant, Sir Thomas Johnstone Lipton spent more than 30 years of his life and nearly $10,000,000 of his vast fortune nursing a hobby to win back for England the America's Cup—a silver yachting trophy actually worth a hundred guineas.

He never succeeded, but the attempts brought him international fame and eventually a golden good-will cup presented to him last year as an American token to "the gamest loser."

In 1851 the little clipper yacht America, an unknown contender, crossed the Atlantic under her own sail, took her place on the

COYNE BACKER DIES IN JAIL

Thomas Hansberry, 30, storm center of a number of political escapades in the Strip, and supporter of Senator James J. Coyne, died today in the county jail.

He was awaiting trial on a larceny charge and was to have had a hearing in Millvale this afternoon on a charge of slashing the automobile tires of Constable Luke Hannan, of Alderman Luke Sullivan's office, while Hannan was under arrest in Shaler Township.

Hansberry's troubles had multiplied as the result of the bitter fight in the Strip during the primary election.

Two charges had been filed against him in Alderman Sullivan's office.

Ex-Wife of Morgan Scion Weds Banker

PEAPACK, N. J., Oct. 2.—(AP.)—Mrs. Marie Hamilton, former wife of Pierpont Morgan Hamilton, was married quietly yesterday to W. Everardus Bogardus, Honolulu banker, at the country estate of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Ledyard Plair. The ceremony was performed by a cousin of the bride, the Rev. Chauncey W. Goodrich.

Mrs. Bogardus was the wife of the grandson and namesake of J. Pierpont Morgan. Their marriage ended in divorce.

Pershing Sleeps During Stop Here

Gen. John J. Pershing, war time commander of the A. E. F., passed through Pittsburgh early today, en route from Chicago to Washington. The veteran soldier was asleep while the train made a short stop in the Pennsylvania depot at 3:40 o'clock.

Dr. Cooper Improves Following Collapse

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Oct. 2.—(AP.)—Physicians late today reported the condition of Dr. William John Cooper, United States Commissioner of Education, was "somewhat improved." Dr. Cooper collapsed while addressing a luncheon club yesterday.

SPORTSMAN'S PARK, ST. LOUIS, Oct. 2.—The St. Louis Cardinals, champions of the National League were leading the Philadelphia Athletics, champions of the American League, in the second battle of the 1931 world series here this afternoon.

Bill Hallahan, Cardinal southpaw, started on the mound for the National Leaguers, while George Earnshaw a righthander, was chosen for mound duty by Connie Mack.

The second battle drew another capacity crowd.

Hilahan started in an aggressive manner. He forced Bishop to ground to Frisch and fanned Haas and Cochrane.

Watkins doubled with one out in the Cards' first, but was left stranded, as Frisch and Haas flied out.

The Cards had little trouble disposing of Simmons, Foxx and Miller in the second. Simmons lined to Hafey. Frisch tossed out Foxx and Miller fanned.

The Cardinals scored a run in their half of the second when Martin doubled, stole third and crossed the plate on Wilson's fly to Haas.

The game in detail:

FIRST INNING

ATHLETICS—Frisch threw out Bishop. Haas fanned. Cochrane fanned.

CARDINALS—Bishop threw out Flowers. Watkins doubled to center. Frisch flied to Haas. Bottomley lined to Haas. One hit.

SECOND INNING

ATHLETICS — Simmons lined to Hafey. Frisch threw out Foxx. Miller fanned.

CARDINALS—Earnshaw threw out Hafey. Martin doubled to left. Martin stole third. Wilson sent a long fly to Haas, Martin scoring. Gelbert singled to right. Hallahan fanned. One run. Two hits.

THIRD INNING

ATHLETICS — Dykes flied to Flowers. Williams fanned. Frisch threw out Earnshaw.

CARDINALS—Flowers flied to Haas. Watkins singled to center. Frisch popped to Williams. Bottomley was thrown out by Bishop. One hit.

FOURTH INNING

ATHLETICS—Bishop fouled to Flowers. Haas flied to Hafey. Cochrane walked. Simmons forced Cochrane, Gelbert to Frisch.

Kingsford-Smith Arrested by Turks

ISTANBUL, Oct. 2.—(INS.)—Wing Commander Charles Kingsford-Smith, forced down at Milas, Asia Minor, by a sandstorm while attempting a record Australia-England flight, was placed under technical arrest by Turkish authorities at Milas today, charged with landing in the Turkish government's military aircraft zone without obtaining permission.

EDISON GROWS WEAKER

WEST ORANGE, N. J., Oct. 2.—(INS.)—Thomas A. Edison was weaker today in his long battle against illness, his personal physician, Dr. Hubert S. Howe, admitted in the official bulletin.

The daily automobile rides have been abandoned, and an air of tenseness prevailed among members of the family gathered at the bedside of the noted inventor. A terse statement by Dr. Howe read:

"As a result of a restless and uncomfortable night, Mr. Edison is slightly weaker this morning."

Irene Fenwick Sued As Result of Crash

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 2.—(AP.)—Mrs. Lionel Barrymore, known in motion pictures as Irene Fenwick, was sued today for $10,300 as the result of an automobile accident here last July 15.

F. C. Conners, of Los Angeles, charged the actress' sedan crashed into a smaller automobile driven by him, causing injuries to his wife, Marie, and daughter, Jean.

Yates ResignsSeat; Shooting Aftermath

British Sailors to Rescue As Famous Flying Pair Are Thrown Into Yangtse

HANKOW, China, Oct. 2.—(AP.)—The monoplane of Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh capsized in the Yangtse River here today, throwing the famous fliers into the water but they were rescued quickly by men from the British aircraft carrier Hermes.

The upset occurred while Lindbergh was turning the plane about on the surface of the river preparatory to a takeoff on another volunteer flood survey flight. The body and a wing of the plane were damaged.

Col. and Mrs. Lindbergh had just climbed into the plane and had been lowered from the deck of the Hermes preparatory to making a survey flight to the vicinity of Tungting Lake, 75 miles southwest of here, with Dr. King of the China Famine Commission, as a passenger.

WING STRIKES WATER

One wing struck the water as the plane turned about, capsizing the craft and throwing the Lindberghs and Dr. King into the river.

The Hermes lowered a lifeboat and pulled the trio out of the water in short order. The plane then was picked up and lifted to the deck of the Hermes.

The accident temporarily ended the survey flights, which have been in progress since Lindbergh arrived in China from Japan several days ago. The plane probably will be taken to Shanghai for repairs. It was expected the fliers would depart for Shanghai on the Hermes Sunday with the damaged craft.

Two planes from the Hermes, which were circling above when

Town Hall Location Case to Be Appealed

Attorney Oliver K. Eaton today said an appeal would be filed on or before Monday, the expiration of the time limit, from the decision of Judge James R. Macfarlane refusing to restrain the County Commissioners from acquiring the Nicola site for a Town Hall at $8 a square foot. One basis of appeal will be that the city zoning ordinance prohibits such a building in the Schenley Farms neighborhood.

Wilkins Quits Sub, Sails for New York

SOUTHAMPTON, England, Oct. 2.—(AP.)—Sir Hubert Wilkins sailed today for New York. He said the submarine Nautilus, in which he cruised under the polar ice, would be towed to sea out of the Port of Bergen and sunk after the scientific apparatus used by the expedition is removed.

Gabby Hopes to Baffle A's On Train If Not on Field

By ARTHUR (BUGS) BAER

After picking the A's to win four straight, mixed with rain, the Seabury committee investigated us and discovered we were born in Philadelphia.

Connie Mack was pretty well baffled yesterday by Gabby Street, but outsmarted him.

We gotta hand most of the credit to Grove, who winds up like he studied pitching on a Turkish prayer rug.

But Simmons didn't do bad when he smacked one of Derringer's bafflers through eight players and four umpires.

Gabby is now figuring to baffle the Athletics on the train going to Philadelphia.

President Hoover will see that game and Judge Landis is anxious to show Herbie what a grip the national pastime has on the ghost writers.

Connie Mack ain't sure who he will pitch today if Grove sleeps late.

CAPTURED GUNMAN KILLS HIMSELF IN P. R. R. STATION

DYING, ADMITS SHOOTING IN ALIQUIPPA

Wounded Man Says Suicide, Once Friend, Used Gun In Robbing Him of $115

Two hours after he had shot and wounded probably fatally John Karagiannis, 35, Aliquippa restaurant owner and his friend of many years, Leo Arigrikas, 37, of 137 Kiehl street, Aliquippa, shot and [illegible] himself in the washroom [illegible] the Pennsylvania Railroad Station here early today.

Karagiannis told police Arigrikas had shot him after holding him up and robbing him of $115.

The fugitive trapped as he was purchasing a ticket told Pennsylvania Railroad police before he died of the self-inflicted bullet wound that he had shot Karagiannis.

Karagiannis in a serious condition in Rochester Hospital is to be given a blood transfusion today in an effort to save his life.

Aliquippa police doubt Karagiannis' story of the holdup and today were continuing their [illegible]ation which they said may [illegible] other developments.

[illegible]ED AT STATION

Aliquippa police obtained a description of the robber and telephoned Pittsburgh police to be on the lookout for him. They also notified the railroad police at Pittsburgh to watch for the suspect, believing that he would make an attempt to leave the district by train.

Railroad Policemen William Hunter and G. J. Morgan stopped Arigrikis for questioning when he stepped from a taxicab in front of the depot. He asked permission to purchase a ticket for Steubenville.

After purchasing his ticket Arigrikis and officer Hunter went into the restaurant while Patrolman Morgan went to telephone to Aliquippa police. A few moments later Arigrikis asked permission to go to the wash room and was accompanied by Hunter. While in the room he suddenly drew a revolver and shot himself in the head.

LOOT MISSING

Patrolman Hunter summoned Morgan, and the two prepared to rush the victim to a hospital. Before he died, Arigrikis told them, the two officers said, that his name was John Pappas and that he had shot a man in Aliquippa. He died a few minutes later, and his body was taken to the morgue.

George Arigrikis, a brother of the dead man, came to the morgue early today and identified the suicide as his brother. Arrangements were made to turn the body over to J. B. Pierce, an Aliquippa [illegible]ker. George Arigrikis was [illegible] to explain why his brother [illegible]ed his life and said that [illegible] no knowledge of the Ali[illegible] shooting.

Although $115 was obtained in the holdup, only $4.15 was found in clothing of the suicide. The revolver contained three bullets and two empty cartridges.

Gandhi's Birthday Party Omits Toast to King

LONDON, Oct. 2.—(AP.)—Three hundred admirers of Mahatma Gandhi, most of them English, had luncheon with him today [illegible] of his sixty-third birthday, but for each guest there was [illegible] apple, one pear, one banana, one [illegible] and one orange.

There was ice water, except for the Mahatma himself, who drank goats' milk, but the toast to the King, a rite at all public dinners in England, was omitted.

The Independent Labor party and two Indian societies in London were hosts. Gandhi sat between Fenner Brockway and the long-haired, stern-faced James Maxton.

As a birthday gift Gandhi received a tall spinning-wheel on which a ball of Indian cotton had been wound.

He was not the only guest in a strange costume. One young Englishman with wavy blond hair had cycled to the gardens of Westminster Palace for the function wearing only a shirt and khaki shorts. Some English women wore homespun dresses and there were a few beautiful Hindu girls, whose jewels and flowered shawls were a sparkle of color.

LINDYS SAVED FROM RIVER

the accident occurred, later made a survey up the river.

It was the second case of serious trouble for the Lindberghs since leaving New York July 29 on their flight to the Far East.

August 18 they were forced by motor trouble to descend at Avatcha Bay on the southern end of the Kamchatka Peninsula shortly after taking off from Petropavlovsk for a 987-mile flight to Nemuro, Japan.

Upon repairing the trouble they started again, but encountered a thick fog bank midway of the Kurile Island chain about half way between Petropavlovsk and Nemuro and managed to land at Ketoi Island, the "black hole" of the Kuriles, upon finding a gap in the fog.

The Lindberghs moored their plane in the dangerous waters near the island and spent an anxious night. The next day the Japanese steamship Shimushiru Maru arrived at the scene in response to orders from the Japanese government.

WORST EXPERIENCE

Lindbergh described that night afloat as one of the worst in his experience. The Japanese ship next day towed the plane to a safer achorage on the island and stood by during the second night. Motor trouble developed for Lindbergh again and on the third day the plane was towed by the ship to Muroton Bay, 15 miles distant. There the Lindberghs spent a day during which the motor trouble was overcome.

They started for Nemuro again but once more the characteristic fog blanked them and they were forced down on the southernmost island of the Kuriles, where they spent another night before being able to proceed to Nemuro.

BRITISH RIOTS BRING ROW IN COMMONS

Laborites Threaten Armed Clash; Leaders Charge Government 'Repression'

LONDON, Oct. 2.—(AP.)—Charges of "repression" were hurled at the government and threats of resistance were made by a group of Leftwing Laborites from the Clydeside district of Scotland in the House of Commons today as a sequel to rioting in Glasgow last night.

David Kirkwood led the group in refusing to accept the denial of Secretary for Scotland, Archibald Sinclair, that no measures of repression were being invoked against unemployed persons who battled with police and looted stores in the Scottish industrial city.

Shouting he would go to Glasgow himself and defy the law, Kirkwood said:

"You will have to take our lives or we will take yours. You can do anything you like. Do you think we are going to stand for our people being batoned?"

The speaker took cognizance of Kirkwood's outbreak and the House quieted down without further fireworks.

Meanwhile, final arrangements for a general election next month were being made by all parties today in the belief that the dissolution of the present government was inevitable.

Prime Minister MacDonald hopes to have a final audience with the King tomorrow before making a formal announcement. He went to Seaham Harbor this morning to face his constituents tonight for the first time since the formation of the Nationalist ministry. Their leaders have repudiated his policies and asked him to resign by a narrow vote.

The Liberals continued to hunt for a suitable campaign formula which would avoid committing them to a definite tariff platform. Sir Herbert Samuel and the other Liberals in the cabinet already have pledged themselves to stick by Mr. MacDonald whatever happens.

The role of David Lloyd George, their ailing leader, was considered likely to be one of passive resistance due both to his health and to his opposition to endangering Liberal principles in a tariff controversy.

LIPTON, 80, DIES IN LONDON

starting line with a field of 18 illustrious "thoroughbreds" of the aristocracy, and astounded every sportsman in Britain by hugging to herself the victory and the cup in a race around the Isle of Wight. Six years later the cup became an international trophy, dubbed "the cup of all nations."

Sir Thomas made five attempts to assuage this blow, which had carried gloom to the heart of every British yatching enthusiast from queen's palace to peasant's cottage, but try as he might, spend as he would, the battered old mug never budged from its pedestal in the New York Yacht Club. Each time Sir Thomas sailed away, saying:

"The best boat won, but I'll try again."

STARTED AS POOR BOY

Aside from his long and ardent yachting career, the life of Sir Thomas Lipton was full of many interesting features, although the weather beaten sportsman himself was reluctant to admit it.

He was born May 10, 1851, at Glasgow, Scotland, of Irish parents. After a brief schooling, he was compelled to seek work to aid his parents in their struggle for a livelihood, but after two years as a messenger boy, the lure of bigger things got the better of him.

Stowing away on a steamer, bound he knew not where, he landed in America and worked for a while on a rice plantation in South Carolina. Making his way to New York two years later, he found that fortune still kept far ahead of him, and many a night he is said to have slept on park benches. Finding work at last, he soon had sufficient money to pay his way by steerage back to Glasgow, where he landed without funds, but with a head full of American ideas.

LURED BY ADVERTISING

Most of all, he had been impressed with the American methods of advertising. Describing these in glowing terms to his parents, who had accumulated a few hundred dollars, he succeeded in persuading them to open a small provision store. He advertised boldly and expensively, considering the capital behind him, and soon made his name known throughout Glasgow.

The shop prospered beyond Lipton's most extravagant dreams, and soon another one was opened modelled exactly after the first. After a few years he had a whole string of shops in Glasgow and was growing rich. He entered the London field, then Liverpool and Manchester and at the height of his business career controlled more than 600 stores in England, America and other parts of the world.

In order to supply his retail stores more directly, Lipton bought a tea plantation in Ceylon, to which he later added a coffee plantation and then a cocoa grove. Finding these investments profitable, he continued to purchase plantations, and soon his teas were known around the world.

HUNT SLAYER OF PLAYWRIGHT

WESTPORT, Conn., Oct. 2.—(AP.)—The search for a solution of the death of Kenneth Raisbeck, 32-year-old playwright, of East Moline, Ill., was extended to Massachusetts today in the hope that Henry B. Wibbels, Jr., former Yale art student, might help clear some of the puzzling circumstances in the death.

Police, believing that Raisbeck might have been slain, sent a patrolman to Cambridge, Mass., after learning that Wibbels was there.

Wibbels, police said, appeared to answer the description of a youth in whose company Raisbeck was seen Tuesday night, the night before the body was found in Christ Church Cemetery. Wibbels was reported to have said he was in Cambridge Tuesday and Wednesday. Portions of Raisbecks' body were sent to a laboratory for tests, which were expected to reveal if he was slain or died a natural death.

TRADE SURVEY DATA OFFERED

Pittsburgh district market as it applies to their organizations.

The Polk survey, completed after a three-month canvass of Pittsburgh and 26 suburban towns in Allegheny County, covers 29 basic industries. Questionnaires with 18 fundamental questions about merchandising habits, economic character and commodity ownership were presented to housewives by tabulators for the annual city directory census.

Pittsburgh was chosen as a test city for the consumer research. Similiar surveys are to be made in 1,279 other markets, representing cities of more than 25,000 population throughout the United States.

One of the most surprising results of the census shows that, in 52 per cent of Pittsburgh families, no person smokes cigarets. Of all the stoves in Pittsburgh, 47 per cent are shown by the report to be old and deteriorating.

Complete reports from 70 per cent of the families in the district, gathered from 218,000 women, are included in the survey.

A preliminary presentation of the tabulation was made yesterday afternoon to a miscellaneous group, composed of publishers of magazines and newspapers and merchants.

Significant facts revealed by the census were features of a report made at a noon luncheon in William Penn Hotel yesterday. The merchants heard a discussion of the possibility that the facts will throw new light on present economic theories and conditions. Edgar J. Kaufmann, president of the Retail Merchants' Association, presided.

Beer Survey Still On, Hyde Reports

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—(INS.)—Study of the economic effects upon the nation, following the proposed legalization of beer, is still under way by Department of Agriculture experts, Secretary of Agriculture Hyde declared today.

Hyde, an ardent prohibitionist, said the survey had brought some facts regarding the economic effect upon agriculture, but said the knowledge obtained would not permit him to say how the investigation appeared at present.

HOOVER SCANS NEW DRIVE FOR PROSPERITY

President and Aides Spend Long Hours in Study of Plan to End Depression

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—(AP.)—A new effort to pierce the walls of depression is under serious consideration at the White House.

President Hoover is devoting most of his time to its study. Although its nature is being withheld for the present, a high authority stands responsible for the statement that the chief executive has before him details of a fresh offensive against economic conditions.

With five of his lieutenants, who keep closest tabs on these conditions, Mr. Hoover spent many of his office hours yesterday peering intently into various angles of the problem. They were Under-Secretary Mills, of the Treasury; Gov. Meyer, of the Federal Reserve Board; Secretaries Lamont and Stimson, of the Commerce and State Departments, and J. C. Roop, director of the budget.

Strategy Board Planned To Avert Job Crises

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—(AP.)—The world of finance and trade stepped forward today in the battle against unemployment, writing its own ticket for prevention of big layoffs in the future.

A 20,000-word report on continuity of employment, embodying plans for a strategy board at the helm of business, big and little, was placed for approval before the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

The report is the product of six months of close study by a special committee comprising a score of leading industrialists, headed by Henry I. Harriman, of Boston, chairman of the board of the New England Power Association.

This committee, principally concerned with averting recurrence of present distress, would have a planning board to advise producers how to keep both production and payrolls nearly level through times of expansion and of curtailment in consumption.

Another recommendation of the committee would have industry set aside a part of its earnings in prosperous times to take care of employes when earnings fall off—just the way dividends often are protected.

COLLINGS SUSPECT OFFERS ALIBI FOR NIGHT OF MURDER

VISITED SISTER, VETERINARY DECLARES

Ritchie Insists He Went Clamming in Connecticut Despite Denial By Son

By JAMES GORDON SIBLEY
International News Service.

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., Oct. 2.—After a night and a day of thought on the subject, Dr. Leslie Ritchie has remembered where he was and what he did on the night of the murder of Benjamin P. Collings.

Asked about his movements on the night of the ninth, Dr. Ritchie said he and William, his son, had gone "eeling" on Cold Pond, about five miles north of Stamford.

"There wasn't anything biting—we only caught four or five, so we set out an eel line and came back home. I picked up my wife and we went to the second show."

SON READY TO FIGHT

Dr. Ritchie admitted he had frequently gone "clamming," which statement was in direct contradiction to the story told by William Ritchie, who persisted in his statement that his father had not dug clams while in Connecticut.

William Ritchie announced he would "fight transportation" back to New York. He was unable to throw any additional light on his actions the night of September 10.

Mrs. Julia Ritchie, who said she was a nurse by profession, said her veterinarian husband had cautioned their son, William, shortly after their arrest Wednesday night not to reveal the fact that Dr. Ritchie was a clam digger. She said:

"He was afraid efforts would be made to connect him with the Collings murder."

WIFE CONFIDENT

She herself said Dr. Ritchie often dug clams.

She denied Tatroe was at her home until 2 a. m. on the night the murder occurred on the yacht Penguin.

Mrs. Ritchie said she was convinced her husband and son were not involved in the murder. She recalled published portions of the first story told by Mrs. Collings relating to the actions of the senior man while they were in the canoe. She said:

"I know my husband. He would not do that."

Mrs. Collings Goes South To Inspect Ritchies

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—(AP.)—Mrs. Benjamin Collings will have a chance to say definitely whether the two men being held at Daytona Beach, Fla., had anything to do with the murder of her husband.

With her lawyer, William A. Kelly; her sister-in-law, Miss Helen Collings; Fred Gunder, assistant district attorney of Suffolk County, Mrs. Collings left last night for Daytona Beach. She is due to arrive there late tonight. Before deciding to make the journey, Mrs. Collings studied photographs of the two men—Dr. Leslie D. Ritchie, 51, and his son William, 23.

She said, after looking at telephotoed pictures, she could not be sure, but that she doubted if the Ritchies were the men who boarded her husband's cruiser the night of September 9, killed him and then abducted her.

One lead in the murder investigation collapsed late yesterday when it developed that a body washed ashore on Long Island Sound Tuesday was not that of William Smith, as had been supposed. William Smith was an acquaintance of the Ritchies. He was located in Bloomfield, N. J., and said he knew nothing about the Collings case.

Yacht Inquest Closes With Mystery Unsolved

HUNTINGTON, N. Y., Oct. 2.—(AP.)—After hearing brief testimony about the autopsy, the Coroner's inquest into the strange murder of Benjamin P. Collings, of Stamford, was closed today with the mystery of his death still unsolved.

Coroner William B. Gibson formally ended the inquest with this statement:

"I find that Benjamin P. Collings met his death on the morning of September 10, 1931, in the waters of Long Island Sound as a result of injuries inflicted by person or persons unknown and that the direct cause of death was drowning."

$2,500 Fire Damages Man's New Home

Fire last night did $2,500 damage to the two-story frame home of Vinko Zalic, in North Versailles Township. Zalic had moved into the house yesterday. The flames, of undetermined origin, had gained great headway before McKeesport firemen arrived.

2 BOYS MOURN INDIAN FIGHTER

Mathew Dabulsky, 20, and his brother, John, 14, of Canonsburg, today were mourning the loss of their pal and protector, Robert Donald Anderson, 65, of 904 West Diamond street, North Side, who died yesterday in the Presbyterian Hospital. Except for the brothers, Anderson, an Indian fighter, died friendless.

Mathew and John, sons of Mrs. Agnes Molesky, of Canonsburg, have been befriended by the elderly man, and made their home with him on the North Side. Mathew came here with an older brother six years ago. The older brother enlisted in the Army and Mathew remained on the North Side. He was given a home by Anderson and later John also came to live on the North Side.

Although the boys had been constant companions of Anderson, they never learned much of his history, except that he was employed at the Hotel Schenley, at one time had been in the Army and had fought Indians in the West.

Neilan's Hard Luck Gets Court Leniency

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 2.—(AP.)—The hard luck story of Marshal Neilan, motion picture director, won him freedom from a contempt of court charge in Superior Court here.

Mrs. Gertrude B. Neilan, first wife of the director, who also is divorced from Blanche Sweet, former film star, claimed he was thousands of dollars in arrears in alimony. Neilan told Judge Dudley Calentine he was out of work and that his first wife is remarried to a wealthy New Yorker.

HINDENBURG 84; ACCLAIMED BY NATION

Aged German President Hailed as Warding Off Financial, Political Chaos

BERLIN, Oct. 2.—(AP.)—Paul Ludwig Hans von Hindenburg, who was first in war and is first in peace, was 84 years old today and the Fatherland rejoiced.

Thirteen years ago on this very date he saw the hitherto impregnable Hindenburg line waver and collapse under the united assaults of the Allied forces under Marshal Foch.

Today as president of the first German republic he is once more the field marshal leading the nation in a peace time war against the onslaughts of economic depression and political dissension.

At an age when most men are semi-invalid, his body seems as sturdy, his mind as active and his eye as piercing as when he was a youth. Known as "Der Alt" (the old gentleman), he still is a stickler for military discipline as a veteran of three wars, but a man of kindly disposition recalling the boy who at the age of 11 said, "I always want peace and quiet."

Cablegrams, telegrams and letters came by the thousands from all parts of the world to the executive mansion on the Wilhelmstrasse to wish him many happy returns and many more anniversaries.

Owing to the pressure of state affairs the President spent the day with his family instead of hunting and fishing on his country estate among the peaceful hills of Bavaria. The first to greet him were his granddaughters, Gertrude, 8, and Helga, 7, and his son, Oscar.

YOUTH'S KILLING STORY CHECKED

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 2.—(AP.)—A 16-year-old conscience-stricken burglar suspect paced a county jail cell today while the sheriff's homicide squad checked details of his alleged confession to the murder of Louise Teuber, 19, former West Virginia girl and a 5 and 10-cent store clerk, in San Diego last April 19.

The youth, Lowell M. Bell, arrested three days ago as a suspect in a Hollywood robbery, confessed he strangled Miss Teuber with his coat, Capt. W. J. Bright, head of the homicide squad, announced. Miss Teuber's body was found suspended from a tree. A rope was around her neck.

Bell, whom San Diego Naval Patrol authorities said is a deserter from the Navy, was quoted by Bright as saying preying eyes followed him and caused him to summon authorities and confess the crime.

FRICK'S WIDOW IMPROVES

BEVERLY, Mass., Oct. 2.—(AP.)—Mrs. Henry Clay Frick, widow of the steel magnate, to whose bedside her daughter, Helen Clay Frick, flew from New York, was reported improved last night.

Miss Frick, who inherited $7,000,000 from her father, had gone to New York at the end of the summer season but hurried back to the family's North Shore summer home to be with her mother.

RELIEF PLEDGE GIVEN BUTLER RY WEALTHY

Says 14 Millionaires Will Donate Half of Riches For Education, Job Aid

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 2.—(AP.)—A plan whereby wealth would be taxed and the proceeds used for governmental education of all youths was outlined by Gen. Smedley D. Butler. He said 14 multimillionaires, representing wealth of $5,000,000,000, had announced themselves willing to give 50 per cent of their money to back his plan, provided it would be uncontrolled by politics. He refused to reveal their names.

He warned that unless the scheme, or a similar one, was put into use soon mob violence and revolution would face the United States.

Butler's plan contemplates taxation of wealth, the proceeds to be appropriated by Congress for use directly and indirectly for unemployment relief by providing nation-wide school building, road construction and subsidies for invention and infant industries.

FREE COAL FOR MUNHALL'S NEEDY!

NEEDY DIG COAL IN STREET MINE

Unemployed in the Homestead Park district of Munhall are boasting a whole winter's supply of coal—miraculously provided for them almost at the front door.

Men, women and children, armed with picks, shovels, wheelbarrows, sacks and small delivery trucks, have been taking coal from that section for the past week. Shady avenue, a newly-opened street in the new development, is the scene of activities.

While excavating the street, the contractor found a deep vein of coal. On account of the moisture, it is necessary to remove the coal to a depth of six feet in order to pour the concrete on a solid foundation. The coal is of a fairly good grade, residents say, and more than 100 tons have already been hauled away.

According to an old miner, the mine was abandoned by the Pittsburgh Coal Company more than 25 years ago.

Atterbury Offers Hall Private Car

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 2.—(AP.)—Gen. W. W. Atterbury, president of the Pennsylvania Railroad, has offered to furnish a private car to bring Councilman Charles B. Hall from the Mary Immaculate Hospital in Jamaica, N. Y., to his home in Philadelphia.

Hall was stricken at the Acqueduct race track several days ago. Doctors said his condition was so serious it would be dangerous to move him.

N. Y. Relief Program Gets Flying Start

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 2.—(AP.)—New York state's $20,000,000 unemployment relief program got under way with organization of the special commission named by Gov. Roosevelt as relief administrators. Jesse I. Straus, of New York, is chairman, and Philip J. Wickser, of Buffalo, secretary. John Sullivan, president of the New York State Federation of Labor, is the third member.

Hurled from his automobile when it skidded and struck a pole on the Lincoln Avenue Bridge early today, Albert Jugbluth, 20, of 203 Lehigh avenue, was injured seriously. He was removed to Pittsburgh Hospital where it was said he had suffered a fractured skull and internal injuries.

FOG PREVENTS AKRON FLIGHT

AKRON, O., Oct. 2.—(INS.)—A heavy fog today forced postponement of the scheduled sunrise takeoff of the U. S. S. Akron, world's largest airship, on her fifth flight to test deceleration, water ballast recovery and her engines.

After waiting more than two hours for the fog to lift, Navy officials definitely announced the flight was off but stated the giant ship might be taken aloft later today.

Fascists Indorse Duce's Lira Policy

ROME, Oct. 2.—(AP.)—Premier Mussolini's policy of maintaining the lira and safeguarding it against the dangers of speculation received the hearty backing of the Fascist Grand Council at a meeting tonight in the "World Map" room of the Palazzo Venezia.

The council passed a motion affirming that deflation of currency, increase in the gold reserves and the adjustment of prices to the money level are to the best interest of the nation.

This action was taken at a meeting in which the council surveyed the domestic and external policies faced by Italy.

Belle Livingstone's Reno Club Raided

RENO, Nev., Oct. 2.—(AP.)—While festivities were in full swing, Belle Livingston, former New York night club hostess, now operating in Reno, received her first visit in Nevada from federal prohibition agents last night. Three bartenders were arrested. The officers said a quantity of liquor with fancy labels was seized.

Walsh Finds Wine Bricks Within Law if Kept Dry

Police Supt. Peter P. Walsh today was satisfied that California grape bricks on sale here—that might turn into wine if you fail to comply with directions for their use—were non-alcoholic and fully within the law.

Tests made by the city Bureau of Food Inspection at Walsh's request disclosed no alcohol and no bacteria or adulterants of any form in the pound bricks now on sale here.

City chemists said, however, that if purchasers place the bricks in water for a time, the water would turn into wine. And that, they say, would be against the prohibition laws.

The tests were made in the presence of Health Director Charles B. Maits and a number of newspapermen at the City-County Building.

Co-Eds Deny Smoke Story About W. C. T. U. Founder

EVANSTON, Ill., Oct. 2.—(AP.)—The Northwestern University co-eds who wanted permission to smoke indoors instead of out did not use Frances Willard, later founder of the W. C. T. U., as their example.

Jean Van Evera, women's editor of the student daily newspaper, disclaimed published quotations attributed to her, saying that Miss Willard had been caught smoking during her undergraduate days. Miss Van Evera heads a committee of six girls who don't smoke but are pressing a petition for the right to decide whether they shall smoke in sorority house rooms.

'WIFE TRADING' SNARES SUITS FOR DIVORCE

Puzzled High Court Justice Grants Decree to Farmer; Dismiss Woman's Charge

International News Service.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 2.—Supreme Court Justice Samuel Harris grappled today with the question of whether two farm women from Clarence Center had swapped husbands.

Albert Stockman, farmer, and his wife, Laura, brought divorce actions against each other.

Stockman charged his wife had been living in the home of a neighbor, Christian Abt, since July, 1928. Mrs. Stockman, denying the charges, counter-claimed that her husband had been friendly with Mrs. Abt, the wife of Christian, since July, 1928.

Abt testified today:

"We all went to a lawyer's office and drew up separation agreements. Then Mrs. Stockman went home with me as my housekeeper and Mrs. Abt went to Stockman's house."

The witness said that they all helped each other move furniture from one home to the other.

However, Mrs. Abt denied remaining in Stockman's home.

The two husbands were equally emphatic in denying there was any undue friendship with the other women, but admitted they couldn't get along with their wives.

Justice Harris scratched his head and then made his decision. He granted Stockman a divorce and dismissed the counter-claim of Mrs. Stockman.

Savings Bank Closes At Steubenville

STEUBENVILLE, O., Oct. 2.—(AP.)—The Union Savings Bank and Trust Company of Steubenville suspended business today and was taken over for liquidation by Ira J. Fulton, state banking superintendent.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 2.—(AP.)—Two neighborhood trust companies in Philadelphia closed their doors today. They were the Olney Bank and Trust Company, Fifth street and Tabor road, with two branches, and the Jefferson Title and Trust Company, at Twenty-ninth street and Girard avenue. Their affairs were placed in the hands of the State Banking Department.

Weather Conditions.

High pressure again covers practically the whole eastern half of the country with its crest over the Southern Appalachian section, while pressure is relatively low over the West. The principal low is centered over Saskatchewan, and extends southward to a center in the Far Southwest. This distribution of pressure is producing clear skies generally over the country, although there is some cloudiness over the Ohio Valley states and at scattered places elsewhere. The precipitation for the last 24 hours was light and scattered. Temperature changes were slight, but generally towards rising. There was no frost reported this morning and no low temperatures.

River Conditions.

M'GOVERN, BARR JOIN FOR RACE IN NOVEMBER

Independent Ticket Formed; Commissioner to Run Regardless of Recount

Regardless of the outcome of the primary election County Commissioner Charles C. McGovern will be a candidate for re-election with former State Senator Cadwallader M. Barr as his independent running mate. They both informally announced their candidacies at a meeting for the Twenty-sixth Ward workers in Perry High School last night.

In his announcement Barr said:

"If I am elected a County Commissioner the first motion that I make will be for a complete audit of the county's fiscal affairs to find out what has become of the millions that have been spent. It would be a catastrophe for this county and state if Commissioner McGovern is not returned to office and he should have somebody to back him up as a majority commissioner. If he doesn't, there is $40,000,000 more of bonded indebtedness that Joe Armstrong and his gang can and will saddle on the already overburdened small home owner who cannot pay his taxes now. McGovern has earned a majority commissionership. He has delivered the goods as a minority commissioner and the people will have nobody but themselves to blame if they fail to turn out November 3 and elect him.

"McGovern was cheated out of the controllership when he ran for re-election. If he had not been cheated some of the men who are candidates today would have been in jail. He had the gang on the ropes but they succeeded in cheating him out of the nomination and they are desperate now."

ANSWER QUESTIONS

Expressing uncertainty as to the outcome of the official tabulation of the primary election vote McGovern said:

"I don't know what the outcome is going to be but by the grace of Armstrong and his cohorts I may be one of your Republican Commissioners. But if I have to run independently in the general election I will keep my promises. I said that if I was not given a vote of confidence I would not seek further public favor. But I feel that I did and that I got enough votes to be nominated."

Answering questions in an open forum at the close of the meeting Barr replied to a query as to what ticket he was going to run on:

"Joe Armstrong has tried to preempt the Independent party name. We may not get it. But if Joe does, he should laugh himself sick in bed at the idea of being an independent candidate. We have not decided what ticket we will run on. October 6 is the last day to file nomination papers."

SCORES ARMSTRONG

Mention of the "Square Deal" ticket brought the remark from McGovern:

"Armstrong sometime ago in a public statement asked for a square deal, something he never gave anybody in his life."

McGovern, when asked if persons whose names have been stricken from the Registration books, can qualify to vote in the general election said:

"I believe that anybody who paid his own taxes will be reinstated by the Registration Commissioners. But I know that if all you can tell them is that some big tall fellow gave you your receipt, or it was slid under your door, they won't let you vote."

Mrs. E. Jette Maier presided at the meeting and other speakers were Deputy Attorney General Ralph H. Smith and Clifford Franz.

$400,000 ASKED IN BALM SUIT

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 2.—(INS)—Startling developments have arisen from the alleged desertion on the part of Giles P. Wetherill from his wife, the former Justine Jordan, a direct descendant of King George III of England, it was revealed here today.

Suit has been filed by the plaintiff asking $200,000 from her mother-in-law, Mrs. Samuel P. Wetherill, wife of Col. Samuel P. Wetherill, Jr., charging she stole the love of her husband. A suit for a like amount has been filed against Col. Wetherill, it was revealed.

The sum asked is to aid toward relieving her of the humiliation and disgrace she has undergone as a result of her husband making a hurried trip to Reno ostensibly to obtain a divorce decree, says Mrs. Wetherill.

JOBLESS SEEK WORK ON DAM

HARRISBURG, Oct. 2.—(INS)—Although only 60 men are now actively employed, reports reaching the Department of Forests and Waters today indicated that thousands of unemployed men are camping on the site of Pymatuning reservoir in Crawford County, where Pennsylvania's largest artificial lake is under construction.

Two thousand men were reported on the ground when work on the mammoth dam got under way on September 16, and this number is reported augmented daily by an influx of skilled and semi-skilled workmen.

Department officials said reports from Western Pennsylvania were that some job-seekers are arriving by train and auto and others via the "thumbing" route.

RECOUNT ASKED IN ARMSTRONG PETITIONS

Mt. Lebanon and Carnegie Vote Attacked; McGovern Urges Jail for Officials

Andrew T. Park. At its conclusion he said:

"If I had my way I would put them in jail first and let them tell their troubles to a lawyer afterwards. The law provides a $1,000 penalty for the failure of a minority inspector to keep his triplicate sheets for one year. There are between 30 and 40 of them who have not brought in these sheets for inspection."

Park said he would take the matter under consideration.

SUBPENA ASSESSORS

The highlight of the grand jury's investigation today was expected to be appearance of 25 subordinate tax assessors who were subpenaed yesterday on Park's order.

The summoning of the assessors was part of Park's determination to have the jurors delve into registration and assessment frauds which it is charged were committed with the view of placing names of non-existent persons on the voting lists.

A force of special investigators under the direction of Peter A. Connors of the Registration Commission was at work today checking upon the "existence" of 150 "phantom" voters for whom subpenas were issued by the District Attorney yesterday. Although the entire number has not been checked Connors said about 50 per cent of them are being found.

The jury which indicted 18 persons for election law violations yesterday was scheduled to make a presentment today to the court, recommending further indictments.

PARK HOLDS JURY

With the jury's powers widened to include investigation of the registration and assessment irregularities through an order signed Wednesday by Judge James H. Gray, Park changed his plans and decided to hold the jury in session at least another week although it ordinarily would have ceased to function today.

The October grand jury will convene Monday, taking up routine business while the present one will devote its entire time to election thievery charges with the expectation of filing additional indictment recommendations within the week.

Decision on Barring Forward Votes Withheld

Decision on the petition to throw out election results from the First District, Forward Township, has been withheld by Judges George V. Moore and Elder W. Marshall, supervising the Returning Board's official count of the September 15 primary vote. A decision had been expected today.

The Election Board of this district already has been indicted by the grand jury.

The Return Board is expected to end its count Wednesday.

County Commissioner Joseph G. Armstrong had increased his lead to over 7,000 over Commissioner Charles C. McGovern in the official count of 650 districts completed at noon today. Comparison of the official and unofficial vote for these districts showed:

Official—

Mansfield	McGovern	Lowe	Armstrong
121,229	93,410	96,381	100,544

Unofficial—

Mansfield	McGovern	Lowe	Armstrong
119,922	93,555	92,627	96,537

The official returns showed a loss of 31 for Armstrong from unofficial figures in the Second Ward, Port Vue, and a gain of 41 for McGovern.

Returns from the Democratic primary indicate that Judge Joseph Stadtfeld will be one of seven judicial candidates of that party. His name was written in a sufficient number of times to insure him of a place on that ticket in the November election.

Russia Modifies Home Heating Ban

MOSCOW, Oct. 2.—(AP)—Owing to unseasonably cold weather in Moscow Soviet authorities have modified a recent decree by ruling that homes may be heated only every three days until the regular heating season begins October 15. The temperature was in the upper thirties.

Citizens previously had been forbidden, as a fuel economy measure, to heat their homes without special authorization.

Michigan Trooper Faces Death Charge

IRON MOUNTAIN, Mich., Oct. 2.—(AP)—State Trooper Theodore C. Friegel was charged with manslaughter in connection with the shooting of Richard Frankini, killed in a Loretto, Mich., barroom Sunday midnight.

The warrant was issued by Prosecutor Paul Rahm following the inquest. Seven witnesses said the shooting appeared unwarranted but Friegel insisted he shot when he believed his life was endangered by a surly barroom crowd.

Ex-Police Captain Dies of Cat Bite

ORLANDO, Fla., Oct. 2.—(AP)—James N. Hartley, retired captain of police at Washington, D. C., died here from the effects of a bite by his pet cat three weeks ago. He was brought to a hospital here from Eustis, where he had made his home for about five years.

Hartley took the Pasteur treatment several days after the cat bite but later became so ill he was transferred to the hospital.

Rail Service to End On Ridgway Branch

The Pennsylvania Railroad will abandon passenger service on the Ridgway branch, between DuBois, Pa., and Ridgway, Pa., with the running of the last train October 10. Service has consisted of two trains a day. The villages of Croyland, Garovi and Brockway are affected. The branch line forms a secondary connection between the Pennsylvania's Low Grade branch and the Renovo division main line.

N. Y. 'Society Man' Held on Rum Charge

OMAHA, Neb., Oct. 2.—(AP)—Kenneth Spurling, reputed society bootlegger of New York, who says he once served as a captain in the British marine aviation corps, was arrested at Logan at the request of federal agents of Omaha on a charge of possession of liquor.

Spurling claimed to be well known in New York society. He refused to pose for pictures on the ground that "it would sell for a big price in New York."

CARUSO WIDOW SUED IN N. Y. BY MRS. CALVIT

Lillian Russell's Daughter Seeks Ring Given Tenor's Widow by A. P. Moore

Charging that the $50,000 diamond emerald studded ring which the late Alexander P. Moore, Pittsburgh publisher and diplomat, gave to Mrs. Dorothy Caruso Ingram, widow of Enrico Caruso, famed Metropolitan Opera tenor, was not his to give, Mrs. Dorothy Russell Calvit has filed suit in Supreme Court of New York for recovery of the gem.

The suit was revealed when Justice John E. McGeehan signed an order permitting Mrs. Ingram to be examined before trial.

The ring, Mrs. Calvit contends, was the property of her mother, Lillian Russell, and that she gave it to Alexander Moore, husband of the famous stage star and her own step-father, to keep for her. In June, 1922, she alleges, Moore gave the ring to Mrs. Ingram.

NOW SHE'S SUING AGAIN!

Mrs. Calvit, daughter of Lillian Russell, the late and celebrated actress, who has filed suit in New York to recover from Mrs. Dorothy Caruso Ingram, widow of Enrico Caruso, famed tenor, a $50,000 diamond ring, emerald-studded, given by the late U. S. Ambassador A. P. Moore, one-time Pittsburgh newspaper publisher.

CAPONE 'TRUST' IN ROADHOUSES

CHICAGO, Oct. 2.—(AP.)—A report was printed by the Chicago Tribune today that the Alphonse Capone syndicate has virtually put the saloons and roadhouses of Cook County on a chain store basis for everything from beer to pretzels.

Even towels and table linen must be purchased from a Capone company and laundered by a Capone laundry, according to the revelations which the newspaper said had been made. Ginger ale, soda pop and carbonated water must be bought through the Capone syndicate. Thus Capone collects a profit on the pretzels which the customer munches with the beer he [illegible].

WOMAN BLAMES JUDGE IN THEFT

PORTSMOUTH, O., Oct. 2.—(AP.)—A story of friendship with a judge whom she blamed for alleged shortages in her account was told by Mrs. Marguerite A. Tidd, 35, former municipal court clerk, who is on trial charged with embezzling $2,115.

Mrs. Tidd, testifying in her own behalf yesterday, declared Municipal Judge William R. Sprague, 50, was responsible for discrepancies in her account, but that she resigned and took the responsibility with the understanding she would receive half-pay and be re-employed after the November election.

She also declared that as a result of her friendship with the judge, he paid her husband $1,500 to prevent the latter from "filing suit." She became acquainted with Sprague three years ago and a year ago went to New York with him on a week's trip which cost the judge $500, she testified.

TAX RECEIPTS SHOW BIG DROP

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—(INS.)—Showing a reduction of $231,000,000 from last year, income tax receipts for September amounted to $267,257,000, the Treasury announced today.

For the first quarter of the 1932 fiscal year tax collections totaled $313,837,000, a drop of $241,000,000 from the same period of 1931.

At the end of the quarter there was a deficit of $388,373,000 compared with a surplus of $48,102,000 September 30, 1930.

Mrs. Sharples, who died August 3, willed the bulk of her property to her daughter, Jane Sproul Klaer. The largest single item in the estate was the cash value of insurance policies left by the late Gov. Sproul. They totalled $30,445.

Two Phila. Women Kill Selves With Gas

PHIDALEDPHIA, Oct. 2.—(AP.)—Two aged women committed suicide by gas in the kitchens of their homes last night. Mrs. Mary Kitt, 60, left a note saying "I can't stand the pain any longer." Relatives said despondency prompted the act of Miss Mary O'Leary, 59.

Chicago Man Held In Two Robberies

Charged with having looted the homes of Mrs. J. W. Shaw, 654 Maryland avenue, and Mrs. Donald Martin, 5930 Elwood street, of furs and jewelry valued at $1,500, Jack Williams, 25, of Chicago, today was held for court by Magistrate Leo Rothenberg in Central Police Court.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 2.—(AP.)—Peter Fanning, 69, former Bertillon expert for the San Francisco police department and internationally known as a crime historian, died at his home here last night of heart disease.

Federal Troops Aid Mexican Governor

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 2.—(AP.)—Dispatches from Guadalajara today said Gov. Juan de Dios Robledo apparently had the political situation there under control in spite of threats of the State Legislature to oust his appointee, Mayor Jose Mata. Federal troops have been placed at the governor's disposal in case of disturbances but the city remained quiet.

Social Leader Made New Deputy Sheriff

WAUKEEGAN, Ill., Oct. 2.—(AP.)—A society woman has turned deputy sheriff.

She is Mrs. Scott Durand, social leader of Lake Bluff. She was deputized by Sheriff Lester Tiffany yesterday when she took the official oath to uphold and enforce the laws of Illinois.

STEELCRAFT

Two-Trouser Suits and Topcoats

$37

True economy lies not in buying cheap clothes, but in buying good clothes for the least cost. Steelcraft Topcoats and Two-Trouser Suits are good clothes—Horne clothes—at a price that's appealing right now to men who have always known the truth of the above statement.

If you are interested in dressing well on a modest expenditure, be sure to see the new and finer Steelcrafts—the largest selection we have ever shown. Fabrics, tailoring and styling are reminiscent of greatly higher priced garments. At $37, with TWO trousers, the value stands alone!

"One Man Tells Another"

In a Hornebilt

You've Entered the "Fine-Hat" Class!

Unless you have worn a new Hornebilt, you don't know how good a hat can be had this fall, for $5!

Finer materials, a more careful felting and the resultant improvement in appearance and wearing qualities distinguish the fall models—in variety to meet every taste. Raw-edge snap-brims, welt-edge types and Homburgs.

. . . The Men's Store, Main Floor . . .

The Coat-Buying Season Begins With the

October Coat Sale

$48 $88 $118 $138

At least, start thinking of your new winter coat tomorrow, by seeing the vast collections of this Sale, which is now in full swing. It will show you how coats have changed in silhouette, in fabric, and how they have developed a soft, new beauty and a decided elegance.

You will be intrigued by the new colors that rival black, by the lavish use of fine furs, by Goupy's lei collar, Maggy Rouff's cape sleeve, Schiaparelli's quaint tippet collar, Vionnet's puff cuffs, Maggy Rouff's adjustable cape collar, and the many other features reproduced in our copies and adaptations of Paris models . . . And you'll possibly decide to make your choice right now, from the scores of models for misses, and for women in regular and half sizes.

Diagonal Mesh Hosiery

Mesh hosiery goes diagonal—in a new pattern designed to carry out the details of diagonal seaming in smart fall frocks!

A fine, sheer all-silk mesh—full-fashioned, with double silk picot tops and soles. In ten Horne-sponsored fall and winter shades. $1.95.

. . . Horne's, Main Floor . . .

The Hunt for Headsizes and Colors Ends Here

With the vast resources of our famous Millinery Salons, one is always assured of finding here the largest possible selection of colors and headsizes in the new models. And there is no premium for this convenience, as is evidenced by tomorrow's showing at the following moderate prices—

$5 $7.50 $10

New brimmed models, new toques, new tricornes. In all the fashionable browns; greens, from light Persian to Black-Forest shade; wine shades; rust tones, including the popular Spanish tile; purple shades and black. And in all headsizes, 21½ to 24.

. . . Horne's, Millinery Salons, Fourth Floor . . .

Wools—

In Chanel's and Patou's Colors

No need to be drab in a wool frock—have glorious colors like these! . . . Chanel's vibrant blue-green and Arabian red, and Patou's Persian rose, Persian green and Persian brown.

And be assured that though some might find these colors a bit trying in gleaming silk, they are so mellowed in the soft sheer wools of these misses' one and two-piece frocks that almost anyone can wear them.

$16.50

'Peg' goes BARGAIN HUNTING

Bargain News Tips as gathered by Peg on her trip through the City

MANY of the best bargains, many of the greatest money-saving opportunities are lost because, until now, there has never been a really satisfactory way of telling you about them.

But now that "Peg" has gone Bargain Hunting, things will be different. She, and her assistants, are searching all over the community for bargains worthy of being listed in these columns. Sometimes she comes in contact with other items, services, etc., which she thinks are new, and real bargains. These, too, she will mention.

Read "Peg's" Bargain Tips every Sunday, Wednesday and Friday, exclusively in the Sun-Telegraph. She will show you how to shop more economically than you ever before thought possible.

Just around the corner, at Reymers' Tea Rooms now under expert new management, you will obtain delicious food at reasonable prices. Special plate luncheons are featured at 35c, 50c, 65c and 90c, and evening dinners at the Clark and Oak-land Rooms are from $1 to $1.50. On Saturday, Oct. 3, Reymers almond Scotch butterscotch with toasted almonds will be sold in gay plaid boxes for 79c instead of $1.

Schroeder's specials this week. Just the piano for the beginner, $ . . . Kurtzmann upright, like new, $155. Another great value is a Steinway, exceptionally good tone, $185. There is a new Baby Grand for $295. Also a new Player Piano for $ . . . Stop in and investigate these values. Schroeder Piano Co., 820 Liberty Ave.

Seamless, smartly colored, the new trend in decorating, Frank & Seder are offering Alexander Smith rugs, measuring 7.6x9, in a variety of colors, at the unheard-of price of $9.00. These rugs have slightly soiled backs, but this does not detract from their surface beauty. Only a few left. Be sure you are one of the lucky patrons to take advantage of this great opportunity.

GIMBELS—SIXTH AVENUE AT SMITHFIELD STREET

SALESMAN ENDS LIFE WITH GUN

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., Oct. 2.—Lew G. Walker, 49, of Greenville, former cashier of banks at Millsboro and Fairchance, was dead here today, a victim of his own hand, according to Fayette County officials.

Walker, suffering from a bullet wound in his right temple, was found in his automobile parked along a lonely road near Daisytown, almost within sight of the home of his brother, James W. Walker, Washington County Commissioner. He died three hours later in Brownsville Hospital.

A salesman for the Greenville Grocery Company, Walker left a note asking that relatives be notified.

N. Y. Sheriff Defies Gambling Probers

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—(AP)—Sheriff Thomas M. Farley, in whose Democratic club witnesses have said gamblers operated their games three years ago, appeared before a sub-committee of the legislative city investigating committee today but refused to answer questions.

It was learned Farley took the position the investigators should do their questioning in public. He was given a subpena calling on him to appear again Monday when Samuel Seabury, chief counsel of the committee, will be present.

Hosiery Mill Holdup Nets Bandits $9,800

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 2.—(INS.)—Four bandits armed with pistols and shotguns obtained $9,800 in a holdup of officials and employes of the Fairmount Hosiery Company here shortly before noon today. They escaped in an automobile.

MILITIA AGAIN CURBS OIL RUN

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 2.—(AP)—The military lid on Oklahoma's flush oil wells was pounded down vigorously yesterday, and National Guardsmen again were ordered into the cluster of great gushers on the doorstep of Oklahoma City to keep it in place.

New orders of Lieut. Col. Cicero I. Murray, generalissimo of the martial law shutdown effected nearly two months ago by his cousin, Gov. William H. Murray, particularly hushed what operations remained in the Oklahoma City field. The orders followed charges of illegal production and oil runs under the cover of night.

Gov. Murray has signified his intention of keeping the wells closed until oil prices increase to $1 a barrel.

Fishing Boat Drifts Free From Rocks

SAN PEDRO, Cal., Oct. 2.—(INS.)—The fishing boat Salvadore, which went on the rocks near Bonitas Island, had broken free and was out of danger, the Coast Guard base here reported today. The Salvadore then went to the aid of the Patria, another fishing boat, still hard aground nearby. The boats were not damaged, it was reported.

Druggists Shelve Prohibition Issue

DETROIT, Oct. 2.—(INS.)—Delegates to the annual convention of the National Association of Retail Druggists today voted 98 to 70 not to go on record on the prohibition issue. In a resolution, however, they asked the government to release them from handling prescription liquors.

Odor Made Curtis Lawyer Instead Of Painter

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—(AP)—Vice President Curtis received a pungent reminder this week that he almost became a painter instead of a lawyer.

Sitting for a portrait, he had to call off the artist when the fumes of the paints filled his office at the Capitol. Windows were thrown open for fresh air as the artist retired and the Vice President nursed a headache.

As an orphan boy Mr. Curtis recalled that his guardian had him sign up as an apprentice painter, but the odors of the paint made him ill. A doctor ordered him to quit, so he went to hack driving and studying law at night.

JAILED, LOSES DEATH RACE

CHICAGO, Oct. 2.—(AP)—A Californian's airplane race with death failed in the hands of detectives.

Abe Goldbogen, who said he was a general contractor of Los Angeles, took a United Airplane transport in an effort to reach the bedside of his father, Hyman, of Chicago, before the latter died.

As Goldbogen stepped from the airplane in Chicago last evening he was arrested by detectives on a fugitive warrant wired from Los Angeles and taken to headquarters. He was still held there two hours later, when his father died. Goldbogen said he rushed away from his home so fast he had no time to get money and gave a check for the $150 fare, which he asked the air line to hold.

DUST STORMS DELAY SHIPS

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 2.—(AP)—A slight earthquake occurred at San Diego yesterday, a dust storm slowed down ships six miles at sea and hail, lightning and high temperatures were experienced in other parts of Southern California.

About Los Angeles there was rain, lightning and a southeast gale that stirred up a turbulent sea, and hail, lightning and high over the fate of the old four-masted schooner Philippine, which finally came into the harbor with her 11 passengers.

Still farther north, Santa Barbara broiled in a 98-degree temperature while 20 miles away, in the Buckhorn district of the Santa Barbara forest, ice formed and heavy frost covered the hills.

San Diego's earthquake lasted only 25 seconds and did no damage. It was the second slight quake in two days.

Drys to Fight Grape Concentrates

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—(INS.)—Legislation to ban without reservation every form of grape concentrates will be introduced at the December session of Congress and pressed for enactment by the full force of the organized dry movement, Senator Sheppard (Dem.), of Texas, author of the Eighteenth Amendment, declared today upon his return here. The dry movement views grape concentrates as a deliberate evasion of the "purpose and intent" of the Eighteenth Amendment, Sheppard asserted.

11 Men Poisoned In Home for Aged

MADRID, Oct. 2.—(INS.)—Eleven residents of the Old Men's Home at Alicante were dead today and 21 others were seriously ill as a result of food poisoning.

Hay Fever Sneezes Halt in Air Free From Pollen

CHICAGO, Oct. 2.—(AP)—Now that hay fever days are over, the story can be told.

Experiments conducted with more than 100 men and women suffering with the affliction at the University of Illinois Research Hospital failed in at least one respect.

The patients, given eight-hours turns in the pollen-free eight-bed ward, were relieved of their sufferings as long as they were in the room. As soon as they stepped forth into the open again their resistance lasted only until they took the first sniff of untampered air.

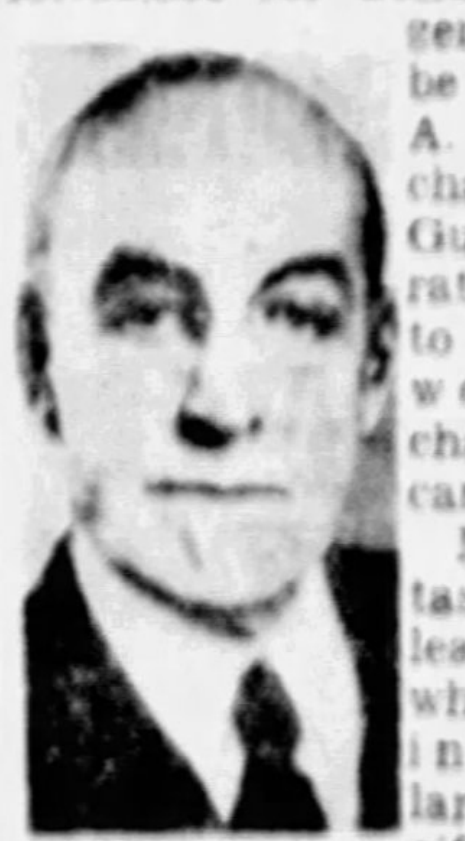
LEOVY TO HEAD WELFARE UNIT



Mr. Leovy

The Special Gifts Committee in the November campaign for $5,750,000 for welfare and emergency relief will be headed by F. A. Leovy, vice chairman of the Gulf Oil Corporation, according to Joseph Dilworth, general chairman of the campaign.

Mr. Leovy's task will be to lead the workers who will solicit individuals of large means for gifts ranging from $500 up, and establish a large fund prior to the formal opening of the campaign November 9.

The increased objective in this year's campaign, made necessary by the increased needs of the community, will mean that all contributors will have to double and treble their gifts of last year if the goal is to be reached. Mr. Leovy has headed the Gifts Committee since the time that the Welfare Fund was started.

ARGUE BALDWIN ANNEXATION

The proposal to annex to Pittsburgh parts of the Fourth and Eighth Wards of Baldwin Township, approved in Quarter Sessions Court and overruled in Superior Court, was argued before the Pennsylvania Supreme Court here yesterday, on appeal.

The legal question involved is the constitutionality of the provision of the Act of 1927 requiring approval by the State Council of Education as a prerequisite to the annexation of part of a township to a contiguous city. Township taxpayers petitioned Quarter Sessions Court for the annexation November 2, 1929, and after a majority vote in the section favoring it, a decree was entered in July, 1930. The State Council disapproved the annexation and, on appeal, Judge W. B. Linn, of Superior Court, ruled failure of approval defeated the annexation.

Other appeals from Allegheny County heard were:

Samuel S. Shapiro, appellant, against the Union Trust Company of Pittsburgh, executor of will of Alexander P. Moore; Mrs. Elizabeth Yuhasz against Pitt Construction Company, appellant; Clara M. Irvin, appellant, against F. L. Blacka; Louis Gyarmati against the Linde Air Products Company, appellant.

Man Shoots Wife And Self to Death

BALTIMORE, Oct. 2.—(AP.)—Mrs. Della Martin, 58, was shot and killed by her husband, Walter, who then killed himself. A coroner's jury quickly assembled, reached a verdict of murder and suicide. Jealousy, the nature of which was not revealed, was given by police as the motive.

The woman was shot three times as she was sitting in the living room of her home, sewing. The man then shot himself in the head, falling only a few feet from his wife.

Canadian Doctor, Legislator Dies

TORONTO, Ont., Oct. 2—(AP.)—Dr. Thomas Chisholm, 90, who sat as Conservative member of Parliament for East Huron from 1904 until 1911, died last night, a victim of heart trouble complicated by pneumonia. He wrote a number of historical works in addition to carrying on a wide practice as physician.

All In A Day

By Mark Hellinger

"HE TOLD ME," writes George Held, of the Long Island Daily Press, "that his name was Jack Ashford. He followed that announcement, however, with the statement that he'd change his name as often as he'd change his shirt—if he had another shirt. It was the one thing he could do, he asserted, without any serious opposition.

"I met him in a speakeasy the other morning in the town of Jamaica, Long Island. He was alone, and so was I. I had a couple of hours to myself before going back to the paper and I thought I might knock off a few. And so, as generally happens when you're drinking, we got to talking.

"He came from an ordinary family, he told me, and was once driving the ball down the fairway on every shot. Now his father hadn't the slightest idea of his whereabouts and—more important—probably didn't care.

"But I've said enough. Let him give you the story as he told it to me. As he told it to me, that is, after he had drunk so much that his speech was a little thick.

"'When the World War broke out,' he said, 'I was 22, unmarried, had a little money set aside and was running along pretty smoothly. I had a brother two years older than I, but who was practically living in the same environment. The only difference was that he was married.

"'The day that war was declared my family, as well as millions of others, were tossed into a patriotic frenzy. They howled and cheered, but I stayed away from it all. I couldn't see the prospects of going out and getting shot just so the Government could send a letter to mother congratulating her on the brave and courageous son she brought into the world.

"'They got hold of me a few days later and asked me when I was going to enlist. When I told the family that I had no intention of doing any such thing, they seemed stunned.

"'I refused to go to war and that's all there was too it. The second draft netted me and I was married the following day to a girl I had known but a few weeks. I went even further to stay on this side of the Big Pond. The wife and I went to an orphan asylum and adopted a 3 months' old baby, which I claimed as my own.

"'At the end of the war I deserted both of them. But that, I suppose, is neither here nor there. Sufficient to relate, I got away with it in some way. I was a married man with two dependents.

"'My brother, on the other hand, saw things in a totally different light. His grandfather had fought in the Civil War and dad had seen action in Cuba. Who the devil was he, he reasoned, to try and duck the fighting? With the exception of his brother—and how he would sneer at me in those days!—he came from a fighting family.

"'His wife agreed with him, and so did mother. He enlisted and went across. From what I hear, he was in almost all of the big scraps. And it was almost at the finish of the game when he got it.

"'As I understand it, it was in the early mists of dawn. One could scarcely see 10 feet in front. He was standing in a field and waiting for his regiment to come up. A tank rolled through that field in back of him. And either the driver didn't see him or he thought my brother was a tree stump. In either case, it makes no difference now.

"'When they picked him up later, every bone in his body was broken and his features were crushed beyond recognition. The marks of the tractor were in a straight line along his backbone.

"'The poor guy never had a chance. He couldn't fire at anything and he couldn't run away because it all happened so suddenly. It just took him from behind—and the game was over.'

"He ordered a double shot for himself and a single one for me. Suddenly his expression changed.

"'It's a funny thing, bud,' he went on, 'and I've tried to explain it in barrooms all over the country. But I don't think that people quite understand. They can't understand the change that came over me when I heard that news.

"'I realized suddenly that it was I who should have been standing in that field—and not my brother. I realized that I was the worst kind of a coward and a failure. Oh, what's the use of going over that same thing again? You wouldn't understand any more than the rest. Here, let me show you something.'

"He dug into a pocket and brought out a picture of a man in a uniform. His brother, obviously. He handled it as though it were some precious stone.

"'There he is,' he cried. 'You're looking at my brother now. A man who, in one way, I feel as though I killed. Poor guy. He never had a fighting chance for his life.'

"The conversation was getting on my nerves now. My friend was growing too drunk and too morbid. It had been far more interesting than the average bar-room conversation up to a certain point. But now I was beginning to be bored.

"A short while later we parted. He staggered off down the street. I went to my office . . .

"Some hours later, I happened into the Jamaica police station. Nothing much new, the lieutenant told me. One unidentified man killed by a hit-and-run driver. That was all.

"'Only possible identification on the body,' yawned the lieutenant, 'was this picture. Here.'

"He tossed it to me. I stepped back in amazement. It was the picture of the soldier I had seen in the speakeasy a few hours before. My talkative friend had been the victim!

"Meanwhile, the lieutenant was talking.

"'I feel sorry for the poor devil, whoever he was,' he was saying. 'He never had a fighting chance for his life'."

THIS LITTLE YARN is passed along to you as one of the better stories of the day. I cannot vouch for its authenticity, but I do know that it is one of Washington's favorite gags at the moment.

It seems that the season for duck-hunting had been curtailed in—if I'm not mistaken—Illinois. A committee of sportsmen called on the Governor of the state and asked that the order be rescinded. Whereupon the Governor put in a call to Washington and asked to speak with Mr. Hoover.

"Mr. President," said the Governor after the connection had been established, "I have before me a committee of Illinois sportsmen objecting strenuously to the early closing of the duck season. They ask that the order be withdrawn. Have you any suggestions?"

Mr. Hoover considered the matter for a moment.

"You will have to tell them," he finally stated, "that the order must stand as is. I do not wish to disappoint the sportsmen. All I want to do is to save all the ducks I can in Illinois."

The Governor hung up the phone and turned back to the committee.

"The President refuses to do anything, gentlemen," he murmured. "He seems to think that, in Illinois, the ducks vote!" . . .

MELLON EXPERT AIDING STATE

Dr. William A. Hamor, assistant director of the Mellon Institute of Industrial Research, is donating his vacation period of several weeks this month to furthering the interests of Pennsylvania, according to word from Harrisburg.

He is assisting Dr. Charles Reitell, head of the Greater Pennsylvania Council, named by Gov. Pinchot to boost the state's industries, to make a survey of the needs of industries and manufactures with a view to aiding them by research when definite problems are presented.

Dr. Hamor has been with the Mellon Institute for 18 years and is the author of several works on oil, gas and coal. Owing to the fact that Carnegie Tech and Penn State are working on soft and hard coal problems, that phase of the state mineral resources will not be included in the present survey, it was said.

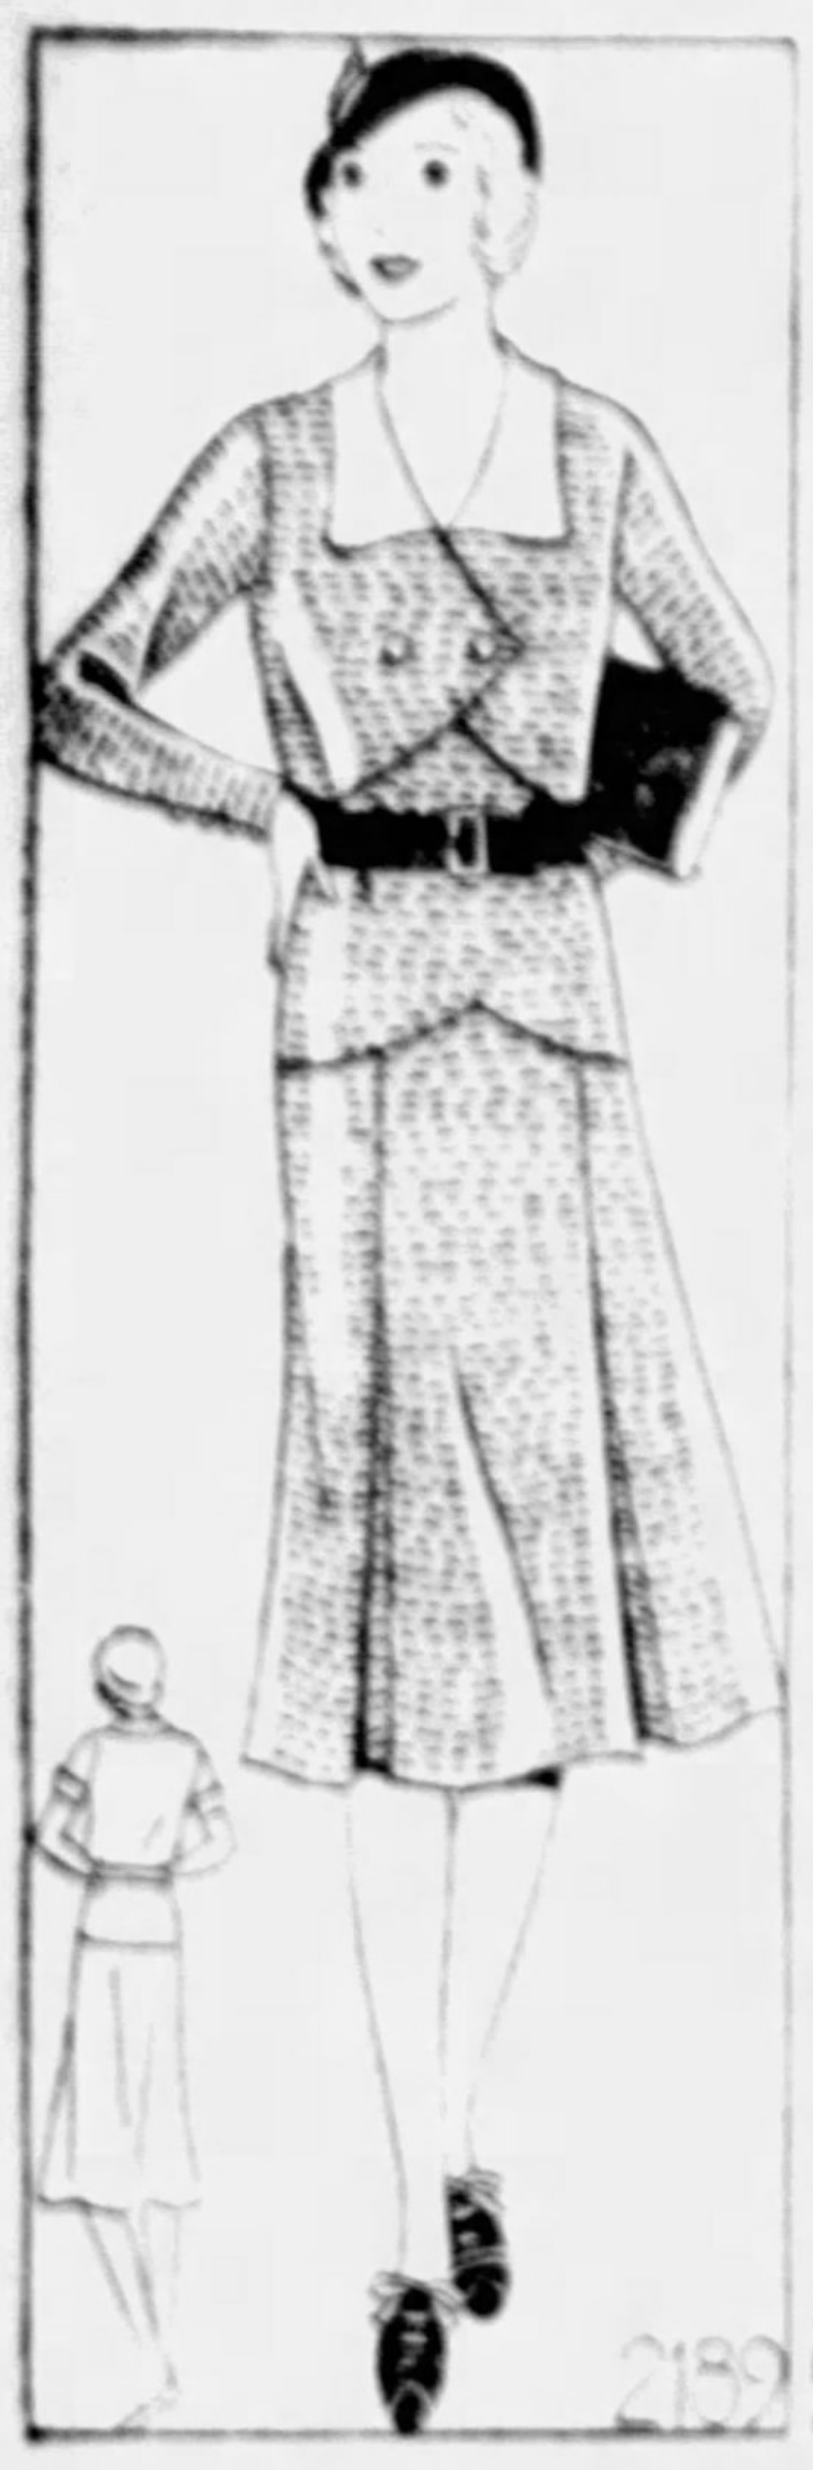
Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph 15c Practical Pattern



STEP-BY-STEP INSTRUCTION DIAGRAMS GIVEN WITH THIS PATTERN

By ANNE ADAMS

The junior miss has gone in for woolen frocks as whole-heartedly as her elders. These sheer woolens are displayed in such captivating shades as cherry red, Spanish tile, Persian green and many browns, both plain and in mixtures. The smartest are angora wool crepe, tweed, jersey and challis. Tailored themes with double-breasted closing are newest. The model sketched is typical with the added chic of the bodice seaming which gives the effect of a bolero.

Pattern 2189 may be ordered only in sizes 8, 10, 12, 14 and 16. Size 12 requires 1¾ yards of 54 inch fabric or 2¼ yards of 36 inch fabric. No dressmaking experience is necessary to make this model with our pattern.

Send 15 cents in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for each pattern. Write plainly your name, address and style number. BE SURE TO STATE SIZE WANTED.

Send for the FALL and WINTER CATALOG. It features the newest in afternoon, sports and house dresses, lingerie, pajamas and kiddies's clothes. Also delightful gift suggestions in accessory and transfer patterns. PRICE OF CATALOG, 15 CENTS. CATALOG WITH PATTERN, 25 CENTS. Address all mail and orders to Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph Pattern Department, 243 West Seventeenth street, New York City.

1.—Enclose 15 cents in coins.
2.—Write clearly NUMBERS of patterns and SIZE wanted.
3.—Write or print your NAME and ADDRESS plainly.
4.—If you want SUN-TELEGRAPH Style Book send 10c extra.
5.—Address your request to

MOTHER SUES FOR GIRL, 5

Seeking to regain custody of a daughter, Patricia, 5, a writ of habeas corpus was obtained in Common Pleas Court by Mrs. Mary R. Parker, 915 Delevan street, directed to her estranged husband, Irvin M. Parker, 317 Wilcox street, Carnegie.

They separated July 2 and she had custody of Patricia and Mary J., 9, until September 23 when her husband came to her house unknown to her and took the younger child away, the suit charged. It declared Parker was unfit to have custody of the child.

DRY RAIDS NET SIX ARRESTS

Constables and prohibition agents conducted five raids yesterday, arrested six persons and seized quantities of alcoholic beverages.

The raids were made on a building at 840 Ohio street, Glassport; a building at 321 Ambridge street, Fairoaks; a saloon on the second floor at 130 Fourth avenue; a building at 307 Ambridge street, Fairoaks, and an automobile at Sixteenth and Smallman streets.

HOUSE CONTROL UP TO KVALE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—(INS)—Control of the next House of Representatives, a prize for which both Republicans and Democrats are striving desperately, was rendered still more uncertain today when Representative Paul John Kvale, the lone Farmer-Labor member, announced he would not attend the caucus of either party and would vote for organization purposes with that party which promised most in the way of progressive principles.

The present line-up of the House is 214 Republicans, 214 Democrats, with six vacancies.

If the Republicans fill three of these vacancies and the Democrats three—as expected—the party line-up will remain tied at 217 each, with Kvale constituting the theoretical balance of power.

INSURANCE MEN TO MEET HERE

Representatives of 138 insurance companies will convene here Monday for the twenty-sixth annual meeting of the American Life Convention. The sessions will continue through Friday, all meetings being held in William Penn Hotel.

One of the features of the convention will be the formation of an advertising section, and a luncheon for that purpose is to be held next Thursday, according to L. A. Jacobs of Dallas, Tex. National figures in insurance and banking fields will address the sessions. Among the speakers will be Charles B. Robbins, of Cedar Rapids, Ia., president of the American Life Convention; William McKinley, of Chicago, and Lyman E. Wakefield, of Minneapolis.

HOOVER GOING TO CAMP

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—(INS)—President Hoover today had plans for a week-end which included his usual trip to the Rapidan camp and his annual pilgrimage to the world series in Philadelphia.

Either late today or tomorrow—probably the latter—he will motor to Virginia for what may well be the final week-end in the Blue Ridge region this season. Last week when Mr. Hoover left camp the thermometer registered 42, and reports had it that the early fall had brought chillier nights since.

The executive will remain at his de luxe retreat as usual until Monday morning, driving back to the capital at daybreak in time to catch a special train for Philadelphia.

Seek New York Data On Cannon's Funds

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—(AP)—John J. Wilson, assistant United States district attorney, is in New York obtaining data for presentation to the grand jury in its investigation next Thursday to determine whether Bishop James Cannon, Jr., violated the corrupt practices act in the 1928 presidential campaign.

Wilson conferred yesterday with former Senator Frelinghuysen of New Jersey, who has said he gave $20,000 to Bishop Cannon for that campaign.

4 Arrested in Raids On 2 Candy Stores

Police today raided the confectionery stores of John Tory, 1325 Penn avenue, and Joseph Miller, 1217 Penn avenue, both of whom were arrested. Two visitors were arrested in the former place, where wine and moonshine was reported seized. In Miller's place police reported confiscating three cases of beer and destroying 36 cases.

Sze Refuses Post In Chinese Cabinet

GENEVA, Oct. 2.—(AP.)—Dr. Alfred Sze, Chinese minister to London, has declined to accept the post of foreign minister, it was learned in authoritative quarters today, and will remain here to urge the settlement of the Sino-Japanese conflict by the League Council.

Noted Episcopalian Clergyman Dead

WESTFIELD, Mass., Oct. 2.—(AP.)—The Rev. Robert Keating Smith, 66, well known in the Episcopal ministry and for 21 years rector of the Church of the Atonement here prior to his retirement in 1927, died today.

AIMEE WRITES OF ABDUCTION, ACQUITTAL

Evangelist Triumphs in Perjury Trial; Later Sees Prosecutor in Prison

By AIMEE SEMPLE McPHERSON
High Priestess of Angelus Temple, Los Angeles

CHAPTER V

In China, when I was only 19, Mr. Semple died one dark and stormy night in a hospital on "the hill" in Hong Kong, as I lay in an adjoining ward expecting a baby.

After the arrival of the tiny bundle of humanity, whom I named Roberta Star, for her father, I carried her wrapped in a little pink blanket to Happy Valley, the Hong Kong cemetery.

In that forest of marble I found a simple marker and a mound of fresh earth beneath which it seemed my heart was buried.

I fell on the grave and cried between tears:

"Oh, Robert, what shall I do? Stay and carry on your work or go back to America?"

BABY GIVES ANSWER

My answer was the gentle stirring of breeze through the immense heavily perfumed lotus blossoms and a whimper from the soft bundle which lay nearby on the grass.

Surely that was my answer, and I gathered up my little daughter, made my way through the twilight from the cemetery and away from China to save the life of Roberta, as frail and delicate as the lotus.

I came back to the United States and later married in order to get a home for my child. The marriage was a failure and again I took up the preaching of the gospel. My first revival was in the little town of Mt. Forest, Canada, my second in Providence, R. I.

Right at the outset there was borne in upon me the realization that the methods so often used to impart religion were too archaic, too sedate and too lifeless ever to capture [illegible] of [illegible] throngs.

FINDS NEW METHODS

And it was the hungry throngs that Jesus wanted, not the sedate, the lifeless few.

So I developed methods which have brought hundreds of thousands to meetings who otherwise would never have come, and when we went on, left them singing, their hearts filled, not with me, but with God.

It was these methods that led to the building of the great Angelus Temple in Los Angeles. My first meeting in Los Angeles was in an upstairs hall. But out of it came Angelus Temple, seating 5,300. It was opened January 1, 1923.

TELLS OF ABDUCTION

On the afternoon of May 18, 1926, I was kidnaped in an automobile from the beach at Ocean Park, near Los Angeles. I was borne to a crude desert shack in Old Mexico, just over the border from Douglas, Ariz.

Four weeks later I escaped and trekked through the torrid heat of the desert until I came upon the lights of sleepy Agua Prieta and stumbled to the nearest house for aid.

Thousands of loyal friends surrounded and welcomed me home to Los Angeles.

I told of my experiences before the grand jury and as a result was indicted for perjury. Instead of being kidnaped it was charged that I had gone with a man to Carmel, 125 miles south of San Francisco.

CLEARED BY MARSHAL

The prosecutor was Asa Keyes, District Attorney. As his star witness, he summoned to court the Marshal of Carmel.

Said Keyes to the witness:

"I will ask you to tell the court whether or not Mrs. McPherson was the woman who was there at that place?"

Replied the witness:

"Positively not."

And so I was acquitted.

My elopement and marriage to David L. Hutton has already been told, but the excitement and thrill of it will remain in my memory always.

It was Sunday, September 13, we were married. Some asked me if I were not superstitious of the thirteenth. But if I had been I would not have been wed that day.

Up until now, my husband and I have had little time to ourselves. I am hoping that we will soon be able to go away on a honeymoon to Honolulu, Florida, Cuba or some place where he may rest awhile.

SEES KEYES IN PRISON

While we were in San Francisco after our marriage, newspaper friends invited Dave and myself to visit San Quentin Prison, which is located just across the bay from San Francisco.

While inside the walls, Warden James B. Holohan called to a guard:

"Call Ace."

And over came Asa Keyes, Ace for short—the man who had tried to send me to this self same prison.

Now, he himself was an inmate serving a sentence for bribery while in office.

The meeting between us was dramatic. Although I, of course, knew he was in prison, I never expected to see Mr. Keyes.

I told him how glad I was to see him and wished him luck. He was pleasant and we chatted for a minute.

My marriage will make no difference in my work.

God's word and work are fashioned of enduring stuff, and shall abide forever.

And so I shall carry on ever forward—IN THE SERVICE OF THE KING!

POISON PICNIC TRIAL OPENS

LEBANON, Ind., Oct. 2.—(AP.)—John W. Simmons, Indiana farmer, appeared in the surprise role of witness against his wife, Mrs. Carrie Barrett Simmons, on trial for the poisoning of her daughters, Alice Jean, 10, and Virginia, 14.

Simmons was a reluctant witness. He was called by the state and for nearly two hours made careful reply to questions of Roy W. Adney, assistant prosecutor.

After a jury had been completed, Prosecutor Ben M. Scifres declared it would be shown that Mrs. Simmons had administered poison to her two daughters two weeks before they finally died during a picnic here after eating sandwiches in which capsules containing poison had been inserted. The prosecutor's statement was the first intimation of any previous attempt to poison the children.

FLORIST LURED TO DEATH

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—(AP.)—Frank Fuzo, 50, a florist, was shot and killed in Brooklyn last night by four men in an automobile, one of whom police said had lured him to his death by ordering a $10 bouquet of red roses delivered near where he was slain.

Police said Fuzo had aroused the enmity of several aliens in the Redhook section of Brooklyn by his activities as a "general fixer" in that section.

They said his principal "racket" was to make money from persons who had been threatened with deportation with the promise that he was to "fix" things. Police said he had been threatened frequently when he refused to make good his promise and also refused to return the money.

SOVIET TRACTOR CHIEF BURIED

MOSCOW, Oct. 2.—(AP.)—Another hero of the revolution—M. S. Mikhailov-Ivanov, late director of tractor and automobile construction in the Soviet Union—went to his final resting place yesterday in Red Square, where Russia buries its illustrious dead.

In the heart of the Kremlin wall, behind the tomb of Lenin, the ashes of the man who died in the Soviet government's campaign of economic reconstruction were deposited with an impressive ceremony attended by thousands.

Mikhailov-Ivanov, who was a member of the presidium of the Supreme Economic Council, died from typhus three days after he had speeded up the Stalingrad tractor plant to a record production of 100 machines a day.

THREE TO SEEK WENDEL RICHES

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 2.—(AP.)—Mrs. Katherine Regnier, 41, has retained Joseph H. Brady, an attorney, to press her claims and those of a brother and sister here that they are third cousins of the late Miss Ella Wendel, wealthy spinster, and entitled to a part of the fortune she left when she died recently in New York.

Brady said he will confer soon with Mrs. Louise Wendel Merle, 90, of Taylorsville, Ind., and Alexander Wendel, 70, Jeffersonville, Ind., aunt and uncle of Mrs. Regnier. Mrs. Regnier said the New York Wendels were descendants of John Wendel, one of the sons of Peter Wendel, who came to America as a trader, and that her aunt and uncle are descendants of another son, Peter II.

Engineers Planning Towboat Inspection

Members of the Engineers Society of Western Pennsylvania will inspect towboats of the Carnegie Steel Company, the Jones and Laughlin Steel Corporation and the Dravo Contracting Company next Thursday. Their boat will be tied up on the Monongahela Wharf.

The society has invited members of the Propeller Club of the United States, Port of Pittsburgh, to take part in the inspection. Later they will attend a meeting of the engineers in the latters' quarters in William Penn Hotel.

Funeral Rites Set For J. H. McCloskey

Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon for John H. McCloskey, 50, Mt. Lebanon attorney, who leaped to his death from the fourth floor of a hotel in Meadville, Pa., early yesterday. The services are to be held in Meadville and interment will be in that city.

Officials investigating the death today had discovered no motive for the apparent suicide. McCloskey owned considerable real estate in Meadville and had gone there to collect rentals.

W. Va. Editor Dies Of Blood Poisoning

WESTON, W. Va., Oct. 2.—(AP.)—David Bird Cook, editor of the Weston Independent since 1891, died here at the age of 74. Death was caused by blood poisoning arising from an injury he received in a fall. He is survived by his widow and eight children.

$10,000 AWARD IN AUTO SUIT

A verdict of $10,000 damages for injuries when struck by an automobile was awarded Jesse Yarnell, 3417 Bismark street, in his suit against Clarence W. Holmes, of Butler street, tried before Judge Joseph Stadtfeld in Common Pleas Court.

Yarnell was walking across Bigelow boulevard in the 3400 block January 9, 1929, when struck by an automobile driven by Holmes and suffered fractures of the ribs and left leg, he testified.

Mrs. Lottie V. Earnest, of the East End, asked $50,000 damages for the death of her husband, Charles F. Earnest, and injuries to herself, in a suit against Joseph Blumenfeld. They were walking across Center avenue, East End, December 31, when struck by an automobile driven by Blumenfeld, and Earnest died January 4 as a result of injuries, the suit charged.

'ARMY'S' FUND DRIVE PUSHED

Hundreds of Salvation Army workers are visiting the homes and offices of the city in the annual Home Service Appeal of the Salvation Army in Allegheny County. The campaign, which started yesterday, will last 10 days.

The drive is being directed by Judge Joseph Buffington, general chairman; George E. Alter, chairman of the appeal committee, and Col. C. B. Campbell, divisional commander of the Salvation Army. Funds are greatly needed for the program of relief which the Salvation Army is planning for the coming winter.

RITES SATURDAY FOR M'CULLOCH

Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon for Frederick W. M. McCulloch, vice president in charge of the Dow Drug Company in Western Pennsylvania, who died in his home, 2811 Shady avenue, Wednesday night. The services will be held at 2:30 in the Sixth Presbyterian Church, Forbes street and Murray avenue, and interment will be in Uniondale Cemetery.

Mr. McCulloch was head of the McCulloch chain of drug stores here until they were taken over by the Dow company a few years ago.

Recreation Official To Attend Meeting

W. C. Batchelor, superintendent of the city's Recreation Bureau, is listed as one of the speakers at the eighteenth national recreation congress to be held at Toronto, Canada, next week. He will represent the city and the local Board of Education at the congress.

Safety Awards Presented in Inter-Plant Contest

PROBERS TOLD OF VOTING MACHINE FAILURES

AWARDS GIVEN FOR SAFETY IN PLANTS

195 Industries Represented When Duggan Presents Plaques and Certificates

Awards were presented to winners in the first inter-plant contest, sponsored by the Western Pennsylvania Safety Council, at a meeting last night in the Council Chamber, City-County Building.

Approximately 100,000 employes participated in the contest held from January 1 to June 30.

Representatives from 195 industries were present at the ceremonies accompanying the awarding of bronze plaques to the winning plants in 20 groups and the presentation of certificates to 46 plants which went through the period without a lost time accident. Frank L. Duggan, president of the Western Pennsylvania Safety Council, presented the awards.

DECLARES LIVES SAVED

E. F. Blank, chairman of the Inter-Plant contest, presided and emphasized the success achieved by the contest, particularly commenting on the record established in the saving of many lives. He said that during the period of the contest 195 companies worked more than 100,000,000 hours with an average of approximately 93,000 employes with only 1,262 accidents, thus resulting in an average of 80,000 hours per lost-time accident. This figure represents a reduction of 27 per cent over January, the first month of the contest.

Forty-six plants winning awards worked 6,000,000½ hours during the period without a lost-time accident.

STEEL MAN TALKS

Before the presentation of awards, George H. McClain, of the Aliquippa works of the Jones & Laughlin Steel Corporation, discussed ways of arousing and maintaining interest in the contest.

H. F. Webb, of the West Penn system, spoke on the outstanding benefits derived from the contest, and C. E. Ralston, of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company, addressed the meeting, indicating what could be done with the trophy to get the best results.

Reds Fete Opening Of 2 Huge Factories

MOSCOW, Oct. 2.—(AP.)—Soviet Russia celebrated two industrial achievements in opening the new Kharkov tractor plant and a Moscow automobile truck factory.

The Kharkov plant, equipped mostly with American machinery, was hailed by the Russians as one of the largest in production, with a capacity of 50,000 tractors yearly. It began work 15 months after construction started. The new truck factory, described here as the largest in the world, with one shift has a production schedule of 25,000 trucks annually.

McSparran Speaks At Crawford Fair

CONNEAUT LAKE, Pa., Oct. 1.—(AP.)—John A. McSparran, state secretary of agriculture, in an address at the Crawford County Fair here, said that prosperity would not return to the nation "until agriculture is given the square deal to which it is entitled." He urged farmers to organize in an effort to correct tax inequalities.

Fifteen hundred persons heard McSparran talk. The total attendance at the fair for the day was announced at 8,000.

WILL ROGERS SAYS

EL PASO, Tex., Oct. 2.

Will Rogers

I always send these telegrams from the very place I am but I am heading down into the wilds of Old Mexico and will leave this and a couple more here as I will be out of touch with what we humorously call civilization. They don't even have a daily lecture on pyorrhea or know what cigaret will raise or lower your Adams apple. So primitive they have never tasted wood alcohol or known the joys of buying on credit. They are evidently just a lot of heathens that are happy.

Yours, WILL.

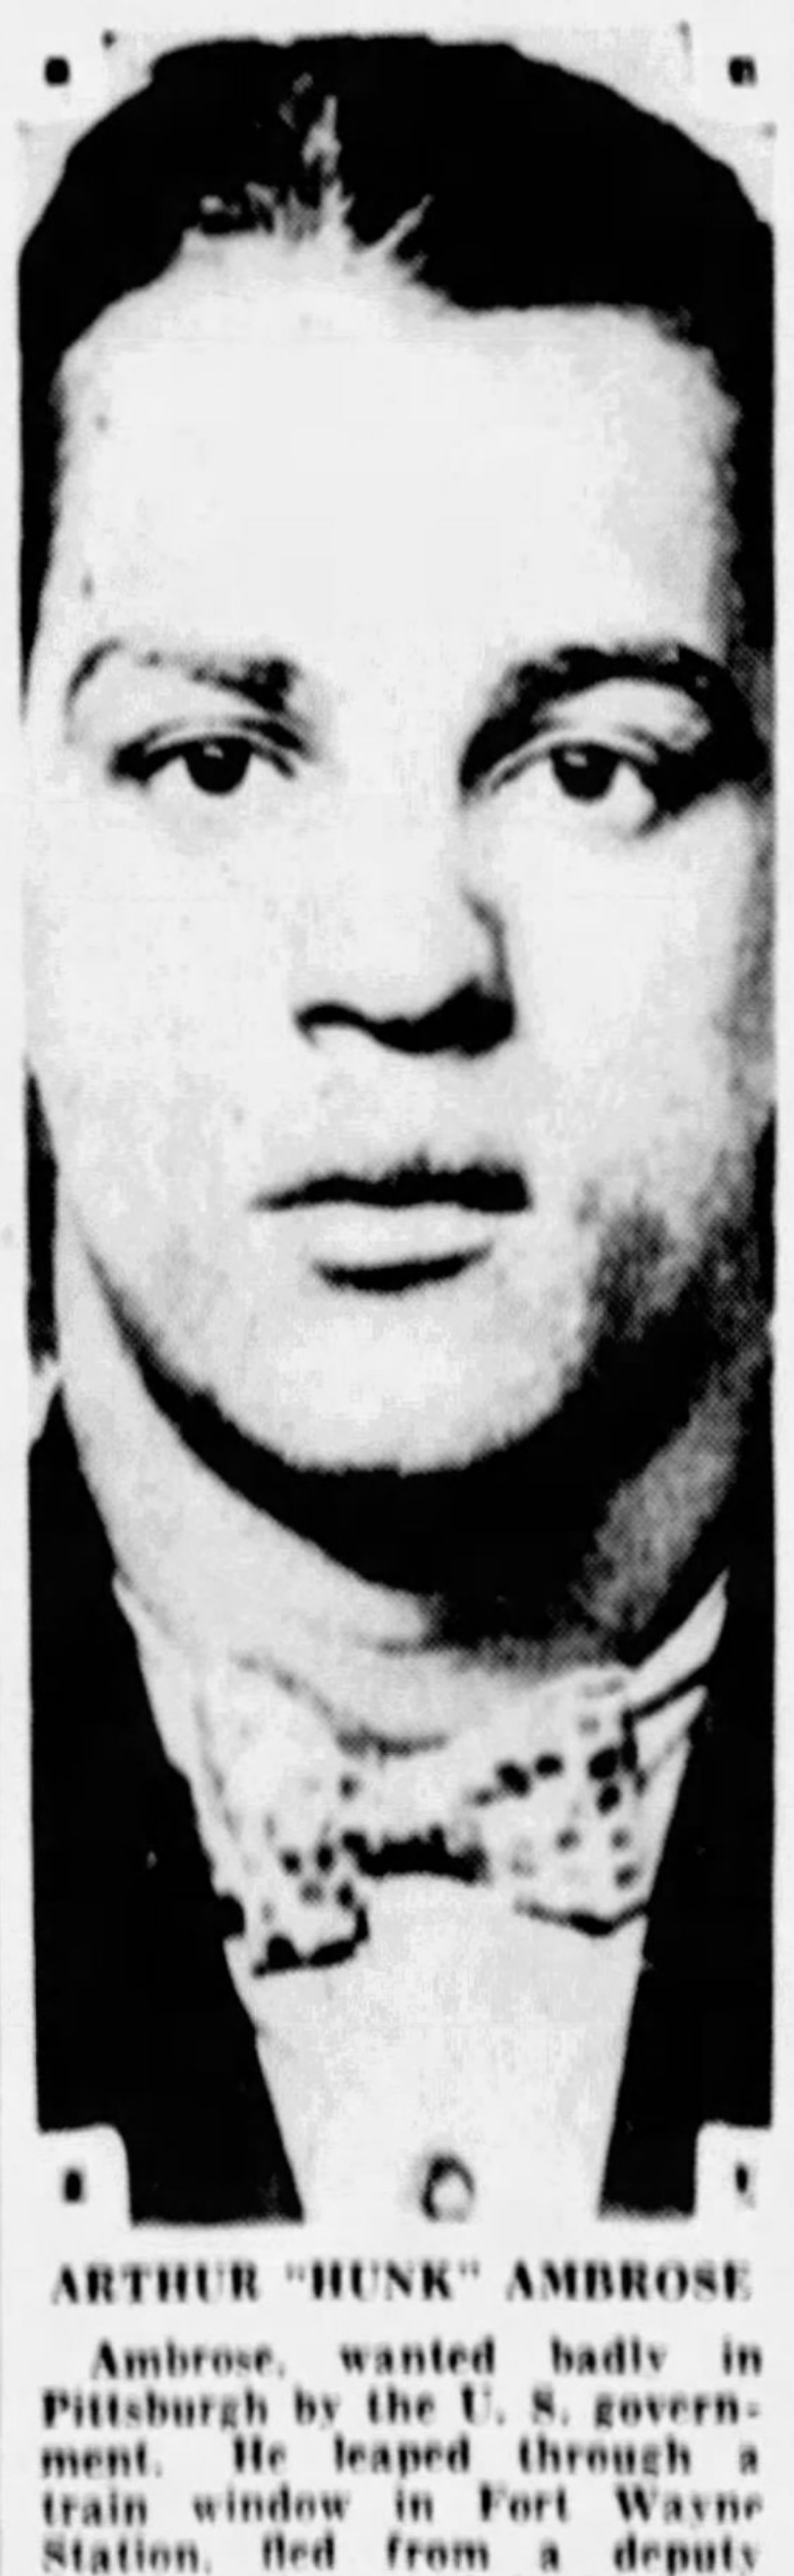
Chicago Leads U. S. In August Murders

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—(INS.)—There were 337 murders reported in the principal cities of the United States during August, the Department of Justice announced. This marked a slight increase over the month before. All serious crimes also showed a gain. The statistics do not cover New York City.

Chicago led in murders with 43, followed by Cleveland with 12, and 11 each in St. Louis and Philadelphia. A total of 8,375 crimes were reported in Chicago during the month, followed by Detroit with 2,346 and Cleveland with 1,809.

Look for Him



ARTHUR "HUNK" AMBROSE

Ambrose, wanted badly in Pittsburgh by the U. S. government. He leaped through a train window in Fort Wayne Station, fled from a deputy marshal who was bringing him and 20 other federal prisoners from Erie. He was Atlanta-bound for a three-year sentence.

Two Museums Seek Ancient Wheeled Vehicle

CHARLEROI, Pa., Oct. 2.—Dame Fortune is still at her fickle ways.

At least, Chris Brown, superintendent of a glass factory here, can testify that she chose a strange manner to bring him a measure of her gifts.

Several weeks ago Brown was fishing at Solomon Island, Chesapeake Bay. He tired of trolling one afternoon and decided on a jaunt through the country. He stopped at a farmhouse to rest—and pensive Lady Luck sent him away with a strange, wheeled contraption that cost him $7.

It was an old tricycle, one of only three known to exist, and it has a history in wheeled locomotion that makes it valuable.

The cycle was built in England late in the last century and was brought to America by sailing vessel from the workshop of its inventor, Eli Wolff. Two others were subsequently built before the bicycle of the present day was conceived from Wolff's patents.

Last week Brown received a substantial offer from the Smithsonian Institute for the two-passenger "bike," and later representatives of the Henry Ford Museum at Dearborn sought to add it to their collection.

The cycle is an exact counterpart of the modern bicycle except that it is three-wheeled, with two seats and two sets of pedals set side by side. The bike is dual-controlled and equipped with a friction brake which works against the front wheel.

It was conceived long before the pneumatic tire. When found it still wore the original hard rubber tires.

A history of the cycle was obtained from the London Museum, where one of the contraptions holds a place in an early bicycle collection. The third cycle is in Hollywood.

Grange Consults Stone and Hyde

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—(AP.)—The views of Chairman Stone, of the Farm Board, and Secretary of Agriculture Hyde on the agricultural crisis were obtained yesterday by the executive committee of the National Grange.

The committee, headed by Louis J. Taber, national master, is preparing a program designed to afford relief to the farmer. Among the topics discussed were the export debenture, farm taxes, land utilization and rural credits.

Foe of Whistling Excepts Senators And Peanut Carts

By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER

Prof. Shaw's statement that all whistlers are morons brought Senator Borah out of the berry patch with a rush.

The professor then modified his remarks to exclude senators and peanut stands.

But he can't get away that easy. It's Borah's first argument of October, and he will keep it going until Shaw swallows his amendment.

Seems that Mussolini is another canary diplomat who warbles when he works. The answer to what Caesar ate that men called him great must have been birdseed.

There ain't much to whistle about, these days, except grade crossings and lost pups. But it indicates that a college professor can study all his life and get famous because he doesn't like something trivial.

Prof. Shaw certainly took a strange detour to publicity. After one day in the sun he can pull his Eugenie hat down over his ears to the twittering accompaniment of shrill piccolos and quavering flageolets.

Sleuths Make Rum Raid After Victim Traps Self

City detectives investigating complaints that liquor was being sold in a restaurant at 1208 Fifth avenue, answered a telephone call in the establishment and received information that a "shipment" was en route to the restaurant.

The detectives waited, and when John Chiappeto, of 1604 Watson street, arrived with a case of whisky and five gallons of moonshine, he was promptly arrested, according to a police report.

After the officers seized a small quantity of liquor in the restaurant and also arrested Avedis Arnaganain, the alleged proprietor, the police report stated. Both men, charged with being suspicious persons, will be arraigned today.

POLICE PROBE ORDERED AT CARNEGIE

Irregularities at Polls Charged by Citizens; Council Names Committee

Investigations of alleged irregularities in the conduct of the Carnegie policee force during the primary election was authorized by Carnegie Borough Council at its monthly meeting last night.

A committee of three was appointed to conduct the investigation following allegations by C. R. McKenna, Carl Linn, John Bennett and James Cummings that the police used discourteous language, intimiated voters and violated the election laws.

McKenna alleged that following a riot call police interfered when two citizens attempted to remove Sam Mendola, candidate for Constable of the Second Ward, from the room where the election board was counting the votes. The citizens declared that Mendola was required by law to keep 100 feet away.

Bennett charged that Matt Butler, a civilian, was attacked by four men while Police Chief Chris Keisling looked on. He declared that the chief made no attempt to stop the attack.

Linn declared that Patrolman Joseph Lewis used discourteous language to him in the presence of witnesses.

Other members of the police force are Lieut. Harry Keisling and Patrolmen Charles Skirpan, Chris Shade and Charles Palmonsina. The investigation committee is comprised of R. D. Hoffman, Jacob Bradwell and George W. Watson.

MOTORIST HURT BY BRICK

A brick hurled into the automobile of Francis Shurtz, 24, of 428 Grace street, Mt. Washington, while Shurtz was driving his car early today in Fifth avenue at Tunnel street, hit him on the head, inflicting serious injuries. He was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital, suffering a probable fracture of the skull.

Shurtz and Paul Murphy, also of Grace street, told police a fight was in progress in Fifth avenue at Tunnel street when they drove by. The brick was hurled by one of the crowd of young men on the pavement and crashed into the automobile.

City detectives and police began a search for the fighters.

Studio Displays Early Examples Of Graphic Art

By PENELOPE REDD

A small but dazzling portion of a splendid collection of the graphic arts is on exhibition briefly through Saturday in the Techbound Studio at 119 Bouquet street in Oakland.

The Techbound Studio in which Reese C. David and Frank Diem maintain the craft of fine bookbinding in teaching and in practice, is presenting a loan collection of rare books.

Various collectors have contributed. None, however, have the quality or quantity of rare books possessed by Dr. Joseph L. Miller, of Thomas, W. Va.

Dr. Miller lives in a hamlet in the West Virginia mountains. Since 1897, he has collected old books on medicine from a few years after the invention of printing, in the fifteenth century.

Over 30 years ago, Dr. Miller commenced to gather early books on medicine, logically many of

UNSUCCESSFUL IN DUQUESNE, M'KEESPORT

Various Flaws Reported by Poll Officials Appearing Before Senate Committee

Voting machines worked successfully in the first four wards of Pittsburgh with few exceptions, but worked unsuccessfully in McKeesport and Duquesne, where they were supplanted by paper ballots, it was developed yesterday at two hearings of the Senate committee investigating voting machines.

Judges of elections in McKeesport and Duquesne testified as to the performance of the machine in their cities at the primaries at a session last night in the Municipal Building in McKeesport. While a number of the machines worked during the full voting period, a majority was cast aside due to a variety of ailments, chiefly that of clogged sheets in the back where the notations are recorded.

POLLS CONGESTED

That the crowds which congested McKeesport and Duquesne polls created confusion and excitement, and that county committeemen, Mayor Crawford, of Duquesne, and others called for paper ballots and that few judges of election asked for them were points brought out.

The committee will sit at 2 o'clock today in the City-County Building, and at 8 o'clock tonight in Clairton.

A majority of the judges spoke in favor of the voting machines, a great number of them stating that more machines were needed, and that many machines obviously were not in workable condition.

TILT BETWEEN SENATORS

Senator Frank J. Harris, chairman, and Senators Joseph G. Armstrong, Jr., Chauncey W. Parkinson and John Howell heard the testimony, with Attorney O. K. Eaton, for the Poole Engineering Company, machine manufacturers, also questioning the witness. Senator William D. Mansfield was a spectator.

Among the causes for complaint against the machines in McKeesport and Duquesne were sheared handlepins, tight buttons, poor electric connections, motor trouble and failure of the curtains to perform satisfactorily. Some said each 150 voters should have a voting machine.

The afternoon session yesterday brought judges of elections of the first four wards of Pittsburgh before the committee. Twenty-three of the 25 who appeared expressed themselves as satisfied with the machines, declaring that with minor servicing they had performed successfully.

DENIES PETITION

Attorney Ella Graubart, named as a speaker who asked a meeting of women to sign petitions to have the County Commissioners throw out the Poole machines, is expected to be called at today's session. Mrs. Alberta Rowland, of Port Vue, stated she engaged in a controversy with Attorney Graubart, who, she said, represented herself as a member of the Citizens' Voting Machine committee.

Attorney Graubar today said she had been invited to address a meeting of the Women's Political Educational Association in the Y. W. C. A. last week and that in answer to a question suggested the only means of preventing the county paying $1,000,000 on its vote machine contract was through a taxpayer's suit. No petition, she said, was circulated. Her statement was confirmed by Mrs. Lois McBride, chairman of the association, who presided.

Senator Howell, after Mrs. Rowland was emphatic in her stand for clean elections, asked her if she thought the machines were straighter than the people who operate them, and she answered:

"Men are not perfect. They chase the almighty dollar. You cannot flatter a voting machine by waving a dollar at it."

She said she was for voting machines regardless of who made them.

3 Children Killed In Auto Accidents

UTICA, N. Y., Oct. 2.—(AP.)—An automobile skidding out of control leaped over a curbstone into a group of seven children on their way to school in suburban New York Mills, fatally injured two and sent four to hospitals, including one with a fracture of the skull. In the city itself, in a separate accident, Lena Lucia, 6, was killed as she ran in the path of an automobile.

Frank Cupiec and Stanley Wolkamoski, of the group of children, each aged 10, died soon after reaching the hospital.

29 AMERICAN PAINTERS 'BREAK INTO' INTERNATIONAL

CARNEGIE BODY SELECTS 30 CANVASES

Committee of Selection Lists Lucky Artists Among 'Younger' Group

By PENELOPE REDD

Twenty-nine American painters have "broken into" the Thirtieth Carnegie Institute International Exhibition of paintings "by way" of the American Committee of Selection.

Thirty paintings by "younger and unknown artists" were selected from 1,061 sent from the North, South, East and West, and according to the list of lucky ones, from Canadian artists and American residents abroad as well the pronouncement assures.

"These 30 have been added to the 134 invited American paintings in the exhibition, making the total American representation 164."

Penelope Redd

For those who are anxious to know the fate of painter friends the names of those who have "broken into" the exhibition are revealed.

New York city has the largest representation, including Edmund Archer, Nathaniel Dirk, Stephen M. Etnier, Vaughn Flannery, Edwin Booth Grossman, George Picken, Jacob Getlar Smith and Eduard Buk Ulreich. Two others from the immediate vicinity of Manhattan are Myron Lechay of Brooklyn and Jack [illegible] of Jackson Heights, Long Island.

WOODSTOCK SECOND

Woodstock, New York's most popular art suburb comes out second best with seven, although some of those accepted from New York have been closely identified with Woodstock. The painters from Woodstock selected are Florence Ballin Cramer, Konrad Cramer, Emil Ganso, Paul Rohland, [illegible] Judson Smith and Bradley Walker Tomlin.

Philadelphia has the distinction of Franklin C. Watkins with two canvases accepted, while New Hope justifies its name with one representative, Paul Froelich.

From New England, a lonely trio—Revington Arthur, of Glen[illegible] Stuart Davis, from [illegible] Mass., and Alzira [illegible] Bangor, Me.

FROM WEST

From the West there is Minette Barton of Colorado Springs, Col., and Ward Lockwood, of Taos, N. M.

One southern artist only—Morris Belknap of Louisville, Ky.—made the derby.

From Toronto, Canada, Elizabeth Bart-Gerald will exhibit, and from Paris there is Sidney Laufman.

Cleveland, our nearest rival city, has two successful entrants, Jack J. Greitzer and Paul B. Travis.

Not one Pittsburgh painter has "broken into" the thirtieth Carnegie International.

STOLEN TAXICAB FOUND BLAZING

A Yellow taxicab stolen from Federal street and Plush way, North Side, early today, was discovered on fire in Franklin street an hour later. The thieves had parked the car in Franklin street and set fire to the gasoline tank. Firemen answering a still alarm extinguished the flames. The damage was slight.

Receiving a call that two men were attempting to steal an automobile in Sherman avenue, North Side, this morning, North Side police hurried to the scene and arrested John Finnegan, 43, of 38 Gironda street, and William O'Neill, 41, of 3264 Bainton street.

The men denied they were attempting to steal the car and said they had discovered it on fire and had extinguished the blaze. Investigation showed that the car had been on fire and that the upholstery had been damaged to the extent of $100. The car is owned by Charles Bonini, of 612 Sherman avenue, and it had been parked in front of his home.

OUTLAW VOTES CHARGED IN DE ROSA AREA

Persons Stricken From Lists Cast Ballots in Twelfth Ward, Witnesses Declare

Thirty nine voters stricken from the registration lists voted in the Fifth District of the Twelfth Ward at the primary election, September 15, it was disclosed today as the examination of witnesses resumed before Garnet R. Speer, Quarter Sessions Court representative, to support charges of fraud and irregularities meriting the throwing out of the vote in that district.

Some of these voters may have been in the thousands whose rights were restored by Judge Macfarlane a few hours before the polls closed.

Friends of Alderman W. A. Means, who was defeated on the face of unofficial returns by Michael DeRosa, Jr., son of Mayor Kline's Twelfth Ward Republican leader, instigated the proceedings. Attorney Hyman Schlessinger represents the Means forces, while Congressman Harry A. Estep is counsel for DeRosa.

The unofficial vote of the district was reported as 387 for DeRosa and 169 for Means. Throwing out of the district would result in Means winning the nomination, according to rumors in political circles.

DREW APPARENT CHOICE OF TWO PARTIES

5,000 Margin For Justice In Democratic Column Likely; 350,000 in G. O. P.

Justice James B. Drew, of the State Supreme Court, serving by appointment of Gov. Pinchot, appears to have won the Republican nomination to succeed himself by more than 350,000 majority over Graham C. Woodward, of Philadelphia, and the Democratic nomination by more than 5,000 over Charles F. Uhl of Somerset.

If official returns sustain the unofficial figures and give Justice Drew both nominations, it would be the first time in the history of the state that such a result was obtained by a candidate.

Unofficial returns in Allegheny County, with 26 districts missing, gave Justice Drew a 149,735 majority in the Republican column and a 6,418 lead in the Democratic column. His state lead in the Republican column, outside Allegheny County and without reports from Butler and Luzerne counties, was placed unofficially at 191,544.

Uhl was leading Justice Drew by 2,390 votes in the Democratic column outside Allegheny County and with Butler and Luzerne counties still to be reported.

BRIDGE PAIRS REACH FINAL ROUND

Deciding Play Scheduled In Contract Tourney; Fours to Begin Contest

The final round of the Pennsylvania state contract bridge championship for pairs was to open the day's play at the second annual Pennsylvania state bridge tournament of the American Bridge League, in the Pittsburgh Bridge Club, in the William Penn Hotel.

The opening of the championship for teams of four, with the Franklin Bridge Club trophy as the prize for the winning team was to be another feature of the day's play.

WOMEN FIGHT, ONE HELD

A neighborhood squabble over the action of children, which culminated in the beating of one of the women and injury to her 3-year-old son, was aired in Morals Court today. Magistrate Thomas D. Jones held Mrs. Laverne Kuhns, 23, of 246 Glenwood avenue, for court trial on a charge of aggravated assault and battery. On September 23, she is alleged to have struck Mrs. Geraldine Johnston, 30, of 242 Glenwood avenue, on the head with a milk bottle. The bottle broke and cut Mrs. Johnston's 3-year-old son, Robert, whom she was holding.

Methodists Vote to Change Conference Date From October to June

By DR. C. T. MURDOCK
Special Correspondent

INDIANA, Pa., Oct. 2.—The Pittsburgh conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church voted today to change the time of the annual assemblies from October to June after a lively debate and spirited vote.

A committee headed by Dr. C. A. Hartung, of Beaver Falls, appointed last year, advised the change.

Dr. Albert E. Day, pastor of Christ Church, Pittsburgh, and Dr. Ralph B. Urmy, editor of the Pittsburgh Christian Advocate, were elected on the first ballot as delegates to the general conference. Four others were to be chosen.

The Rev. Dr. James E. Hughson of Hamilton, Ontario, was to tell the conference of the Ontario government-controlled liquor system this afternoon.

Dr. A. C. Goddard, secretary of the World Peace Commission, spoke last night, recommending the reduction of armament, abolition of military training in the public schools and advocating the outlawing of war.

M'KEESPORT COUNCIL SCANS BIDS ON COAL FOR NEEDY

$50,000 FUND URGED TO AID RELIEF

Officials Plan Meeting Next Week For Action on Winter Help For Destitute

Bids for the purchase of coal to be distributed to needy families during the winter months were considered by McKeesport City Council at a meeting yesterday. Definite action was withheld. Members of Council also discussed the offer made recently to the city, of a 25,000-ton coal deposit near the Boston Hollow road.

Representatives of the Family Welfare Association of the city appeared before Council and requested an appropriation of $50,000 to help care for the needy this winter.

Council plans to hold a special meeting next week to take definite action.

6 HELD IN HILL STORE HOLDUPS

Six Negroes, including two women, rounded up by police in connection with a series of chain store holdups in the Hill district in the last few months, were held for court when arraigned before Magistrate James J. O'Connor in Center Avenue Police Court today.

Those held on nine charges of robbery, carrying concealed weapons and pointing firearms, were Louise Brown, 25, of 1021 Arcena street; Alice Dilworth, 25, of 2550 Vera street; James Mason, 27, of 1917 Bedford avenue; Edward Douglas, 26, of 1021 Arcena street; Britt Dunstee, 25, of 102 Shaffer street, and Will Harley, 32, of 2139 Race street.

They admitted complicity in eight holdups of A. & P. stores in the last two months and the robbery of the Sheffler Tailor Shop at 1524 Center avenue. The women, it was testified, looked over the stores the men planned to rob, and then passed revolvers to the men who, a few minutes later, would hold up the place.

FRAT AT PITT LOSES CHARTER

The franchise of the University of Pittsburgh's chapter of Theta Kappa Nu, national social fraternity, has been lifted, effective October 1, Dean Robert C. Clothier, chairman of the university's fraternity committee, announced today.

Dean Clothier said the national headquarters of the fraternity is to suspend the chapter's charter.

Theta Kappa Nu organized at Pitt in 1924, and since that time enrolled Jim Rooney, now a state legislator, and Luby DeMelio, football stars, and Eddie Schultz, a winner of the George Wharton Pepper prize.

Failure of the brothers to pay their dues and liquidate the fraternity's debts caused the lifting of the franchise, Dean Clothier said.

The "frat" has had three homes during its existence, the last at 4728 Baum boulevard, and was originally known as the Delta Xi Omega, a local organization. It "went national" in 1927, becoming the Delta chapter of Theta Kappa Nu.

DONATES FIRST CROPS TO AID CANNING

Summer Home Produce Turned Over to Needy; Arrange Visiting Day

The first fruits of his summer home farm on the Perry Highway were donated today to the cause of the Surplus for the Needy project by R. V. Bingay, North Side manufacturer. Four truckloads of apples and tomatoes were delivered to the canning factory of the committee on Spring Garden avenue, North Side.

Operations were going ahead today on the project of collecting and canning fruits and vegetables for the needy of the Pittsburgh district. The committee's goal of 1,000,000 cans has not yet been reached, committee members reported, but they believed it would be before the end of the canning season.

PLAN VISITING DAY

Plans were being made today to conduct a visiting day at the factory on Spring Garden avenue where all those interested in the welfare of the needy of Pittsburgh would be given the oportunity to examine the workings of the project.

Further apeals for sugar and for donations of money for the purchase of sugar were being made today. Heads of the project reported that all other departments of the canning project were provided for with the exception of sugar.

AID FOR 5,000 HOMES

It is the plan of the committee to furnish 5,000 needy families in the Pittsburgh district with five cans of vegetables each week over a period of 32 weeks.

Distribution of the products will be placed in the hands of Pittsburgh charities, and distribution will begin with the advent of cold weather in the district, officials said.

RARE VOLUMES ON DISPLAY

them were from world famous presses such as the Aldine in Venice, that of the Plantins in Holland and innumerable others.

Even today with many collectors and an increased interest in the subject, many of his individual items are the only copies of their respective works in the United States.

The Rhazes treatise on medicine by the Arabian doctor of that name represents the quality of Dr. Miller's collection. The only other copy of this book in America is in the College of Physicians and Surgeons.

Printed in Milan, Italy, in 1481, one may well fancy that Leonardo da Vinci's eager mind could have delved in such a book.

Containing the first authentic account in medicine of smallpox and of measles, the book is aesthetically appealing.

The type font is directly derived from the handwritten manuscripts, while a painted miniature and illuminated letters emphasize the manuscript characteristics. The book demonstrates the transition from the laborious manuscript to the printed book.

Dr. Miller's collection is probably the most complete of its kind, because in addition to thousands of incunabula, it includes more than 3,000 separate woodcuts and engravings of medical subjects.

Dr. Miller has journeyed frequently to the great medical centers for conferences on his particular subject. He has lectured at the Mayo Foundation in Rochester, Minn., at the Osler Book and Journal Club at Johns Hopkins, in Baltimore, at Richmond Medical College, and many other centers of medical education.

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK OCTOBER 4TH TO 10TH

Thoughtful people throughout the United States will again observe Fire Prevention Week, as suggested by the President in his annual proclamation.

This year October 4th ushers it in. Commercial, civic, social and other organizations will hold appropriate meetings. Millions of school children will take part.

You can make a definite contribution to Fire Prevention Week by increasing your efforts to safeguard your own home and business.

STOCK FIRE INSURANCE

has always been an active factor in Fire Prevention Week—through the National Board of Fire Underwriters and other organizations, and through its local agents in all states.

The purpose of Fire Prevention Week is not only to reduce the fire waste, but to save human lives. In doing this further reductions in the average cost of insurance will be justified—a cost that has consistently declined for many years.

TUBE REPLACEMENT WEEK :-: Dealers to Examine Sets Without Charge :-: REAL FOLKS AT SHOW

We Now Present

By DARRELL V. MARTIN,
Radio Editor

Darrell V. Martin

IS YOUR SET operating at par? Is it bringing in the dulcet tones of tenors and sopranos with fidelity, beauty and color? Do you hear the deep bass boom-booms as clearly as you distinguish the high pitch of flutes and piccolos? If not it's probably the fault of the tubes in your set. A radio is no better than its weakest tube. To aid listeners in checking up on their sets for perfect fall reception the Radio Tube Jobbers Committee of the Pittsburgh Radio Council has set the week of October 12 as Radio Tube Replacement Week. Dealers throughout the tri-state district will examine tubes free of charge and make recommendations wherever necessary. J. H. Phillips is chairman of the committee. His assistants are Wallace Russell, J. F. Leahy and H. Irving Van Dusen.

Question a Day:

What time does Charles Hamp broadcast over WGAR in Cleveland and how may I pick him up on my set?—Faith W., Leechburg, Pa.

Answer — Charles goes on WGAR every day but Sunday as the "Prince of Pep." WGAR operates on 1,450 kilocycles.

Ed Gallagher Jr., 23, and Al Shean, Jr., 24 . . . sons of the famous Gallagher and Shean . . . have been signed by CBS for a sustaining program to be put on the air soon . . .

NBC has acted wisely in deciding to produce the overture and the first act of the Chicago Civic Opera Company this winter instead of the second act as last year. . . . This system will be much more explanatory to listeners and certainly appeals to this column as a better way of teaching higher music appreciation . . . KDKA is to carry the opera schedule in Pittsburgh starting November 7 and starring each Saturday such celebrated singers as Tito Schipa, Charles Hackett, Cyrena Van Gordon, Richard Bonelli, Rosa Raisa . . .

The average age of Guy Lombardo's Royal Canadians is 26.

THE LOUDSPEAKER

By LOUIS REID

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—The first concrete has been poured in Radio City and the development sponsored by Rockefeller doughbags is at last assuming tangible form.

There have been times in the past year when the radio rulers could scarcely believe their great dream was coming true. It was such a gigantic enterprise, this housing of the new amusement art in an area comprising three city blocks. And there were skeptics abroad in the town. Thousands of them, it seemed. To them the idea was nothing but a smudge of press agents' ink—a superb smudge, but still a smudge.

Not until they were invited to behold the models of the enterprise in architects' offices were they definitely convinced it was fact and not fiction. There they were joined by another army which if it was not skeptical was loudly and insistently critical. The latter set up a clamor against the ideas of the architects, uncovered their ink pots at what seemed to them an unforgivable bow to commercialism. It was enough to daunt less determined men than the John Ds and the radio rulers sitting in their tents.

Gradually the clamor died down. Architects stung by the criticism modified their plans. And it was not long before the drab brown stone buildings, concealing here and there some of the less pretentious speakeasies of the town, were tumbling down. Steam shovels were brought up. The excavation began. And soon the biggest hole in the ground New York had ever seen was visible from the tops of the buses.

* * *

Legends have grown up about this center which some call Radio City, others Rockefeller City and still others Metropolitan Square. The choicest one is that which concerns the conception of the idea in the mind of a young architect and the hesitant approach of a radio mogul to whom the young architect had spoken to the doorsteps of the mighty who could, if they would, put the idea over.

The PILLSBURY PAGEANT

entered the room with her!

The Law was on her husband's side—that Latin "Judas" who claimed her child. She came to plead for mercy—armed—prepared to kill, but then—FATE stepped in to play an amazing role in this great true-life story of war, infidelity, and mother love!

"SHOULD a woman accept the moral code of the man she marries," this confessing woman writes, "even though it drags her through the suffering silence of hell?"

"That question, like the nameless night of death, has plagued my soul every cursed moment since that final afternoon in his apartment.

"I loved that man, Paul-Louis—loved him with all the yielding devotion of a country girl from Illinois. We met and married in France during the war, and gladly did I sacrifice all—my citizenship and property—to let him possess me.

"But Paul-Louis was French—a gentleman of a foreign land with a foreign code of morals—and soon his faithless kisses fouled my lips, his honeyed phrases sickened my soul.

"How could I—how could any woman endure such torture and still go on? I had to smuggle our child out of France, because The Law gave it to him. We sailed to New York—and he followed, determined to take it back.

"Once more, in New York, he begged—promised to be a good American husband. Starved for his love that fed my very being—I had to forgive. And so again we were happy—insanely so, until soon he took up his old wayward habits.

"That was the end! I left him and took our child with me. Enraged, Paul-Louis sent The Law to take my baby—and booked passage to sail for France.

"I was frantic. The Law had given my precious child to a faithless father. Helpless, utterly defeated—'How can I keep my baby from being brought up to such degrading moral standards,' I cried to myself—WHEN—there flashed through my mind a murderous thought. At any cost, I'd save my little boy! And so I rushed madly to Paul-Louis' apartment—and it was on that terrifying afternoon—that—I—"

Corded Velvet Dresses

Remarkable Sale of Actual $39.50 Models

$19.50

Only one material was more outstanding than velvet at the Fall fashion showings—that was corded velvet. So when a large manufacturer offered us, exclusively in Pittsburgh, the exact corded velvets and styles used in $39.50 dresses—at $19.50—we jumped at the chance to buy them!

The velvets are regal, in flattering, narrow one-eighth-inch cords, entirely different from anything you've ever seen. In twelve striking new models, with a distinction usually reserved for dressmaker frocks twice this extraordinary low sale price!

Only 250 of these dresses available at $19.50—we wish there were more—for they are the sort of exquisite type fashion every smart woman will want to snap up for herself at this price.

Please Note!

These are not the silk and cotton corduroy velvets so widely used in Fall sports fashions. They are dress velvets with slenderizing ⅛-inch cords—all silk-back velvets, Blumenthal velvets, known coast to coast and selling around $4.95 yd!

Sizes 14 Through 40

Dresses that forecast new styles trends in slim, "Princess Eugenie" lines of bias cut, bishop sleeves; "bracelets" of wooden beads; lace revers; in one and two-piece models for street, afternoon, dinner, "five o'clock"—even informal evening!

Colors

—to match Fall dress coats, and in their order of importance—Black, Brown, Green, Wine, Patou Blue.

STORE TO HOLD FETE OPENING NEW HOME

Palace Credit Clothing Co. Now Housed in Larger, More Elaborate Quarters

An elaborate entertainment program will mark the opening tonight of the new home of the Palace Credit Clothing Company, 619-623 Liberty avenue.

Dick Powell will act as master of ceremonies for the program, which will include a fashion show with living models, a 10-piece orchestra and a free vaudeville performance at which $500 in prizes will be awarded. The opening ceremonies will be broadcast through KDKA.

Starting in 1920 at 641 Liberty avenue, the company expanded rapidly and five years later the store was re-established at 625 Liberty avenue. The new site embraces the old with adjoining space at 619 and and 621 Liberty avenue.

Every floor of the new Palace Credit quarters will have ample display space, ventilated and air conditioned for the comfort of customers and salespeople. There will be a bargain basement well lighted and ventilated. Fleet modern elevators will operate from basement to top floor. Display fixtures and other equipment are of latest design. The store contains more than 60,000 square feet of floor space.

The expansion program of the Palace Credit Clothing Company was carried out under the leadership of David J. Bonwit, president and founder, and his co-partner Samuel Roth.

Turtle Creek police are holding Bernard Kirzinski, 24, of Montgomery avenue, Turtle Creek, on a charge of reckless driving following the collision of his automobile with the car driven by John P. Carmack, of 111 Comrie avenue, North Braddock. Both cars were badly damaged, police said.

OBITUARY

Haney Funeral

Funeral services will be held Monday morning for Fire Capt. Patrick George Haney, 56, who died yesterday at his home, 413 Twenty-ninth street, McKeesport. Services will be held at St. Peter's Roman Catholic Church and burial will be in Calvary Cemetery. Capt. Haney was born in Pittsburgh, and was captain of No. 3 Fire Department, McKeesport, 27 years. He was a member of the Fraternal Order of Eagles and Knights of Columbus. He leaves three brothers, Thomas J. and Martin D. Haney, of McKeesport and John J. Haney, of Pittsburgh, and a sister, Mrs. Catherine Monohan, of McKeesport.

Nacey Funeral

Funeral services for Mrs. Ellen Mary Nacey, 6?, who died Wednesday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Joseph Johovic, 2465 Toner street, North Side, will be held tomorrow at 9 a. m. in St. Peter's Roman Catholic Church, McKeesport. Mrs. Nacey was born in Ireland and came to this country in her youth and lived for many years in McKeesport. She was the widow of the late Patrick J. Nacey. She leaves a son, Thomas G. Nacey, of McKeesport, a daughter, Mrs. Johovic, and three sisters, Miss Anna McCarthy, of Pittsburgh, Mrs. James Neeland, of Swissvale, and Mrs. Charles Slauntus, of Dormont.

Henry Taylor

Henry Taylor, for many years trainmaster of the Cresson division of the Pennsylvania Railroad, died early today in his home, 424 Beaver street, Beaver.

He was in his 80th year. He came from England as a boy and at 18 entered the employ of the Pennsylvania, retiring in 1921. Since his retirement he had lived in Beaver.

He leaves three daughters, Gertrude, at home; Dr. Ann Taylor, of Philadelphia, and Mrs. J. C. Steel, of Vanport.

Funeral services will be held from the family home Monday afternoon, followed by burial at Irwin.

Coinness Funeral

Funeral services for Mrs. Ellen Costello Coinness, 76, mother of Maurice Costello, film and stage star, will be held Monday morning in St. Basil's Catholic Church, Brownsville road. A telegram last night from her son in Hollywood stated it would be impossible for him to attend. Mrs. Coinness died Wednesday in the home of her daughter, Mrs. George W. Rodgers, 2226 Lutz avenue, Carrick.

Torchia Funeral

Funeral services for Ross Torchia, 43, who died Tuesday, will be held from the home, 98 Elm street, tomorrow. Following solemn high mass in St. Peter's Catholic Church, burial will take place in Calvary Cemetery. He was president of the League of Calabrese, and was a member of the Amerita Club. He leaves his widow.

EDISON YOUTHS IN HONOR CLASS

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 2.—(AP)—Two boys who won Thomas Edison scholarships at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology have vindicated their selection in their first scholastic ratings.

Wilber Brotherton Huston, 19, of Seattle, winner of the 1929 scholarship, now a junior, was one of the 36 second-year students listed in the second highest honor group during the second term of the 1930-31 year. Only 20 students in the class of 594 attained better averages.

Arthur Olney Williams Jr., 19, of Providence, winner of the 1930 and final Edison scholarship contest, was one of the 25 first year students listed in the highest honor group.

The two have become fast friends since their victories in the Edison contests brought them to the institute.

PINCHOTS GIVE MINERS MILK

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 2.—(AP)—The Philadelphia Record says it has learned that Gov. and Mrs. Pinchot are the donors of free milk in the stricken Western Pennsylvania coal regions.

Five milk stations, controlled by trained nurses, have been distributing milk to children in the state. They are at Kinloch, Westmoreland County; Avella, Washington County; Bernice, Sullivan County, and Coverdale and Renton, both in Allegheny County.

Identity of the donor has never been announced.

Politician 'Returns'; Repute Ransom Paid

ST. PAUL, Minn., Oct. 2.—(AP)—Leon Gleckman, a politician, reported to have been held a week by kidnapers for ransom and released on payment of $50,000, returned home today.

Gleckman, head of a finance company, refused to talk except to say he was "on a week's fishing trip."

Ohio Youth Heads Annapolis Class

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Oct. 2.—(AP)—The election of Midshipman Joseph B. Davis, of Youngstown, O., as president of the first or graduating class of the United States Naval Academy was announced today.

MEXICO NAMES U. S. ENVOY

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 2.—(Universal)—Dr. Jose Manuel Puig Casaurane's formal appointment as Mexican ambassador to the United States has been announced by Foreign Minister Genaro Estrada. Dr. Puig, formerly minister of education, succeeds Ambassador Manuel C. Tellez, who, it is understood, will be appointed Ambassador to Chile.

The foreign Minister said that Washington's "agreement" to the appointment of Dr. Puig has been received and that the new Ambassador would leave for his post October 8 or 9.

Swiftest, Easiest Way to End Bilious Spell

When you neglect those first symptoms of constipation—bad breath, coated tongue, listlessness, the whole system soon suffers. Appetite lags. Digestion slows up. You become headachy, dizzy, bilious.

It's easy to correct sluggish bowel action! Take a candy Cascaret tonight. See how quickly—and pleasantly—the bowels are activated. All the souring waste is gently propelled from the system. Regular and complete bowel action is restored.

Cascarets are made from pure cascara, a substance which doctors agree actually strengthens bowel muscles. All drug stores have Cascarets. 10c.

How Do Sportswomen Manage?

Cup winners can't be quitters. The woman in any field of sport must take her sporting chance with Nature. Any strenuous match may bring on her monthly sickness. But there need be no pain! Midol always meets this emergency, as all active women should know. It will block periodic pain for hours.

And Midol is as harmless as the aspirin that stops your headaches. (It is non-narcotic.) If you want your next monthly period to begin and end without even a moment's discomfort, just ask for Midol at any drug store. Tuck the little box in your purse and be ready.

Guard Kidneys! Doctors Caution Expectant Mother

Expectant mothers should be under the care of a physician. If this isn't possible, then the kidneys and intestines should be kept clear by regular use of a reliable medicine.

Even normally healthy women have kidney congestion during this critical period, and if there is an ailment of the kidneys, it is apt to become aggravated. Rising blood pressure and self-poisoning from the intestines is common. Only by eliminating these dangerous poisons from the kidneys and intestines can mother and baby be protected.

Hundreds of doctors in the East now prescribe Wildunger Tee, a simple German herb preparation in which is combined the valuable mineral salts of Bad Wildungen, the most famous continental springs for kidney disorders.

The soothing, cleansing, comforting effect of the Tee is quickly felt. It immediately starts eliminating kidney and intestinal poisons, breaking up congestion, checking swelling of the legs and hands, backache, headache, dizziness, nausea and constipation.

Get it from your favorite drug store.

Soft Corns

Those itching, burning, painful torments on the balls of your feet and between your toes need not cost you another hour of agony.

They will respond at once to a brisk rubbing with Moone's Emerald Oil. Your druggist says to use the oil two or three times a day, and bind your corns at night with a cloth soaked in the oil. Your corns will shrivel up and scale off as neat as can be in just a day or two. Money back if they don't.

UNGUENTINE CONES FOR PILES

A Scientific Triumph by the Makers of Unguentine

When a real miracle working formula to speedily relieve and end piles is offered to the public through the drug stores of America it doesn't take long for the good news to spread — sales are enormous.

For over 30 years, Unguentine Cones have been giving quick, blissful relief from the burning, itching and agony of piles. But that isn't all. In most cases, Unguentine Cones cause distressing piles to shrink and the trouble is gone.

Do not neglect piles—you are inviting the knife if you do and operations are painful and expensive.

It costs but 75 cents to learn about the supreme healing and soothing power of Unguentine Cones—at all drug stores. The Norwich Pharmacal Co., Norwich, N. Y.

WHY do more and more smokers say:

"I've changed to Chesterfield"

BECAUSE . . .

THEY'RE MILDER. It's the tobaccos! The best tobaccos—the smoothest and mildest that money can buy—go into Chesterfield. Ripened and sweetened in the sunshine . . . cured by the farmer . . . then aged for two years in wooden hogsheads. No wonder you say, "They're so much milder!"

THEY TASTE BETTER. These mild smooth tobaccos are put together exactly right. That's Chesterfield's secret—but millions of smokers agree that the job couldn't be improved! Rich aroma of Turkish and mellow sweetness of Domestic, blended and cross-blended to Chesterfield's own BETTER TASTE.

THEY'RE PURE. Cleanliness and purity, always! Everything that goes into Chesterfield is tested by expert chemists . . . tested thoroughly. The purest cigarette paper made, burning without taste or odor. Sanitary manufacture . . . no hands touch your Chesterfields. They're as pure as the water you drink!

THEY SATISFY. You break open a clean, tight-sealed package. You light up a well-filled cigarette. Yes, sir . . . you're going to like this cigarette—you know that with your very first puff. And right there's where many a smoker changes to Chesterfield. They Satisfy!

Patricia Pitt's Sprightly Comment on Pittsburgh's Society Happenings

In Mayfair

—With—

Patricia Pitt

In the lull between early fall events and the formal season many folks are taking brief trips, with a number paying their usual visits to New York.

Frances Henry, daughter of the James W. Henrys, has gone to New York for a few days. When she returns, she will be feted. Her marriage to James Samuel O'Neil, of New York, will take place October 24.

The C. Dudley Armstrong family will sail October 16 for a year in southern France. Mr. Armstrong's mother, Mrs. Charles D. Armstrong, closed her cottage at Osterville, Cape Cod, yesterday, and motored to Windsor, Vt., to be the guest for a few weeks of her daughter and son, the Andrew B. McClarys.

Back from Lausanne

Jane Jenkins, daughter of Mrs. C. A. Jenkins, has returned after a year at the Mont-Choisi School at Lausanne, Switzerland. This winter she'll continue her study of music at the Carnegie Institute of Technology.

On Monday Mrs. William McKennan Reed and her sub-deb daughter, Mathilde, will motor to Dobbs Ferry, where Miss Reed will study again this year at the Master's School.

William Wettach, of Walnut street, has returned to Princeton.

Travel Chatter

The Casino Lawn will be the rendezvous for fashionables at the Homestead, Hot Springs, Va., during the coming week, when the annual fall tennis tournament will be held. Pittsburghers already there include Mrs. W. G. Costin.

Nancy Lee Byers and her mother, Mrs. J. Frederic Byers, will sail tonight on the Majestic for Cherbourg. Nancy will study in Paris this winter, and Mrs. Byers will return to the States in late October.

* * *

Ann Wyant, daughter of Congressman and Mrs. Adam M. Wyant, of Greensburg and Washington, is one of a list of 50 girls to be presented this winter in Washington.

Presidents of 14 Clubs At Alliance Reception

More than 100 persons, 14 of whom were visiting presidents, attended the reception given yesterday by the Outlook Alliance in honor of its new head, Mrs. E. B. Heyser. Her officers and directors received with Mrs. Heyser, who wore a smart wool suit of dark blue with a fox fur and small blue felt hat. Mrs. H. D. Stark presented the gavel to her successor, the visiting presidents, among them, Mrs. T. M. Stahlman, of the Congress, brought their greetings and there was a program of entertainment. This included contralto solos by Mrs. Herbert Lytle, accompanied by Mrs. Martin Leiseder; violin numbers by Miss Viola Voelcker, with Miss Bernadette Horrell accompanying, and a group of readings by Mrs. D. K. Ballard.

Upper St. Clair Club Hears Brookside Choral

The Upper St. Clair Woman's Club opened its year yesterday in Mrs. N. H. Orr's home. Mrs. J. E. White introduced the new president, Mrs. M. C. Reiter, and there was music by the Brookside Choral Club. Mrs. W. G. Kaufman, program chairman, summarized the year's plans.

Mary E. Dudley Married to J. C. Slack

Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Dudley, of Elmore road, Forest Hills, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Mary Edna Dudley, to John Campbell Slack, of Washington, which was solemnized on September 15.

The bride attended the University of Pittsburgh, and the bridegroom was graduated from the University of Maryland. After their wedding trip they will be at home in Pittsburgh.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Schleid, of Bellevue, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Dorothy Brownfield Schleid, to Howard W. Fisher, also of Bellevue.

Miss Schleid attended Skidmore College, Saratoga Springs, N. Y., and is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin. The wedding will take place in November.

Melda Irene Stevens Marries Henry P. Hays

Mr. and Mrs. William Stevens, of Gerritt street, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Melda Irene Stevens, to Henry Page Hays, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Wilbert Hays, of Center Villa, Center avenue, which was solemnized yesterday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock in the Christian Church. The Rev. Park Chapman officiated in the presence of the families. Mr. and Mrs. Hays will make their home in Los Angeles, after November 15.

The bride is a graduate of the University of Pittsburgh, and the bridegroom of Culver and Peddie, Hightstown, N. J.

WOMAN URGES CLUB-SCHOOLS

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 2.—(A.P.)—Mrs. John A. Frick, Allentown, president of the State Federation of Pennsylvania Women's Clubs, has recommended extension education courses for members as the next step in the woman's club movement. In addressing the Philadelphia Federation, she said:

"We are told we need education to combat the present depression. How can the post-school age woman obtain it except through her clubs? We should set up classes in our clubs and make them community centers with educational facilities for our members."

Miss Charlotte E. Carr, secretary of the State Department of Labor and Industry, urged double compensation for children injured while illegally employed, broader migratory child labor laws, and expansion of the work on compensation for industrial diseases.

Bellevue Home, Hospital Club To Drop Reception—Use Money for Charities

At the request of the new president, Mrs. S. J. Corbett, the Home and Hospital Club of Bellevue will dispense with its president's day reception this year and will use the money for its charitable work. This is the first time in 28 years that the club has not held the annual affair honoring its executive head. This year's reception was scheduled for October 13, but in its stead the members will have a meeting at the home of Mrs. L. L. Knox, North Balph avenue.

The October benefit card party of the Forum is to be held Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Lucretia B. Carroll, Edgerton avenue. The chairman in charge, Mrs. William R. Cappe, will be assisted by Mrs. Homer B. Saul, Mrs. A. C. Kinley, Mrs. Louis Kinley and Mrs. John G. Mackay.

DESIGNERS USE NEW COLOR BLENDS FOR AUTUMN CLOTHES

—Sketched in Paris—

Paris Bureau,
Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, Oct. 2.—The designers are playing several new color combinations, with some of them already marked as winners. Among these are putty and eggshell with tomato, dark red, brick or henna. Beige with various shades of medium or dark brown is good, as is cinnamon with pale yellow. Thus we find that the full gamut of yellow and brown has been used, the various shades smartly contrasted to create a new, vivid and dashing effect without being one little bit too startling or unduly loud. Color blending and contrasting is practiced by most women with great success and taste, proving that this talent can easily be brought to the surface, as it is latent in most of us.

WE USED to be rather timid and shy about color experimentations for fear of being dubbed an amateur art expert. But it is all very different now, since women suggest all sorts of color contrasts and harmonies to their dressmakers. Thus this winter we shall see several smart alliances for evening wear, colors that usually do not belong to that field, but have been placed there solely at the solicitation of the clients of various houses.

* * *

THE PENALTY OF GRAY HAIR

Gray hair—age—slipping. All these unpleasant ideas seem to go together. Yet, it is not at all necessary. Gray Hair often comes to a young head and people who have it are neither old nor incapable. But how often you hear people say, "Why, she has gray hair!" and—she is on the shelf.

This penalty need no longer handicap the woman who uses Canute Water. This is a clear, spring-like water, of wonderful properties which actually restore hair to its original girlhood color. No complicated "color plan"; no danger of getting brunette shade when your hair is blonde. Not only the one kind but the one bottle is enough. It really is surprising what successful, youthifying results it gives.

Apply Canute Water yourself, in the privacy of your own home. Many women in town are doing the same thing; they simply do not mention it. You need not mention it either. Just buy a bottle from any good druggist—and get rid of the "age penalty" in gray hair. Canute Water is so safe, so scientific and sure that your dealer knows it will satisfy you; if not, he will refund your money. Sold and recommended by Kaufmann's and all Mayflower Drug Stores or your own druggists. The Canute Co., Milwaukee, Wis.

PRUDENCE PENNY :-: 'What to Serve' Question Solved

SCALLOPED EGG PLANT — One egg plant, 2 tablespoons butter, 2 cups soft bread crumbs, 1 cup evaporated milk, ¼ cup onion finely chopped, ½ cup buttered bread crumbs, 1 teaspoon salt, pepper.

Pare eggplant. Cut in one-half inch and boil in a small amount of water until tender. Drain. Cook onion slowly in butter until yellow. Add eggplant, bread crumbs and the milk. Season with salt and pepper. Turn into a buttered baking dish. Cover with buttered crumbs. Brown in a moderate oven. Yields six servings.

CARROTS—One quart diced carrots, ½ teaspoon sugar, 1 medium sized onion, 2 tablespoons butter, ¼ cup soft bread crumbs, 1 cup evaporated milk, salt and pepper.

Boil carrots with sugar in a small amount of water until almost tender. Simmer chopped onion in butter five minutes. Add onion, crumbs and milk to carrots and continue cooking until the carrots are tender. Season to taste. Turn into a hot vegetable dish and garnish with chopped parsley.

TOMATO SANDWICHES WITH CHEESE SAUCE—One and one-half tablespoon butter, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 teaspoon salt, dash of pepper, 1 cup boiling water, 1 cup evaporated milk, ¼ cup grated American cheese.

Melt butter in double boiler. Add flour, salt and pepper and blend thoroughly. Add boiling water, stirring to keep it smooth. Cook directly over flame two minutes, stirring constantly. Add evaporated milk and cook over hot water five minutes longer. Add cheese and continue cooking until cheese is melted.

Pour this cheese sauce over hot toast. Place a thick slice of grilled tomato in center of each piece and top with two slices of crisp broiled bacon.

CREAMED SARDINES — Two cups evaporated milk, ½ cup soft bread crumbs, salt and pepper, cayenne, 1 can sardines (one cup), 2 tablespoons lemon juice, toast, paprika.

Cook milk, crumbs and seasonings over boiling water until crumbs are quite soft. Skin and bone the sardines. There should be one cup. Add lemon juice and when ready to serve stir into hot sauce. Pour over hot buttered toast or chill and use as a sandwich filling.

DRIED BEEF WITH MUSHROOM SAUCE—Melt 2 tablespoons butter, add 2 tablespoons flour until smooth. Then add 2 cups brown stock by dissolving 2 bouillon cubes in 2 cups boiling water or brown flour and butter adding water and 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce. Then add ¼ to ½ cup mushroom ends or chopped mushrooms. Chop fine ½ pound sliced dried beef. Add to sauce. Heat thoroughly and serve on buttered toast.

CHEESE FONDUE WITH DRIED BEEF—Scald 1 cup milk and pour it over 3 tablespoons dry bread crumbs, ½ pound grated cheese and ½ cup shredded sliced dried beef. Season to taste. Add 1 tablespoon melted butter and the yolks of 3 eggs, well beaten. Mix thoroughly. Beat the whites of the eggs until stiff but not dry. Fold into the first mixture. Bake in a buttered casserole 30 minutes, using a 350 degree oven. The casserole should be placed in a pan of hot water before putting in the oven.

STUFFED BANANA AND PEACH SALAD—Remove the skin from 4 bananas, cut in halves and with a silver knife hollow out the center of each half, lengthwise, roll in lemon juice to avoid discoloration and fill with a mixture made of 1 package cream cheese mixed with ¼ teaspoon lemon juice, 3 tablespoons of finely chopped walnuts and ⅛ teaspoon salt. On a bed of lettuce place half a peach, place a red cherry in the center of the cavity and at each side place a half banana stuffed with the cheese mixture and sprinkled with finely chopped nuts. Serve with mayonnaise.

CINNAMON APPLES WITH JUNKET—Peel and core 6 apples and place in a baking pan. Make a syrup by boiling a cup of sugar, ⅓ cup water and 3 tablespoons of lemon juice. Pour the syrup over the apples and bake until tender, basting several times. Place apples in individual dishes, adding a little syrup. When cooled and the syrup has jellied, prepare vanilla junket and fill the dishes. Let stand in a warm room until firm.

VANILLA JUNKET — Put a vanilla junket tablet in a cup with a tablespoon cold water. Crush with a spoon to dissolve thoroughly. To a pint of milk add 3 tablespoons sugar and vanilla to taste. Warm the milk to lukewarm—NOT HOT—110 degrees F., stirring constantly. Remove from stove. Then add the dissolved junket tablet to the lukewarm milk and stir quickly for a few seconds. Pour immediately into dessert glasses and let stand in a warm room until firm—about 20 minutes.

JUNKET RICE PUDDING—Boil ⅓ cup rice in salted water until tender, adding ¼ cup seedless raisins for the last few minutes of cooking to soften them a little. Drain, add a tablespoon of sugar and divide among 6 individual glasses. Crush a junket tablet and dissolve in a tablespoon of cold water. Warm a pint of milk to lukewarm—not hot—remove from the stove, add another tablespoon of sugar, a beaten egg, and ½ teaspoon vanilla. Add the dissolved tablet, pour into glasses and let stand in a warm room till firm.

BANANA JUNKET ICE CREAM—Crush 2 junket tablets and dissolve in 2 tablespoons cold water. Mix a cup sugar and 3 cups milk and warm to lukewarm, stirring until sugar is dissolved. Remove from stove. Add dissolved junket tablets, and allow to get firm in a warm room, then cool. Add a cup mashed bananas, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, and ½ pint cream, whipped until stiff. Pour into the freezing tray and let freeze.

CARAMEL JUNKET—Crush a junket tablet, dissolve in a tablespoon cold water. Put ¼ cup sugar in a small sauce pan and heat, stirring continually, until melted and golden brown. Add ¼ cup boiling water and dissolve the sugar in it. Add a pint of milk to the caramel syrup and warm to lukewarm. Remove from stove. Add dissolved junket tablet and ½ teaspoon vanilla and turn at once into dessert glasses. Let stand in a warm room until firm, then chill before serving. Add a topping of marshmallows cut in pieces and mixed with whipped cream.

PICKLED ONIONS—Peel onions and place in cold water containing 3 tablespoons salt to each quart of water. Boil and drain. Place in jars adding to each quart 1 teaspoon white mustard seed, 1 teaspoon grated horse radish, chopped red pepper and 1 tablespoon sugar. Pour boiling vinegar over the onion mixture and seal.

RAISIN TAPIOCA FILLING—One and a half tablespoon tapioca, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1 cup hot water, 3 tablespoons sugar, juice ½ lemon, ½ tablespoon butter, 1 cup raisins chopped, 4 tablespoons walnuts chopped. Add tapioca and salt to water, cook in double boiler 10 minutes, stirring frequently. Add sugar, lemon juice, butter and raisins and cook 10 minutes longer, remove from heat and add nuts. Cool and spread between layers of cake. Makes enough filling for two nine-inch layers. May also be used as a spread or filling for cookies.

LAMB FRICASSEE—Select breast of lamb for this dish. Cut it into suitable pieces for serving, dredge in flour seasoned with salt and pepper, brown in lamb fat or meat drippings, cover with boiling water and cook slowly until the meat is tender, about one hour. Make a gravy of the stock in the kettle using 1½ tablespoons of flour to each cup of stock. Serve meat with steamed rice or boiled potatoes.

STEAMED LIVER LOAF—One pound liver (beef or pork), ½ pound salt pork, 1 medium onion, 6 sprigs parsley, 2 eggs, beaten, 1 cup fine cornflake crumbs, ½ cup milk, ¼ teaspoon pepper.

Boil liver. Put liver, salt pork, onion and parsley through the food chopper twice. Add the beaten eggs, cornflake crumbs, milk and seasonings. Turn into greased pudding dish. Cover and tie waxed paper over the top. Steam for three hours. Serve hot or cold. Serves eight.

CHOCOLATE MOUSSE—Two squares unsweetened chocolate, ½ cup powdered sugar, 1 cup milk, ¾ tablespoon gelatin, 3 tablespoons cold water, ¾ cup sugar, 1 teaspoon vanila, 2 cups whipping cream.

Melt chocolate and powdered sugar and milk gradually. Stir over the fire until boiling point is reached, then add gelatin, soaked in cold water, sugar and vanila. Chill until the mixture thickens, beat until light and fold in the cream stiffly beaten. Freeze in fancy desert boxes or in the tray of your electric refrigerator.

FRUIT MEAL SALAD—From lettuce head cut 4 slices one-half inch thick. Put on 4 salad plates and center with mound of cottage cheese, 1½ tablespoons to each serving. Around this at equal distances arrange in cross formation four piles of orange segments. Allow 1 small orange to each serving. In spaces between orange segments place 5 walnuts (in first space), 1 dessert spoon seeded raisins (in second space), six almonds (in third space), 5 dates (in fourth space). Serve with a sweet French dressing. Serves four.

HAM SOUFFLE—Four tablespoons butter, 4 tablespoons flour, 2 cups milk, 2 egg yolks, ¾ teaspoon salt, 1 cup chopped cooked ham, 1 tablespoon finely chopped onions, 1 tablespoon chopped parsley, ¼ teaspoon celery seed, ¾ teaspoon paprika, 2 egg whites, beaten.

Melt butter and add flour. Add milk and cook until creamy sauce forms. Stir constantly. Add yolks and beat two minutes. Add rest of ingredients. Mix lightly and pour into buttered baking dish. Set in pan of hot water and bake 35 minutes in moderate oven. Un-

Potatoes Possess Numerous Dietetic Advantages

This over-popular food provides easily-digested protein, mineral elements and vitamins.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.,
Former Health Commissioner of New York City, United States Senator From New York.

Not long ago I said something about the sweet potato. Today I want to speak about the common white potato.

In olden times this faithful friend of man was looked upon as the cause of many diseases. This foolish fear existed when the potato was first brought into Europe.

At one time it was even believed to be the cause of leprosy. This diseases was particularly prevalent in Europe and was little understood of course. Likewise little was known of the potato, and all sorts of weird rumors were spread regarding its dangers.

But all that is past. Today has become one of the most staple of foods.

A marked advantage of this vegetable is that it has so many ways of preparation. It may be served steamed, baked, boiled and in various other forms. The baked potato is an exceedingly palatable dish and for many reasons I place it above any other method of serving.

As a rule, the eating of fried foods is not to be recommended. However, many persons eat fried potatoes without the slightest discomfort. For those who have difficulty in digestion, I would advise against eating fried potatoes.

In the last analysis "the test of the pudding is in the eating." What is good for one may be bad for another. I doubt if we can lay down hard and fast rules as to what to eat or what not to eat. It is pretty safe for one to take what he finds agrees with him.

A man working for me last summer never considered a meal complete without eating at least one large, raw, unpeeled cucumber. I wouldn't do that and couldn't recommend it, but this chap seemed to thrive on it.

The same philosophy can be applied to all foods. If you find a particular food or a form of its preparation is acceptable to your digestive organs, it is proper to consume it.

In the potato is found an important vitamin. This is the particular vitamin that is essential for proper growth. It is abundantly supplied in this vegetable. On this account the potato is a valuable vegetble for the growing child.

This homely food should grace the menu at least once a day. When combined with other foods it is a health building vegetable, possessing many dietetic advantages.

Another great value of this vegetable is that at a minimum cost it furnishes an abundance of carbohydrates. In addition, it is an excellent source of easily-digested protein, mineral elements and vitamins.

CHEMISTS VOTE 6-HOUR DAY

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—(INS.)—The six-hour day will be adopted by the chemical industry, it was reported to President Hoover by W. D. Huntington, chairman of the executive committee of the Manufacturing Chemists' Association.

Such a step, which it is believed would increase the number employed by approximately one-third, already has been recommended to the industry by the association's directorate.

No reduction in hourly rates of wage is contemplated, Huntington told Mr. Hoover. He said that many plants already have changed from an eight-hour to a six-hour shift, while others are adopting the plan this week.

Horseman Leaves $1,104,375 Estate

Love Can Be Smothered by Too Much Selfishness

They were All the World to each other. Night after night they sat in the sweet security of their new home, whispering "Do you love me, dear? Do you really love me?" Or perhaps they planned some new treasure—one of those quaint three-cornered book cases for this nook—an extra couch for under the window.

Go places? See people? Do things? Why—when they had their love? No, they tenderly assured each other that they Didn't Care If They Never Saw Another Living Soul. For nearly three years it was like that. Then Rob began to grow strangely restless. Now and then he'd skip a night at home . . . say he was "going out with the boys—"

BECAME UNHAPPY

Then terror came to Amy. What, what had happened? Was someone, something stealing her darling away? Watching him across the table in the evenings her eyes brimmed with tears. Once, Bob had kissed away every tear. Now—he scowled . . . or grabbed his hat and flung out of the door! Then came panic—

A new story? A strange one? No. One of the oldest stories on earth, with the simplest answer.

"Dearest Sally:

"I have been wanting to write this letter for months and at last I've got up courage to do it. My life is in ruins and I don't know who else to turn to.

"Bob and I have been married for four years. For the first three, I was the happiest woman in the world. We were everything to each other. Then things began to change between Bob and me. He began to go out now and then 'with the boys.'

"We only had one baby then. I thought maybe if I had another baby he might change and be his old self again. And now I am expecting to become a mother again in just a month.

PLANNING TO LEAVE

"I can't understand what has happened. I try to keep our little home and little Bobby and myself as clean and attractive as possible. But Bob just continues to go out evenings . . . or not to come home for dinner at all . . . or even phone.

"I am so heartbroken and lonely! Bob is a good provider. He doesn't drink. He isn't abusive to me. But he has told me that I bore him. Every evening I sit home and cry. When he doesn't come or phone I can't even eat. It's terrible.

"I know there is no other woman. It just seems that Bob is tired of married life but figures that so long as he supports me he is doing his duty. I love him dearly and I can't stand to be hurt any longer. I am planning to take baby with me and go to live with my mother before the new baby comes. I think Bob will be happier with his freedom. Please help me. I need it so. What is wrong? Why is he bored? Are men just like that?

AMY."

Poor little girl. Poor silly little girl. What else did you expect?

Suppose you took a plant—a beautiful, healthy young plant—and shut it away from sunshine and fresh air and water in a small dark box, what would happen?

"It would wither and die," you say. Of course it would. And that is what is happening to love. Your life isn't wrecked . . . you haven't lost Bob. But you have almost smothered love to death in the tiny dark box of selfishness.

Love can't be shut away from life, child. You can't hold love by locking the door, cuddling together in the lamplight, talking about your lemonade set. Nor is it enough to keep yourself dainty and the house orderly . . . to cook wholesome meals. It is not even enough to have delightful babies. Love—especially a man's love—needs interest and adventure as the plant needs sunshine and air.

WORLD SHUT OUT

Once you were an adventurer with Bob and shared his interests. You went places together: football games, hikes, picnics. Once you played around with other people. Once you planned to do things, new, dangerous, difficult things. Then—you married and shut all that out. And now Bob is bored. Why shouldn't he be?

What does Bob find when he comes home at night out of the swift, challenging world in which he works . . . away from his colorful, stimulating associates? He finds a dear, stupid little woman who doesn't know what life is all about, who hasn't had a new idea in four years, who can't talk about a thing on earth that interests him, who can only sit and tremble and cry.

Why shouldn't he walk out? He'd be a super-man if he didn't!

Shake out of it, honey. Get wise again! Find some new interest that will put the lure and sparkle back into life. How far would you get in the Business World if you tackled your job as you have your marriage? You wouldn't get to first base! Then remember that marriage is your Business World and get busy.

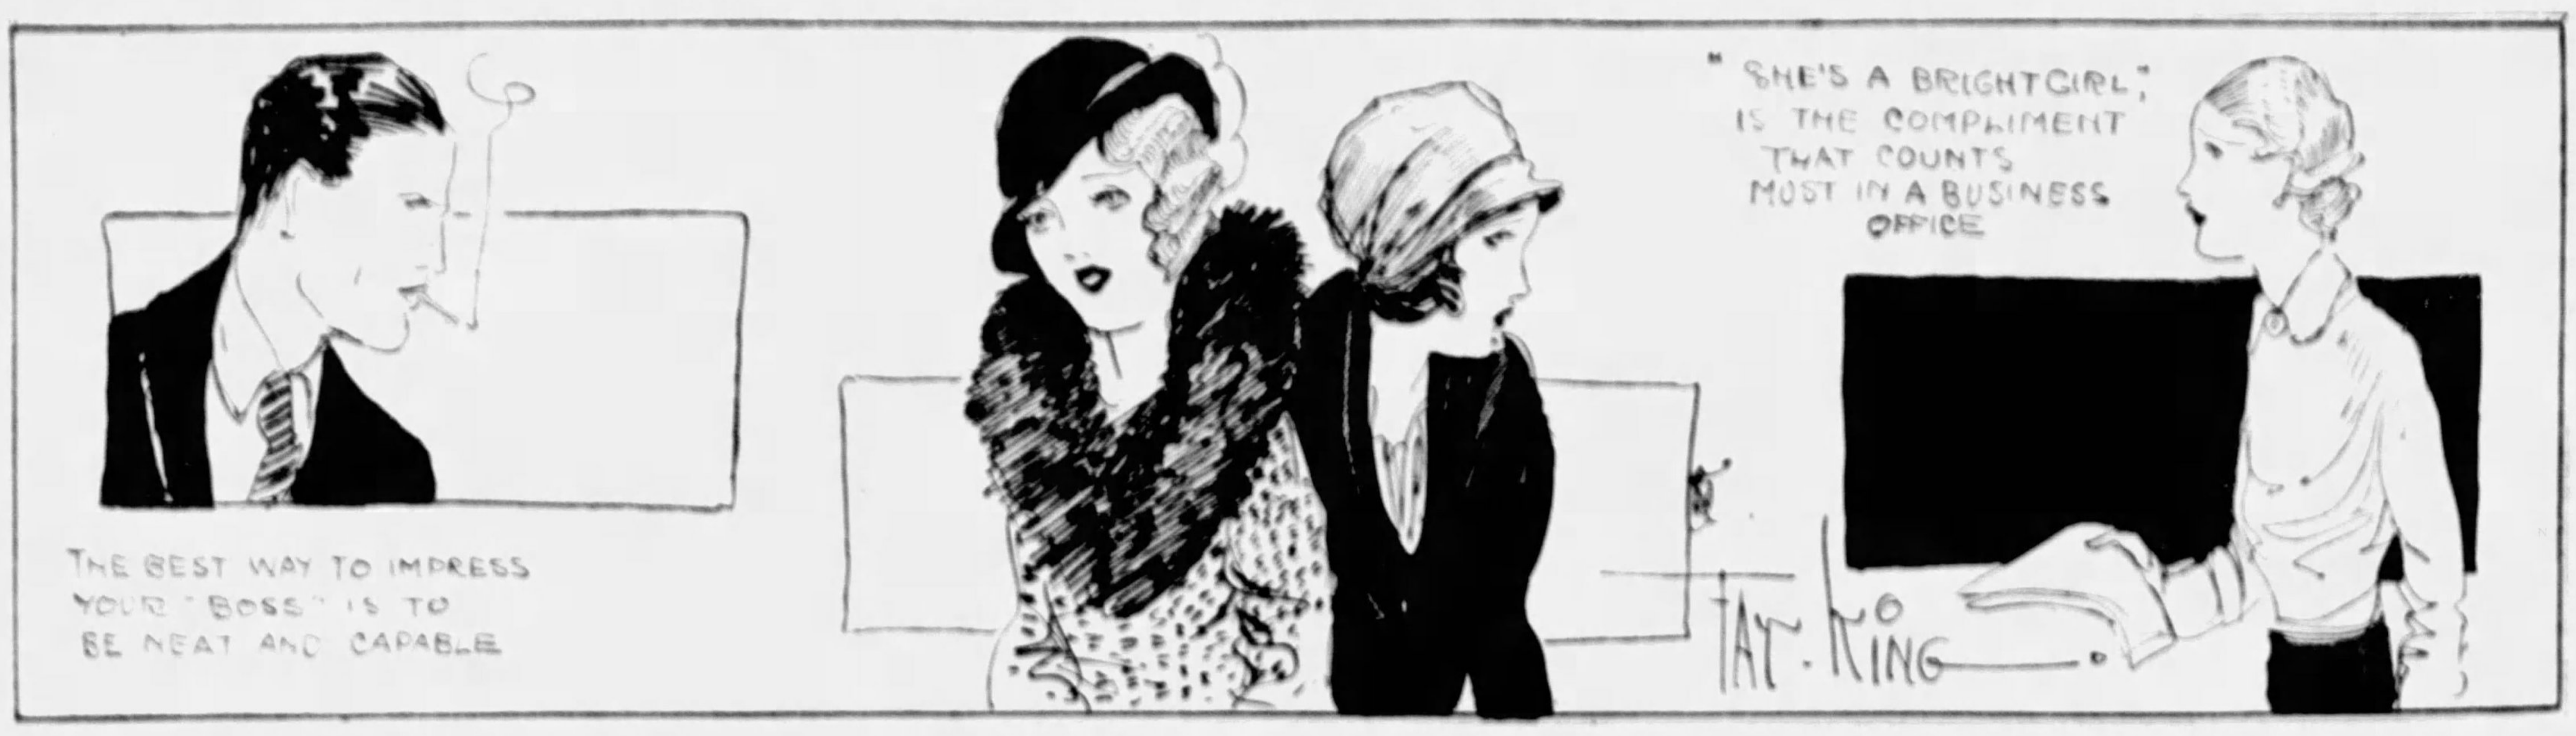
Beauty and Style Can't Replace Ability in Business, Fay King Warns Girls



THE BEST WAY TO IMPRESS YOUR "BOSS" IS TO BE NEAT AND CAPABLE
"SHE'S A BRIGHT GIRL," IS THE COMPLIMENT THAT COUNTS MOST IN A BUSINESS OFFICE
FAY KING

By FAY KING

Years ago, when women first went into business offices they dressed exceedingly plain.

One hardly noticed them at first in their dark tailored suits, among the men working there.

Now it has gone to the other extreme. Business girls wear the brightest colors, the sheerest hose, the smartest shoes. They are immaculately marcelled, and, looking into office windows, you see them stop to apply the rouge, the lipstick and powder noses, before the boss and everybody!

Of course, there is no real harm in this, but girls must remember that beauty and style can never replace ability in business.

Be neat and bright and capable in your work and you need never fear competition from better lookers and better dressers.

Business before beauty!

Madge Completes Final Inspection of Newly Fitted Room

There was terrified dismay in the voices of both Junior and Roderick as in answer to my suggestion that they go to bed as a punishment they wailed that Hank and Bill were coming home before dinner, and I did not prolong the agony. They had been punished enough, I decided, in their fright at the thoughts of missing the homecoming of the older boys whom they idolize and of having Hank and Bill know why they were absent.

"Yes, that's true," I said thoughtfully, "and I do not think you have been bad enough to merit a punishment like that."

Their sighs of relief came from the soles of their shoes.

"But I do want you to realize just how boyish you both were," I said. "I have been thinking that you were old enough to have a room like this or to take this one when the older boys go back to school. But your actions just now made me wonder if you were out of the baby class yourselves. I want you to go now and get washed and dressed for dinner. The boys will be here soon, and then I want you to sit down, each in a different room, and think over things. I'll come after you in half an hour. If you hear the motor drive in before that you have my permission to get off punishment immediately and run downstairs to meet the boys. You may go now."

They stood up awkwardly and passed me hesitantly. Then they turned, as if with one impulse and flung their arms around me in a spasmodic hug.

"Gee! Mums! Aw! Aunt Madge!" and they were gone. I stood looking after them for a minute wondering as mothers inevitably do, how much of the lesson would sink in and then turned my attention to the room in which I stood, and which had so excited the envy of my small son and his cousin.

I gave a satisfied little nod as I looked at it, and argued that Hank and Bill would be hard indeed to please if they did not like it. Roomy, with a big old-fashioned bay window across one side, I had called upon Mr. Ticer and had a broad window seat built underneath the window with lids opening into dustproof compartments beneath, where the boys could keep the thousand and one things which I knew they owned and to which they were steadily adding. Deep soft cushions exactly fitting the window seat were covered with a serviceable fabric guaranteed to stand the lounging of boys without warning them to keep their shoes away from it. But it held enough of reddish orange in its otherwise neutral coloring to harmonize with the window draperies and glass curtains over which I had spent hours of study and consultation with Lillian, Dicky and Harry.

And now, as I looked at the thin mesh glass curtains of old gold, I noticed the blending of the same color into the warm browns flecked with orange of the heavy silken valance and side draperies of the windows, saw the same reflected in the figured but not floral wallpaper, the serviceable but good-looking rug and the Chinese screen which was drawn across the corner occupied by their stationary wash bowl and towel rack. I smilingly remembered Harry Underwood's words when he had inspected the finished room with Lillian, Dicky and me.

"If those young pups don't like this," he said, "I'll take 'em out and drown 'em myself."

"But they will like it," I had replied, and I mentally echoed my assertion, as I continued my survey of the room.

The question of beds had been a puzzling one, for I knew that white or delicately tinted spreads and pillow cases would be impractical—rather impossible with the boys and their friends lounging upon the beds as boys will do unless their mothers are more housekeepers than homekeepers. So I purchased two school cot beds of the type which are used in almost every preparatory school and college in the country, had extra thick mattresses made for them, made up the beds with white sheets, blankets and pillow slips, and then covered each with a fitted cover reaching to the floor on all sides, and made of the same serviceable material which covered the window seat. A table, fitted bookshelves in the corners, two easy chairs and two straight ones, two reading lamps, and many serviceable cushions in orange and brown on window seat and bed completed the furnishings. The walls I purposely had left bare save for two English sporting prints which had hung in the upper hall and which both boys had admired. I had provided new frames for these and had hung them in good positions.

"Oh! Missis Graham!" Katie's breathless voice sounded outside the door. "You say to tell you ven eet 4 o'clock so you could get dose yellow flowers, but eet too hot for you in garden, so I bring dem."

Her arms were filled with yellow coreopsis, gaillardia, in its wonderful tawny tintings, and splendid orange lilies, and the pleasure which is always mine in seeing flowers was heightened by the realization of my little maid's tender thoughtfulness for me.

"How wonderful of you, Katie!" I exclaimed. "I was just going down after them, for I am afraid I won't get them arranged before the boys get here."

The blast of a motor horn punctuated my sentences, and Katie and I stared at each other in dismay. The boys had arrived!

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Don't Slight Mastoiditis Condition

Dr. Copeland

Within the past few months a remarkable number of mastoid operations have been reported. The prevalence of this condition is not alarming, as mastoid disease has always been more or less common.

In the old days the simplest sort of mastoid operation caused much uneasiness and worry. There is no doubt that many young lives were lost because of hesitancy on the part of parents. As a life-saving measure, there are few surgical measures that surpass the mastoid operation.

A suddenly acquired inflammation of the mastoid is spoken of as "acute mastoiditis." The signs are usually very plain and there is no difficulty in recognizing the nature of the trouble.

As a rule the trouble has been preceded by earache. Usually this occurs five or six days before the mastoid disease develops. There may be fever, as well as pain, and this is followed by a discharge from the ear.

If the patient is examined carefully, a swelling is noticed behind the ear. This sign is characteristic of acute mastoiditis. The tissues may be red and swollen, pressing upon it and forcing the ear downward and outward.

It is difficult to find out from young children whether they have pain or not. They may not complain of it. Upon pressure at a certain spot behind the ear, the extreme tenderness is made known at once. This test, however, should not be depended upon by anybody but a physician.

Continued high fever, profuse discharge from the ear or sudden stoppage of a discharge which has been present, pain, loss of appetite and restlessness, are signs which should not be overlooked. When any child has these symptoms, a physician should be called at once.

Acute mastoiditis is most common in children, but is met in adults. The symptoms are the same.

When the signs are less pronounced it is well to delay the operation for a short time. However, this is a question which the surgeon will answer.

I do not wish to imply that the operation is not a serious one. But mastoid disease, if neglected, is far more serious than any operation could possibly be.

The operation has been so perfected that it is done with the minimum of risk to the patient. If it is postponed the ultimate condition will cause your child to suffer longer. Also it may require a more extensive and serious operation than if it is attended to at once.

Household Hints

Never make tea with water that has been standing in the tea kettle.

A piece of oilcloth on the bottom of the tin bread box will prevent it from rusting.

There are always a few minutes during the cooking of the meal that can be used in washing the dishes or pots and pans used in the preparation. Then one is not ashamed of having one's guest come right out in the kitchen and one is not hampered in serving by a number of unnecessary articles being in the way.

To measure molasses quickly dip the measuring cup into scalding water and the molasses will run out quickly.

Eggs, if cracked, should be boiled in water to which a few drops of vinegar and a little salt have been added. Treat thin-shelled eggs in the same way.

Rubber rollers on wringing machines that have become greasy and dirty are easily cleaned by rubbing with a rag dipped in paraffin or turpentine. Wash in warm, soapy water, rinse and dry thoroughly.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

For the Debutante

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1. What kind of present does one give a debutante, if any? I was always under the impression that flowers are the only correct gift.

2. Does one ever send a greeting card to a debutante?

R. C.

1. Flowers are the gift usually sent to a debutante, sent on the day of the debut, so that they may be used as the decorative background on that important occasion.

Of course loving members of the family, close relatives, or very close friends, often send her more substantial gifts as memorials of the occasion, and of course this is correct to do if they wish.

2. Yes, but not for the debut.

When to Use Paper Plates

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Would it be all right to use paper plates and glasses for refreshments at an afternoon wedding at home? My sister thinks this would be quite all right, but I am doubtful.

A. B.

This would not be in good form. Paper plates are for picnics, very informal use, and not for this kind of occasion, which is a very important one and should be especially well planned, as to all kinds of accessories.

Visiting at the Hospital

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

We have had quite a discussion about the following: Is it correct for a married or single man to call on a married or single lady while she is in the hospital?

We will appreciate any possible information on the subject using married or single subjects, or both.

MRS. P.

Yes, this is a thoroughly correct and human thing to do, but, of course, the man would first ask permission to come to the hospital. Then when he arrives, he should be announced to the nurse, and the nurse announce him to the patient. And he stays a very short time. All very formal, and very thoughtful, and very kind.

Shades of Stationery

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1. An argument arose in our household as to what is good taste in stationery. I said any other than white is improper. Am I wrong?

2. Should one wear beach pajamas to a lake pavilion dance? I am in my teens.

H. J.

1. White or a light shade of gray or blue, or an interesting dark shade of blue if it is a really good paper.

2. No.

The Beauty Box

By HELEN FOLLETT

Pads of cotton dipped in ice-cold witchhazel placed over the eyes at night will discourage pouches of loose tissues that form beneath soul orbs. In the morning bathe with cold water.

This is the season when skin on hands and face goes suddenly dry. Needs consolation from the cold cream jar. Good idea to sweep away surface dust and makeup from the complexion by means of a cleansing oil. Then get busy with pure soap, warm water and a complexion brush. After, heavy emollient. Let remain on over night. In the morning there will be freshness.

When the complexion shows flakiness it indicates that a mild state of dermatitis is present. Best then to avoid lotions containing alcohol and to use creams that are more or less absorbent.

For wrinkles across the forehead or rather to be rid of them, anoint with a heavy cream and treat with a vigorous rotary motion of the finger tips. Follow by rubbing crosswise with flattened finger, as one would iron out a crease in fabric. The ice rub atop the cream is effective, but that doesn't mean that ice shouldn't also be used after the emollient has been removed.

RECIPES BY PRUDENCE PENNY

mold carefully and surround with creamed peas. Serves four.

BAKED LIMA BEANS WITH HAM—One slice ham, three-fourths inch thick, 1 cup dry lima beans, ¼ cup chili sauce, 1 teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon pepper.

Soak beans overnight in cold water. Drain, cooking in boiling salt water for 30 minutes. Drain, place in greased baking dish, cover with slice of ham. Pour the chili sauce over the ham and cover with water in which beans were cooked.

BUTTERSCOTCH BISCUITS—Two cups flour, 4 teaspoons baking powder, ¼ teaspoon salt, 4 tablespoons fat, 2-3 cup milk.

Mix flour, baking powder and salt. Cut in fat and add milk when soft dough forms, pat out until 1-3 inch thick. Spread with brown sugar mixture.

BROWN SUGAR MIXTURE—One-half cup dark brown sugar, 4 tablespoons soft butter, ½ teaspoon cinnamon.

Mix ingredients and spread on soft dough. Roll up like jelly roll. Cut off ⅓ inch slices. Arrange flat side up in greased pan. Bake 12 minutes in moderate oven. Serve warm with butter.

RELISH SALAD DRESSING—One-half cup mayonnaise, 2 tablespoons chili sauce, 2 tablespoons catsup, 2 tablespoons chopped pickles, 2 tablespoons horseradish, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon paprika, 2 tablespoons lemon juice.

Mix ingredients. Chill and serve.

ORANGE NUT BREAD FOR SANDWICHES—Two cups sifted flour, 4 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ cup sugar, ¼ cup shortening, ½ cup finely chopped nuts, 1 egg, orange juice, 1 tablespoon orange marmalade.

Sift dry ingredients together. Cut in shortening. Add nuts. Beat egg, pour into measuring cup; add enough orange juice to make 2-3 cup. Combine with dry ingredients and add marmalade. Knead a few seconds on slightly-floured board. Let stand in refrigerator or cool place ½ hour. Then bake in loaf pan in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) till done, about 45 minutes.

CREAM OF VEGETABLE SOUP—Two tablespoons finely chopped turnip, 2 tablespoons finely chopped carrots, 2 tablespoons finely chopped onion, 2 tablespoons finely chopped celery, 2 tablespoons melted butter, 1 tablespoon flour, 1 quart of milk, 1¾ teaspoons salt.

Cook the finely chopped vegetables in the fat for 10 minutes, add the flour, and stir until all are well blended. In the meantime heat the milk in a double boiler, add a little of it to the vegetable mixture, stir well, combine with the rest of the milk, add the salt, and cook for 10 minutes. The flavor is improved if the soup is allowed to stand for a short time to blend before serving. Reheat and serve.

SAVORY SAUERKRAUT—One quart of sauerkraut, ¼ teaspoon celery or caraway seed, ¼ cup butter.

Heat the butter in a skillet until golden brown, and add the kraut and the seasoning. Mix well using a fork to separate the kraut. Cover and cook for five minutes. Serve hot.

HARVARD BEETS—Six medium sized beets, ½ cup sugar, 1 tablespoon cornstarch, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ cup vinegar, 2 tablespoons butter.

Wash the beets, cook them in boiling water until tender, remove the skins and cut the beets into thin slices or cubes. Mix the sugar, cornstarch, and salt, add the vinegar, let the sauce boil for 5 minutes, stirring constantly. Add the fat, pour the sauce over the beets, and let stand for a few minutes to absorb the sweet-sour flavor of the sauce.

HAMBURG CUPS—Six medium sized potatoes, 1 egg, ½ lb. hamburg steak, onions, tomato sauce, asparagus, toast, seasoning.

Mash cooked potatoes, season to taste, and add ½ beaten egg, the mixture should be rather stiff. With buttered hands make into balls the size of an egg or a bit larger. Lay these in a buttered shallow tin quite far apart, and press into the bottom of each a small buttered cup, thus making a cup shape. Brush each over with the remainder of the egg, a little water may be added, and set in a hot oven until browned, keep hot. While the cups are browning, put cooked hamburg steak through the food chopper, and then add enough highly seasoned tomato sauce to moisten well. Bring this to the boiling point and with it nearly fill the potato cups, laying on top of each 2 or 3 small cooked and buttered onions. Serve on a hot platter with hot buttered asparagus on toast at each end.

VEAL PIE—One and one-half pounds veal, 4 tablespoons butter, 4 tablespoons flour, salt and pepper, celery salt, cayenne, onions, carrots, ½ cup peas, 1 cup cubed potatoes, rich biscuit dough.

Veal from the smaller part of the leg may be used. Just cover it with boiling water, add salt, allowing 1¼ teaspoons, and simmer until very tender. Or left-over veal may be used. Cut the meat into small pieces, suitable for serving, and lay in casserole, about half filling the dish. Remove fat from the broth, strain through cheesecloth, bring to boiling point and to a pint add butter and flour melted together, stirring in celery sale and a bit of cayenne; add a teaspoon of curry; this latter condiment greatly improves the dish for some tastes, however, it may be omitted. Beat the sauce with an egg beater to insure smoothness. Add to the veal very small cooked onions and carrots in any amount desired, and then add peas and potatoes. Mix vegetables lightly with the meat and pour the hot sauce over all. Place over the top, nearly touching, small rounds of rich baking powder biscuit dough, and set dish in a hot oven until biscuits are cooked and a rich brown. Brush the tops with butter and serve. If desired fresh pork may be substituted for veal, or left-over lamb or beef may be used.

STEAK AND KIDNEY PIE—Cut 2 pounds of round steak into thin strips, season with salt and pepper and dredge with flour. Arrange the strips in a deep dish with 2 lamb's kidneys parboiled and sliced, 1 dozen oysters, 1 chopped onion, 1 bay-leaf, 1 tablespoon minced parsley and a sprig of thyme. Dot with butter and pour over 1 cup of stock or hot water. Cover with a layer of flaky pastry, gash in several places, brush with the beaten yolk of an egg and bake for two hours in a moderate oven.

OLD LOOP LOSES LAST SEVEN OPENERS

REGARDLESS OF WHAT they may do or fail to do during the remainder of the world series, the Cardinals have run true to National League form in dropping the opening game of the 1931 title set. That makes seven consecutive years in which the American Leaguers have won the hop-off. It might be remarked that they've won nearly all the other games, too, for that matter, but they've been particularly successful in getting the jump by grabbing the opener.

Art Nehf

Art Nehf, former Giant southpaw, was the last Heydler pitcher to cop a derby curtain-raiser. He won a 4-to-3 decision over Walter Johnson and the Senators in 1924 in a battle that went 12 innings. Johnson and the Senators beat Lee Meadows and the Pirates, 4 to 1, in the lid-lifter of 1925. Herb Pennock and the Yankees beat Bill Sherdel and the Cards, 2 to 1, in 1926. Waite Hoyt and the Yanks beat Remy Kremer and the Bucs, 5 to 4, in 1927. Hoyt and the Yanks beat Sherdel and the Cards, 4 to 1, in 1928. Howard Ehmke and the A's beat Charley Root and the Cubs, 3 to 1, in 1929, and Lefty Grove and the A's beat Burleigh Grimes and the Cards, 5 to 2, in 1930.

GABBY STREET has come in for the usual criticism by the second guessers for his action in entrusting the important first game to a freshman pitcher. Where Paul Derringer failed Burleigh Grimes or Bill Hallahan might have won, it is asserted.

Fred Clarke took a similar chance with another first-year hurler in 1909, and it was voted a stroke of managerial genius when Babe Adams won three games and the series. It all depends on results. If Derringer had won, sending the rookie to the firing line would have been voted a clever move on the part of Street.

AS A MATTER of fact there was plenty to justify the selection of the Cardinal manager. At the time the series opened Derringer looked like as good a slab bet as any that the Redbirds owned. But Street had only one guess whereas the outsiders have two.

Reputations may have had a bearing on the outcome. If a hitter of whom Derringer had not been warned had come up in the third inning with second and third bases occupied [illegible] two out, Paul might have disposed of him without trouble. P[illegible] had been dinned into his ears about Cochrane and Sim[illegible] that in his attempt to work on them with extra care he overdid the cautious stuff and a couple of walks resulted, Foxx's single doing the rest.

THE CHANCES OF the Cards may be helped later in the series by the fact that they made 12 hits off Lefty Grove. It may give them the feeling that he is not unhittable, even though they couldn't do much with him in bunching their safeties. That's the first time any club has nicked Grove for as many as 12 hits since July 13, when the Senators reached him for 13. Only three other times during the regular season were 12 blows registered against the star southpaw, the White Sox doing it on May 16 and June 19, and the Tigers on June 27. The Cards won't be held to two runs every day if they keep up that kind of hitting.

Art Shires

WHEN THE REDS kept Art Shires in the minors by drafting Clyde Manion from the Milwaukee club, the law being that only one player may be drafted from each team in Class AA or Class A leagues, they made it clear that they are going to stand pat on Mickey Heath or Harvey Hendrick for first base, preferring to strengthen the catching department.

A pair of spectacles brought Manion back to the major leagues. He failed to make the grade with the Tigers or Browns because he couldn't hit. When he was dropped to Milwaukee he traced that hitting failure to defective vision, had his eyes fitted with glasses, and regained his hitting power at once after the manner of Chick Hafey.

DAVE BARBEE, THE slugging outfielder drafted by the Pirates from Hollywood, is a product of the school that meets Duquesne in football here tonight, Oglethorpe University, of Atlanta, Ga. He went from college to Greensboro in the Piedmont League to begin his career.

The latest Coast League averages showed Barbee hitting .332 in 156 games, besides leading the circuit in home runs. His 199 hits in 602 times at bat included 46 homers, three triples and 34 doubles, for a total of 377 bases. He also scored 121 runs. The new Pirate is 25 years old, 5 feet 11½ inches in height and weighs 180 pounds.

OF BARBEE'S 46 HOME runs, 34 were made on his club's home grounds, Wrigley Field, in Los Angeles. Of the 12 others, four were made in Portland, three in Seattle, three in Oakland, one in Sacramento and one in San Francisco. Few drives clear San Francisco's leftfield fence, which is 365 feet from the plate. Twelve of his homers were made against Los Angeles, eight against Seattle, seven against Oakland, seven against Sacramento, five against Portland, four against San Francisco and three against the Missions. Twice Barbee hit three four-basers in one day against Sacramento, first on June 7 and again on August 27. On June 26 he hit two against Los Angeles and on July 19 he made two against Seattle. All the others came singly.

THE EARLY EVIDENCE of strength displayed by the Dukes, with the improvement in smoothness they showed in their second appearance, gives their followers ground for the confidence that they will come through to a victory over Oglethorpe in the second floodlight game of the local football season at Forbes Field tonight.

But the Georgians promise to make things interesting all the way. They are said to be even stronger this year than in 1930, when they defeated Manhattan, Dayton, Loyola, of New Orleans, and Furman, played a scoreless tie with Wittenberg, and held Harry Stuhldreher's Villanova team to a score of 13 to 6.

ANOTHER BOUT IN the series aimed to put a new champion on the middleweight throne vacated by Mickey Walker is billed for tonight in New York, with Dave Shade meeting Ben Jeby in a return match. A few weeks ago they went 10 rounds to a draw.

This time the distance is to be 12 frames, and Jeby figures that the extra stanzas will enable him to win on the stamina that goes with youth. But though Shade, a veteran of 250 fights in which he never was knocked out, may have seen his best days, overcoming his boxing ability and ring cunning will be no easy matter for his younger foeman.

Dave Shade

THE REBOOKING OF Shade and Jeby by the Madison Square Garden people shows the difficulties that matchmakers encounter. Tom McArdle first tried to pair Ray Miller and Billy Petrolle for this date, but Petrolle ducked, offering sinus trouble as the reason. Then, when McArdle got Sammy Fuller to meet Miller, something went wrong with Ray. A match between Vince Dundee and Young Terry, who defeated Jackie Fields, was the next attempt, but Terry announced he had decided to take a rest for a few weeks. Charley Retzlaff was offered a bout, but pleaded bad hands, and when efforts to match Victorio Campolo and Stanley Poreda also failed, the Garden had to fall back on Shade and Jeby. A matchmaker's job is anything but a soft one.

By HARRY KECK

Sports Editor

Dear old Oglethorpe, of Atlanta, Ga., suh, comes to grips with Duquesne University under the floodlights at Forbes Field tonight. Kickoff will be at 8:15 o'clock. When we mention the kickoff you know automatically that it is a football game although they do say the Cardinals kicked off a game to the Athletics yesterday after getting a two-run jump on Lefty Grove.

Naturally, the Dukes expect to win tonight. They took Geneva College in their opener at Forbes Field a couple of weeks ago and then dropped that close one with West Virginia at Morgantown last Saturday. Nothing less than a victory over Coach Harry Robertson's Stormy Petrel Oglethorpians will satisfy the Dukian appetite on the current occasion.

It seems that the Dukes will be at their strongest, with Paul Abele back at end after missing the Mountaineer tussle. The Atlantans also are said to be at their best. They arrived in town early last night and worked out under the lights at the scene of combat and retired feeling fairly confident of the outcome. Putting the two viewpoints together, you have a group picture of what two baseball managers are thinking about on the eve of the world series.

TECH SET FOR W. & J.

The visitors are bivouacked at Webster Hall, hard by the field. Night football is no novelty to them any more than it is to the Dukes, who inaugurated the nocturnal sport in the Pittsburgh district.

With the Dukes getting their week-end tussle out of the way tonight, the fans have before them also Carnegie Tech's first home setto, against an old rival, W. & J., at the Stadium tomorrow afternoon. With the Tartans failing to show much in their first start of the year, against the University of Buffalo, at Buffalo, last Saturday, and the Wash-Jeffs touted as stronger than they have been in recent seasons, an interesting

EXPLANATION OF RIPLEY'S CARTOON OF YESTERDAY: THE EXPRESSION QUIZ IS THE RESULT OF A WAGER—"Quiz" and all its derivatives originated in a joke. Richard Daly, a famous Irish character of Dublin, Ireland, and an inveterate bettor, wagered that he would within 24 hours introduce a meaningless new word into the English language. The four letters Q U I Z then were chalked and posted on every wall in Dublin and Daly won his bet.

CHANEY, ZIVIC AT GARDEN

Young Chaney, formerly of Philadelphia and Chicago, now of Pittsburgh, will box Johnny Warner, of Clairton, in the opening bout of the second show of the season at Motor Square Garden next Monday night.

Lew Paluso, of Salt Lake City, and Frankie Bojarski, of Erie, box the main bout.

Fritzie Zivic, local amateur star, brother of Jack and Pete Zivic, will make his professional debut against an opponent to be selected in the second bout.

Between Rounds

Tommy Crawley, local lightweight, boxes Ray Miller, Chicago left hook star, in a 10-round bout at Yonkers, N. Y., October 13.

Promoter Jim McGirr, of McKeesport, today closed a corking bout for his windup next Thursday night. It brings Pinky Silverberg, of New York, here to box Jimmy Thomas, local Negro bantamweight. Silverberg has met Midget Wolgast, Al Brown and Kid Chocolate, all champions, along with Archie Bell, Johnny Erickson, Black Bill, Willie LaMorte and other stars.

ANDRUCCI VICTOR

FAIRMONT, W. Va., Oct. 2—(AP.)—Andy Andrucci, 133 pounds, of Pittsburgh, was awarded a judges' decision over Jimmy Reilly, 134, of McKeesport, Pa., in the main 10-round bout here last night.

MRS. CAMPBELL SETS PACE

CAMBRIDGE SPRINGS, Pa., Oct. 2.—Pittsburgh women golfers were setting the pace as the final round of the 36-hole medal handicap tournament began here this morning. Mrs. F. E. Campbell, of the Stanton Heights Golf Club, was leading the field of 93 players with a card of 87, while Mrs. C. I. Wendt, of the Pittsburgh Field Club, was next in line with an 89. Others among the leaders were: Mary Kuhn, Field Club, 90; Gertrude Lucas, Wanango, Oil City, 90; Mrs. J. A. Ellen, Field Club, 92; Mrs. Alan Dayton, Oakmont, 92, and Mrs. Gail Hamilton, Conewango, 92.

Fights Tonight

Ben Jeby vs. Dave Shade, 12 rounds, and Lou Feldman vs. Joey Costa, 10 rounds, Madison Square Garden, New York.

Jimmy Smith vs. Gene Buffalo, 10 rounds, and Elmer Bezenah vs. Joe McHale, 8 rounds, Philadelphia.

Bob Moody vs. Gene Stanton and Ross Fields vs. Franklin Young, 10 rounds each, Cleveland.

Jack Wilson vs. Nick Venore and Harry Sankey vs. Joe Mulligan, 10 rounds each, Armory, New York.

CO-ORDINATION BROUGHT WIN, CONNIE SAYS

By CONNIE MACK

Manager of Philadelphia Athletics, winners of five world series.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 2.—When we lost the last game of the season in New York on Sunday and followed that by losing the charity game to the Phillies last Monday, nearly everybody in Philadelphia called us broken reeds and predicted we would be soft picking for the Cardinals in this world series.

Connie Mack

I knew different, for, after we clinched the American League pennant, I told my players not to take any chances for fear they might be disabled and lost to us in the world series.

I knew that once the series started, I would have a hustling, swash-buckling crew out on the field.

The Athletics certainly looked good and delivered in every pinch yesterday. They batted timely and fielded excellently. They all co-ordinated and, as a result, the Cardinals were conquered without trouble.

Robert Moses Grove, who won 31 games for me during the pennant season, never looked better. He pitched his usual topnotch game and was not disheartened when the Cardinals scored two runs in the first inning.

GROVE AT TOP NOTCH

When the Athletics tabbed four runs in the third to take the lead they never lost, Grove, who was sitting on the bench alongside of me, turned to me and said:

"This game is as good as won, for the Cardinals will never score again."

Grove was right and in the last eight innings he kept the Missourians away from the plate. He used his fast pitch and a corking curve and the Cardinals were completely baffled.

I want to compliment my players for coming from behind and winning. It is quite a feat to spot

PEABODY, FIFTH AVE. BEGIN TITLE RACE

CITY LEAGUE GRID SEASON UNDER WAY

By JULIUS LEVIT

The battle for the Section I championship of the City League gets under way in earnest this afternoon when Coach Dick Meyers' Peabody High School eleven invades Malone Field to engage Fifth Avenue High in the only league contest on the program.

Peabody, one of the favorites in the City League race, started its campaign by defeating South Hills in an intersectional battle, 13-0, while Fifth Avenue bowed in a similar contest with Carrick, 14-0.

BOTH TEAMS IN TRIM

Both schools have been working hard for this battle and the supporters of the two elevens are anticipating a close struggle from start to finish.

Three intersectional affairs listed for this afternoon involve City League teams. Allderdice, beaten by Swissvale, 6-0, meets Allegheny, beaten by Beaver Falls, 21-0, at Phipps Playgrounds; Perry starts its campaign by engaging South, which bowed to Altoona, 33-6, while Carrick engages Monongahela at Monongahela.

CHARLEROI VS. NEW CASTLE

Out-of-town contests are featured by the battle between Charleroi and New Castle at New Castle. The game is a night affair and brings together two of the most powerful elevens in the race for the Syracuse Cup. Charleroi is the favorite. Charleroi swamped Ellsworth-Cokeburg and Scott High, of North Braddock, in its first two games, while New Castle defeated Coraopolis and McKees Rocks. The game has stirred up considerable interest and a crowd of 15,000 or more is expected to turn out.

Other attractive games find Vandergrift seeking its third victory of the season at the expense of Tarentum, Braddock at Mt. Lebanon, Carnegie at Bridgeville, Rankin at Millvale, McKees Rocks at Kittanning, Swissvale at Homestead, Coraopolis at Avalon, Dormont at Bellevue, Aspinwall at Oakmont, Springdale at Arnold, Edgewood at Arnold Prep, Pitcairn at Elizabeth and Beaver at Sewickley.

Coach Jimmy Robertson's Shady Side Academy eleven opens its season with St. Mary's High at Shady Side today.

It was Kasprisan's fine work in advancing the pigskin that led Scott High, of North Braddock, to a 20-6 victory over Crafton High on the former's field last night. In an intersectional contest, Langley High battled Westinghouse High to a scoreless tie.

LEFTY GROVE'S CONTROL OFF

By MICKEY COCHRANE
Catcher Philadelphia Americans.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 2.—Off to another world series championship! That's the way the Philadelphia Athletics feel today, after taking the first game of the series from the St. Louis Cardinals here at Sportman's Park yesterday.

Lefty Grove wasn't right, yet we tripled the run-scoring ability of the National League champions. We were outhit, too. But we came through with safeties when hits meant runs, and this bears out my previous statements that when great money ball clubs are being considered, don't overlook the present team of Connie Mack's.

GROVE OFF FORM

Grove was far off his usual form in the first two innings. Lefty is what we term a spot pitcher. By that I mean he has such wonderful control that he can place a ball exactly where he wants to. Therefore, in an actual game he pitches to certain definite spots—the places the batter is supposed to have the most trouble hitting a curve, straight one or slow ball.

When Lefty started he had his fast ball, but not the customary control of it. Yet he managed to fan High, the first man up. By using this fast one, Grove put two strikes over on the first six men to face him in the hectic opening round. But when I called for a low breaking curve Lefty just couldn't get it over. I had to resort entirely to calling for the big fellow's fast one. And this was giving him trouble, too. The Cards didn't hit good balls. They were swinging—and hitting—outside pitches.

For two innings Lefty had only a fast ball that wouldn't behave. Then he got it under control and became stronger with each succeeding inning. He was hit harder than we expected by Martin and Roettger, but always came through in the late innings when the Cards had men in a scoring position.

LAUDS DERRINGER

In the fifth inning, Grove broke a small blister on his pitching hand. It annoyed, but didn't bother him. He just stood off the pain and gripped the ball as tightly as ever. This blister won't handicap him in the rest of the games. He'll be ready today. If Conie Mack thinks it imperative to call on him.

Derringer surely had plenty of stuff. Particularly in those first two innings when Grove was in hot water. Derringer has one of the best curve balls I've ever batted against. It doesn't break very much as it darts downward. It fooled us. Our nine strike-outs in seven innings prove this. But Derringer made the mistake of putting too much into the first two innings. A veteran would have conserved his strength for the late innings.

DORMONT TEAM DINED

Members of the Dormont Baseball Club were honor guests at a banquet given by club officials in honor of the newly crowned City League baseball champions, at Riverview Inn, last evening. President Harry Yerk, of the City League, presented the club with the championship trophy.

The Coach's Viewpoint

By Howard Harpster

Geneva College coach, and former all America star at Carnegie Tech.

With the warmup games out of the way, the college football teams of this section are about to begin the more difficult part of their schedules . . . To defeat a setup by 50 or 60 points is all very well, but to defeat a team in your own class by one touchdown or even by one point is quite a different story . . . A glance at the local schedules is enough to convince anyone that no easy games remain, and to give at least one of the coaches plenty of cause for meditation.

Howard Harpster

Tomorrow finds Carnegie Tech and W. & J. at the Stadium engaging in a game which promises to be a great battle and which might well have been saved for later in the season . . . One of the two teams will have its season spoiled before it gets properly under way, for both consider it vitally important to score a victory over the other if the season is to be called a success.

Bill Amos, the W. & J. coach and one of the Presidents' greatest players, pulled one of the smartest plays I ever have witnessed, in the W. & J.-Carnegie Tech game of 1926 . . . Playing the quarterback position on the defense, Amos signaled for fair catches on five consecutive punts . . . Late in the second quarter, Tech, kicking for the sixth time, punted an exceptionally high kick, and Amos, standing on his own 10-yard line, acted as if he was making another fair catch except that he didn't raise his arm for the signal . . . The whole Tech team was down under the kick, and the players, believing Amos was going to make another fair catch, momentarily forgot that he hadn't signaled . . . While the Tech players were standing there "counting their change," Amos started out around and up the right sideline . . . His interference formed quickly to cut down the few remaining Tech players who were in the way, and he didn't stop running until he had crossed the goal line, 90 yards away.

Pitt, playing Iowa for the first time, likely will have a hard game on its hands, but should win without too much difficulty . . . This year's Panther squad appears to be one of the strongest in recent seasons, but, as Dr. Sutherland recently said, "the glowing publicity will make the coach's task a hard one."

West Virginia will have its hands full when Greasy Neale's eleven takes on the strong Fordham team in New York . . . At Beaver Falls, the Geneva team meets Bucknell and likely is in for a long afternoon . . . The Covenanters still remember a 42-to-6 lacing received last year from Bucknell, a big blot on an otherwise clean record, and will be out in an attempt to keep the score from assuming such proportions.

Another game of interest will be between Waynesburg and Grove City . . . The former pulled the biggest local upset last Saturday when it defeated Penn State, 7 to 0 . . . Grove City always is represented by a powerful team, and the game should be well worth seeing.

Sun-Telegraph, Tech Hosts At Game

Boys and girls not more than 16 years old will be able to see the Carnegie Tech-Wash-Jeff game at the Stadium tomorrow for a round thin dime.

The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph has distributed thousands of tickets among the school children and one of these, accompanied by the aforementioned 10 cents, will serve as the admission fee if presented at Window No. 18 of the Stadium, near the Medical School.

A similar arrangement is to be made for later games, with the Sun-Telegraph co-operating with the Carnegie Tech and Pitt athletic officials to place college football within the reach of the pocketbooks of the youngsters.

POLO GAMES CARDED

The South Park and Robin Hood polo clubs will meet on the field at McKeown's Farm at 3 p. m. tomorrow and also Sunday. The field is located one mile off Route 88.

PITT TO CRACK IOWA'S ENDS TOMORROW

By JESS CARVER
Staff Correspondent.

DAVENPORT, Ia., Oct. 2.—If this Iowa footballteam is as weak at the ends as the reports have it, the Hawkeyes are in for a kicking around at the hands of Pitt's Panthers at Iowa City tomorrow.

The Panther party pullmaned in here early this morning from Chicago, where the boys spent yesterday practicing at Stagg Field, viewing the sights of Chicago and attending a movie. The boys had a peppery drill during the afternoon, Coach Sutherland sending his charges through a two-hour session devoted to signal drill, kicking, passing and brought to a close with a test of placement goal booting between Bulldog Reider and Jimmy MacMurdo.

The team, or rather the squad, will remain here today and tonight, drilling on a local gridiron this afternoon and hopping off about noon tomorrow for Iowa City.

TOUGH FOR IOWA

Iowa has found the going very rough indeed this fall. First, 10 lettermen were lost from last year's squad, and then the star of the forward wall, Marcus Magnussen, ace center, broke a leg in practice and will be lost to the team for the season.

Even with Magnussen out, the situation would not be so tough if Coach Burt Ingwersen had some capable ends. The Warner system plays havoc with teams owning weak ends, and it begins to look as though that was Iowa's chief ailment. So far, Ingwersen has been experimenting with no less than 14 wing candidates, and has narrowed the field down to a quartet, Francis Merten, Ray Fisher, Harry Swaney and Ray Storey.

Storey and Fisher figure to start against Pitt tomorrow, but both lack two most essential qualifications, experience and weight. Pitt is planning to capitalize on this weakness, don't think it isn't.

STERLING BACKS

Offsetting this lack of terminal guardians, Ingwersen offers a set of sterling-plated backs in Jerry Kriz, the blocking halfbacker, and the hard-hitting, driving fullback, Capt. Ollie Sansen. Sansen drove through Nebraska in the final game of the season last year for a total of 162 yards, which was a bit more than any Pitt back was able to do against the Cornhuskers.

a team two runs and beat it on its own grounds.

That third inning rally when we rushed into the lead by scoring four runs was inspiring. We beat Paul Derringer, a very good pitcher, right there. Dykes, Williams, Haas, Foxx and Simmons were the heroes with the bat.

I can't stress Foxx's important single in the rally too much, for it drove home two runs and put us into the lead for the first time after we had tied the score.

AL SIMMONS SHINES

Let's make low bows to Al Simmons, who figured in both innings in which we scored. Derringer walked him to force home a run in the third, while, in the seventh inning, he sledged the ball into the leftfield bleachers, with Cochrane aboard, to clinch victory.

Simmons also made two fine catches and was a big figure in the victory. Cochrane not only caught Grove in his best fashion but was also a power with the bat.

If we win today's game, then I think the series will end in Philadelphia, where we are scheduled to play Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

ODDS FAVORING A'S MOUNT

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—(INS.)—Broadway odds today on the world series are 1 to 4 against the Athletics and 3½ to 1 against the Cardinals.

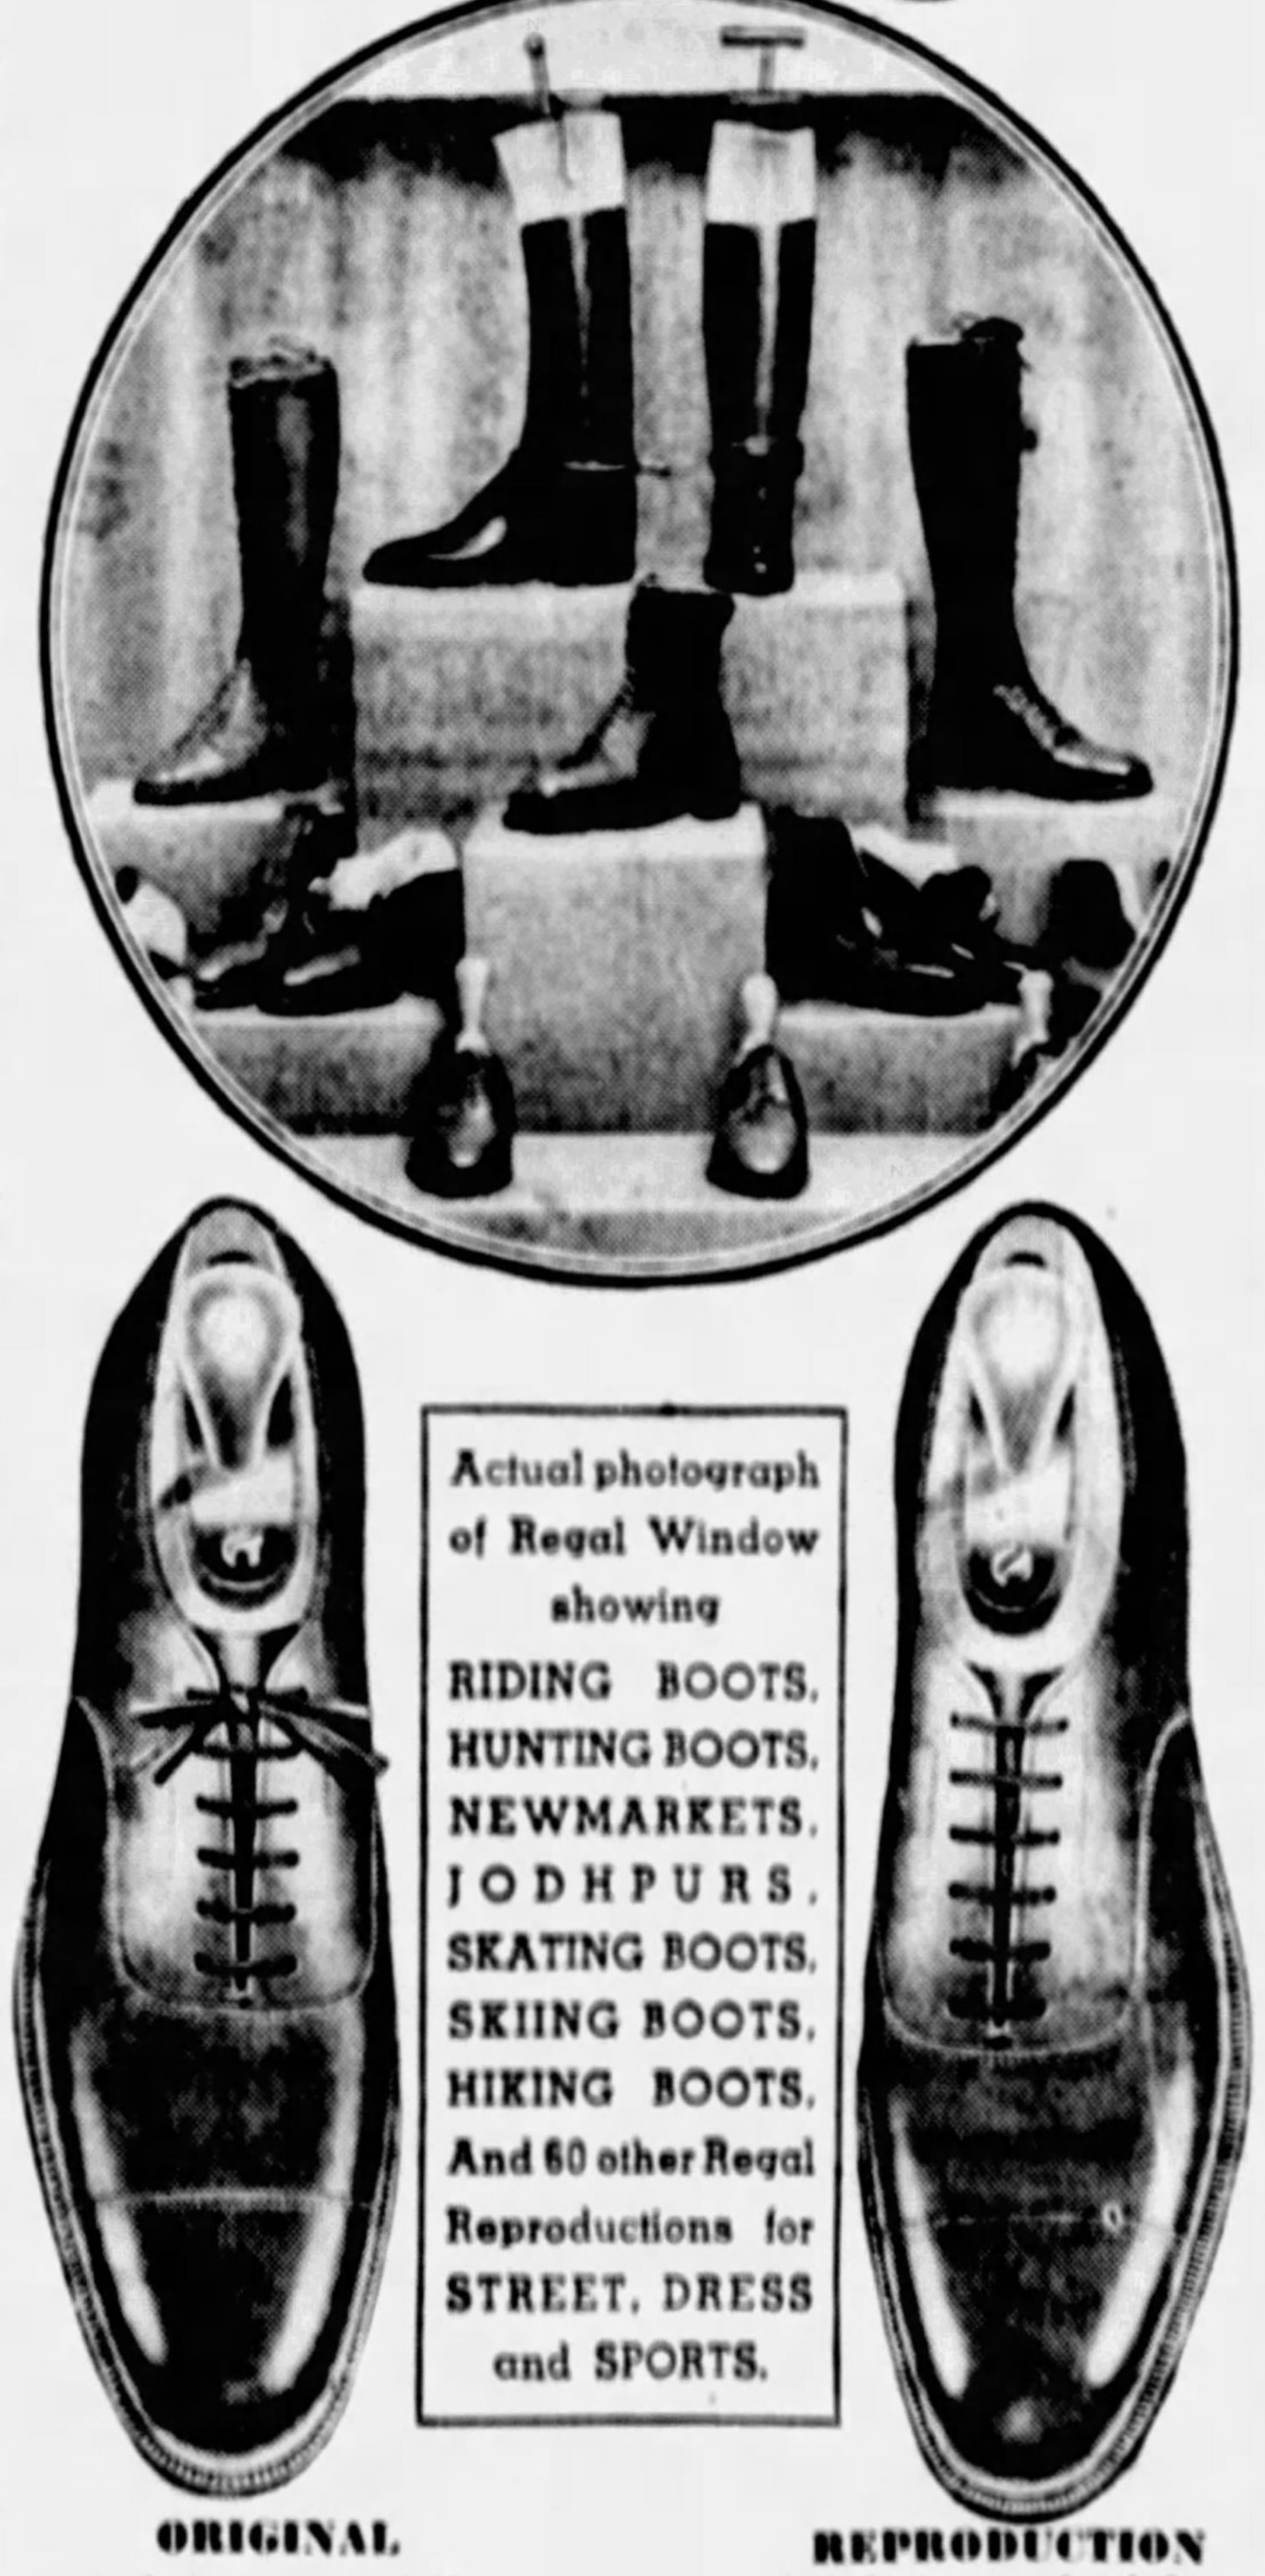
Odds on the second game were even money against the Redbirds and 4 to 5 against the Athletics.

NO HAVEST FOR SCALPERS

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 2.—(INS.)—The good old days of baseball ticket speculators evidently are gone.

A strip of three tickets for the coming world series games in Philadelphia could be had today for from $20 to $30. Their face value is $16.50.

Two years ago a fan was considered fortunate to get three of the tickets from speculators for $50.



A LINE of SHOES NEVER BEFORE SHOWN by ANYONE FOR $6.60

This year we instructed our Style Scouts before they left for London to buy any Style in any Leather at any Price made by the best Custom Bootmakers in the World and we would reproduce it for our One Price—$6.60.

We gave them a blanket order to buy the best—regardless of price—and we reproduced them all, from Riding Boots to Walking Shoes.

These famous Custom Bootmakers are using the most expensive leathers—Bordeaux Grain, the finest calfskin in the world; Willow Calf tanned in Frankfort, Germany; Holland Grain tanned in Oisterwyck, Holland; Martin's of Glasgow expensive Moor Calf—and in the Regal Reproductions we used the same expensive leathers purchased from the same tanners.

Manfield's Stitched-Tip "Town Model", made of Martin's of Glasgow Imported Moor Calf was one of the shoes selected.

This celebrated leather costs just about twice as much per foot as the leather customarily used in shoes to retail at $5 and $6. It is a heavy, plump, pliable calfskin in a rich brown shade, with a smooth finish, and will take an excellent shine. It will not split, check or crack and will wear as long as you want to wear a shoe.

Manfield's Original with the Regal Reproduction is on display today in the windows of 100 Regal Stores from coast to coast.

And in the same window you will see other Regal Reproductions with the Original models in all Leathers and Styles, designed by the most famous bootmakers in the world, for street, dress and sport wear, and they are all one price, $6.60.

STREET OPTIMISTIC

DERRINGER PRAISED BY GABBY

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 2 (AP).—"We lost because we couldn't get that third hit."

That was Manager Gabby Street's explanation for the defeat of the Cardinals in the first game of the world series. Street, usually genial and affable, was a gruff old sarge as he marched into the clubhouse with his conquered players following him single file yesterday. They trooped into the showers sullen and disappointed.

P. Derringer

"We had that game in the old bag three times, and if we had been lucky enough to get that third hit, not even Simmons' home run would have been enough to beat us," Street said.

Wild Bill Hallahan, the pug-'osed lefthander who shut out he Athletics in one game of last ear's world series, will face the 'orld champions today if Man-ger Street does not change his nind meanwhile.

"That kid Derringer pitched great ball and deserved to win," Street explained. "Nervous? Not a bit of it. He was as cool as a cucumber. I probably will shoot him right back at them. We're not licked yet. The series has just started. Bill Hallahan will be in there for us today. If he is right he can't lose."

Paul Derringer, the 25-year-old ookie, playing his first year in he major leagues, and upon hose shoulders was charged the efeat, declared the Athletics ere lucky to win.

"Why," he said, "I can't see how they won. I thought I had them handcuffed almost all afternoon. You can't tell me that a guy who looks bad on four or five pitched balls of the same type—pitched to the same spot—isn't lucky when he socks the same kind of ball into the bleachers. That's the way it was all afternoon.

"I'm not afraid of them. If Gabby starts me again, I'll lick 'em."

DUKES MEET OGLETHORPE

kirmish is anticipated, with the inner a tossup.

The Plaid finished up its hard ork last evening and will engage in only a light drill today while waiting the arrival of Advisory Coach Judge Walter P. Steffen from Chicago. This is the eighteenth meeting of the foes and the attle is the first of a string of ough ones that runs right through he remainder of Tech's card. The ocals play Georgia Tech at Atlanta, Ga., next Saturday and would like to go there with a victory over a strong opponent under their belts.

Angelo Bevevino, who showed to dvantage after twice replacing tuart Dueger at quarterback gainst Buffalo, may get the call o start at that position against he Presidents. The remainder of he lineup, with one exception, ill be the same as started against he Bulls, with Ostrosky and Lewis the ends, Fletcher and Forsman t the tackles, Kebe and Sample t the guards, Ducanis at center, apt. Armentrout and Kavel at he halves and Pouncey at full-ack. Henry Dreshar started at e of the guards against Buffalo ut was injured and Kebe will ave to bat for him tomorrow.

Announcement was made by ech that the game between its lebe team and the Wash-Jeff eshmen will be played at Taylor llderdice High School Field at :30 tomorrow morning instead f as a preliminary to the varsity ssale, as had been proposed.

NICK FIGURES CARDS AWAITED FIRE SALE

By NICK ALTROCK

Baseball's Funny Man

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 2.—Well, folks and other people, Uncle Nick is too old a rooster to start crowing now. But didn't I tell you the A's would win? Follow your Uncle Nicholas, dope, then throw away your rowboat and buy a steam yacht. I haven't been wrong since I used an oyster fork to eat pie at Mrs. Astor's coming out ball.

Nick Altrock

Derringer started off pitching like a fairy tale. But I knew he would never marry the beautiful princess as soon as the A's oiled up their bats. Still I give the boy credit for being cool in his first world series game.

A guy that can strike out Al Simmons twice must have been delivered by a penguin instead of a stork and raised in a frigidaire.

In the first inning the Cards landed on Lefty Grove like a ton of bricks but they only used confetti after that. From the second inning on Lefty was back on the gold standard again. It is true the Cards batting averages weren't damaged by Grove's smoke but I guess they were waiting for a fire sale to get any runs.

POOR OLD PEPPER

I will let Ely Culbertson and Milton Work figure out how the Cards could slam out 12 hits and only collect two runs. If J. P. Morgan squandered his assets like that, there would be a run on the bank.

Poor old Pepper Martin, who was supposed to have a very bum leg, only whammed out three hits. Pepper must have had housemaid's knee, which always disappears on a Thursday afternoon.

In the ninth Blades came up as a dangerous pinchhitter and whiffed on three pitched strokes. Still he could have done worse. He might have hit into a triple play.

Well, Uncle Nick has added up his scorebook and had it audited and the standing of the teams today is this: Athletics 1.000, Cardinals .000.

NOT BAD, NOT BAD

Considering the depression, a team that has 1.000 after its first day's work ain't doing bad. Personally, I would be willing to take 500 for each game the way things are these days.

Everybody came out of the opening game O. K., except Graham McNamee was a little hoarse. This won't affect his delivery for the second contest and Graham will be right back in his glass bullpe.. tomorrow, only then he will be pitching his voice lefthanded, what a man.

Well, with the first game out of the way, us experts have to start worrying about who will pitch the second game. Connie Mack has got to decide who to pitch for his team and from the way the A's pounded Derringer today, Gabby Street's problem is who not to pitch against them next.

ROCHESTER WINS, EVENS LITTLE SERIES

CUBS SQUARE FIGHT WITH WHITE SOX

ST. PAUL, Oct. 2.—(AP.)—Rochester hammered out a 5-to-2 victory over the American Association champions of St. Paul behind the six-hit pitching of Herman Bell yesterday to even up the junior world series at one game each.

A crowd of 6,000 saw three Saint pitchers attempt to stem the barrage of hits off the International League batters' war clubs, but the Redwings bunched their blows in one big inning—the sixth—to score four runs on as many hits and added another in the ninth for good measure.

Both teams will be idle today, the third game of four to be played here being scheduled for tomorrow. The score:

SCORING STORY OF SERIES OPENER

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 2.—The Philadelphia Athletics, with Lefty Grove going the route, defeated the St. Louis Cardinals in the opening battle of the 1931 world series here yesterday. The score was 6 to 2.

Paul Derringer, young Cardinal righthander, was chosen to oppose Grove, but was lifted in the seventh inning for a pinch-hitter.

The Cardinals scored their two runs in the first inning when they bunched four of their 12 hits. Successive singles by Roettger, Frisch and Bottomley and Martin's double paved the way for the two runs.

The A's went into the lead never to be headed in the third inning. Dykes and Williams singled. After Grove fanned and Dykes went out on Bishop's grounder to Bottomley, Haas doubled to score Williams. Walks to Cochrane and Simmons forced in Bishop with the tieing run. Haas and Cochrane scored a moment later on Foxx's single.

The last two runs were scored in the seventh on Cochrane's single and Simmons' home run.

Kiski Eleven Off For Annapolis Game

SALTSBURG, Pa., Oct. 2.—Kiski Prep School will play its first game of the 1931 season tomorrow afternoon, when it tackles the Navy Plebes at Annapolis. A squad of 23 players left this morning for Annapolis. A stopover was to be made at Western Maryland College, where short practice was to be held. The probable Kiski lineup follows:

Other members of the squad who make the trip are:

Moore, Sobak, Bukey, Phillips, Biddle, Reynolds, Yeager, Hamilton, Pincura, J. Marks, Flemming and Steward.

NET TOURNEY HALTED

The South Park tennis tournament which has been retarded by bad weather will be resumed tomorrow. Additional matches will be played Sunday.

HAWTHORNE MUTUELS

CHICAGO, Oct. 2.—(Special.)—The mutuels on the eight races at the Hawthorne race track yesterday paid a total of $292.70.

CARDS' HITTING SURPRISE TO BAMBINO

By BABE RUTH

Baseball's Highest Salaried Player

Babe Ruth

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 2.—This world series of 1931 imposes on the Cardinals the same difficulties which overwhelmed them a year ago. Taming that powerful hitting trio of Simmons, Cochrane and Foxx is one problem. Scoring many runs off Lefty Grove is the other. They failed in both departments in the opening game of the 1931 series and the American League champions again have got away to a winning start.

I thought for a few minutes in the first ining that the Cards had encountered Grove in one of his quite infrequent off days. They tore into him in that first inning as if he were a rookie of whom they had never heard. It struck me that Lefty did not have his usual amount of stuff.

GROVE RALLIES FAST

Then he rallied fast. His speed improved, his curve broke more sharply and he held the Cardinals runless until his own team had chalked up a two-run lead.

The advance dope was upset by the Cardinals in hitting 12 safe blows against the big lefthander. When he pitches again, and I hardly look for him before the fourth game because he wore the skin off the top of his index finger on his pitching hand in five innings of the first game, I believe he will be far more effective.

DERRINGER SHINES

I thought Derringer did a wonderful bit of pitching for a rookie who has had only a year of big league experience. What a pitcher that boy is going to be! Striking out nine A's in seven innings is a remarkable feat, and he got everybody on Mack's team except Cochrane and Dykes. With a little more experience he should be one of the great pitchers of baseball.

I did not think it was a particularly thrilling game, though both teams played errorless ball. That one-hand catch by Al Simmons which robbed Jimmy Wilson of a double, was the only real thriller.

I look for Earnshaw and Hallahan in the second game, and I don't look for so much hitting as we saw in the opener.

HOOVER FACES FIGHT ON NAVY SLASHES

G. O. P. Heads of Congress Committees to Seek $750,000,000 Program

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—(AP.)—Authorization by Congress of a $750,000,000 naval construction program is to be sought in December by the Republican chairmen of the last Senate and House naval committees.

This disclosure came today on the heels of Senator Borah's approval of President Hoover's move to reduce federal expenditures by slashing six destroyers off a replacement program of 11.

The plans were discussed between Senator Hale of Maine and Representative Britten of Illinois at a closed conference yesterday in the Senate Naval Committee rooms.

WILL QUIZ CHIEFS

It was decided that since Congress is charged by the Constitution with providing adequate national defense the high naval authorities should be summoned for questioning as to the needs of the Navy, particularly with reference to building up to the London treaty limits.

Despite the action of the President in seeking to keep down construction expenditures the chairmen of the two naval committees agreed to support the resolution of the American Legion favoring construction under the treaty which expires in 1936. In the verbal agreement it was planned that the construction program should terminate at the expiration of the treaty.

TENTATIVE PLANS

One stipulation was, however, that the naval general board and the ranking admirals in the Navy Department must approve the program before any definite drive would be made to secure passage of the measures at the coming session.

A tentative outline of the proposed legislation calls for the construction under the treaty of the remaining tonnage in aircraft carriers, 73,000 tons in small gun cruisers with or without flying decks and a complete replacement of the destroyer force of 150,000 tons, or about 100 destroyers within the next five years.

Nobody to Talk to, Officer Lonely as 30,000 Cars Pass

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—(INS)—For downright isolation his beat has all others in the city whipped to a frazzle, Traffic Policeman Herbert MacKinnon asserted today.

Every day he is marooned for nine hours on the ramp lanes of the viaduct at the Grand Central Building.

Loquacious himself, MacKinnon for 13 years has directed traffic on the city's most lonesome beat. More than 30,000 cars speed by him daily but never a pedestrian.

BOROUGHS CALL RELIEF MEET

The possibility of solving unemployment through emergency public improvements will be referred to the official representatives of the boroughs, townships and third class cities of Allegheny County at a mass meeting next Wednesday night at 8 o'clock at the William Penn Hotel.

It is expected more than 1,000 borough and school officials will attend. The purpose of the meeting will be to discuss the ability and willingness of the municipalities to issue bonds for emergency work through the coming winter.

The meeting has been called by [illegible] T. Miller, president of the League of Boroughs, Townships and Cities of the Third Class. It is planned to use funds provided by the Allegheny County Emergency Association to provide labor in cases where the municipalities will furnish materials and tools. Speakers will include Frank R. Phillips, F. J. Chesterman and James Francis Burke.

PASHA ESCAPES DEATH PLOT

ISTANBUL, Oct. 2.—(AP)—Police revealed that Premier Ismet Pasha escaped an attempted assassination on his departure today for Greece.

Suspicious of two men who arrived from Greece by steamer, the police arrested one of them who gave the name of Agopi, but the other locked himself in a washroom. When the door was broken it was found the fugitive was half-choked. This attempt at suicide was successful as the man died several hours later.

Agopi told police that he and his comrade, whose name was Verant, had been commissioned by the Armenian Society "Tashnak" to murder the premier in Greece. They feared the Greek police would be too watchful and so came to Istanbul, the police said.

Two Restaurants Looted by Robbers

Two restaurant robberies were reported to police today. From Schappler's restaurant, 6305 Penn avenue, thieves obtained a cigaret machine valued at $50 and $20 cash. Cigars and candy valued at $50 and $8 cash were obtained in the restaurant of M. E. Nelson, 6617 Hamilton avenue.

YULETIDE MOVIES -:- Studio Considering Stories For Santa Claus Days -:- AMUSEMENTS -:- News and Gossip About Theatrical Events

'The Goose Hangs High' to Be Buddy Rogers' Last Film For Paramount

By HARRISON CARROLL

(Copyright, 1931, [illegible])

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 2.

Maybe I shouldn't bring it up, but Christmas is coming, and the studios are considering what stories will have special appeal for Yuletide release.

Paramount's choice is "The Goose Hangs High," which will be one of Buddy Rogers' last pictures for the company. Peggy Shannon will be the girl. Incidentally, she is leaving here today for New York. Hollywood won't see her again until the middle of October, when Director Frank (Beaver) Tuttle expects to start shooting.

Peggy Shannon

"The Goose Hangs High" is the story of two selfish children who neglect their parents until they have a last-reel attack of remorse.

HARD WORDS, EDDIE

Out here they still are laughing over Eddie Cantor's gag:

"Since Hollywood has taken up polo, for the first time in the history of the game, the horses have better blood than the players."

LATEST GOSSIP

Marie Prevost and Adela Rogers Hyland are giving a shower to Arline Judge on Saturday night. Since Skeets Gallagher throws a bachelor party to Wesley Ruggles the same evening, the wedding bells can't be far off. . . . Bill Boyd showed up in the Brown Derby with a black eye. How come? . . . Charles Einfeld now is said to be reconciled to George Thomas as head of Warners publicity. . . . Eddie Welch, the scenarist, reports Earl Carroll has sent him a door-mat with the word "Scat" replacing the familiar "Welcome." These mats should prove very popular at Malibu. . . . Ralph Bellamy went into a pawn-shop (he didn't say why) and discovered a scarred photograph of Sarah Bernhardt bearing her own signature . . . Eddie Love's Fox contract was up Monday.

Marie Prevost

WELL, WELL!

A correspondent of the London Daily Express had tea with Jacqueline Logan and reports she has written and will co-direct a film called "Strictly Business."

Says Jackie:

"Film audiences are largely composed of women these days. They want to see men, of course, and a woman director can understand how they want these men to behave on the screen.

"In our picture," continues Jackie, "we refuse to have close ups of legs, kisses and things. We want a pleasant production."

Why not improve on this, and have all love scenes take place behind a screen.

SHADES OF DUMAS FILS

They were a couple of tourists who were very much thrilled over attending the local first night of Jane Cowl in "Camille."

Jane Cowl

Presently came the time when the unfortunate Marguerite Gautier displayed the first signs of tuberculosis.

"Tsch!" tsched the woman, "isn't it too bad that Miss Cowl has such a bad cold on her opening night."

Hollywood displayed a lively curiosity about this premiere. Chief reason, perhaps, was Gilbert Roland's stage debut as Armand. Previously he had played the role in Norma Talmadge's film version of the drama.

Plays, Players and By-Play

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS

"East Wind" will become a gale of laughter if Joe Penner has his way. It will be composed of seductive airs if the talent of Sigmund Romberg is up to the customary notch. It will blow into town tomorrow morning and breeze from the stage of the Nixon next Tuesday night if Harry Brown's wind-vane hasn't gone awry, and that excellent instrument hasn't gone awry since old Boreas, himself, adjusted it. It may have gone acorn once or twice, but not awry. So on Tuesday, unless all weather signs fail, there will be a premiere of "East Wind" in the Nixon. It is Schwab & Mandel's new operetta, making its bow to the world.

The talkies will be talked about obliquely in "Once in a Lifetime," a satiric comedy about the emotion pictures and their emoters, when the original—that is, as original as a group of 40 can be kept—New York company comes to the Alvin Monday night. Which means that Jean Dixon, Hugh O'Connell and Grant Mills will be seen in the parts they created. It is the work of Moss Hart and George S. Kaufman and was staged by the latter for Sam H. Harris. Its Metropolitan run recently ended, counted up to 401 performances.

Among amusements presently to appear on the local stage are Ethel Barrymore in "The School for Scandal," "Meet My Sister," musical comedy; "The Student Prince," operetta; "Princess Charming," another musical, and Al Jolson in "The Wonder Bar." . . . John Barrymore has allied himself with M-G-M and it is said his next picture will be "Arsene Lupin," with his brother, Lionel. . . . Jeanne Aubert, French actress, whom we saw last season in Schwab & Mandel's "America's Sweetheart," has been added to the cast of Ed Wynn's new frivol which has been premiering in Philly. . . . Genevieve Hamper Alexander, widow of Robert Mantell, and remarried, is in Los Angeles trying to break into the movies.

She Knows

Claudette Colbert knows lots of things, but she won't tell everything in "Secrets of a Secretary," coming Monday to the Davis and Enright screens.

Movie Gives Tabloids A Slap

By CLARENCE E. GRUNDISH

Extra, extra—theater promotion men have been shouting for weeks: "Five Star Final" is coming. And now it's here in the Stanley.

This "Five Star Final" is a picture of a certain phase of newspaper life—a drab, soiled phase. At least the tabloid journal in this film is drab and soiled. In fact, the drama of "Five Star Final" is built upon ugliness.

There is the ugliness of a hypocritical newspaper owner whose mercenary soul brings ruin to innocent victims caught in the black type of his front pages. There is the ugliness of a managing editor who digs in the dirt of scandal and tries to wash his hands clean with soap. It takes six reels and a couple of suicides to prove to him that soap won't do.

THE PUNCH IS THERE

Not great drama, not a great motion picture, "Five Star Final," however, is entertainment with a punch. And though in final analysis it builds to nothing more than a fellow quitting his job, it maintains an exciting pace all the way through. It is handled by players who know how to put the slam and the bang into it.

Edward G. Robinson, as the managing editor, isn't another "Little Caesar" in this one, but he's effective enough to dominate the affair. "What this paper needs is more reporters who drink," he shouts. And you believe him, provided a little honesty be mixed with the whisky.

IT SHOUTS AT YOU

Oscar Apfel, H. B. Warner, Frances Starr, Marian Marsh, Anthony Bushnell, George Stone and Boris Karloff put their characters over with force. Karloff looks like the late Lon Chaney. He masquerades as a clergyman in the best Chaney manner, too. And there's the girl, Aline MacMahon! She deserves a spot in the spotlight for her portrayal of the editor's secretary.

The story concerns the resurrecting, in the cause of circulation, of a 20-year-old murder story and the tragic effects of this resurrection. It drives two persons to death and almost wrecks the romance of a boy and a girl.

"Five Star Final" shouts out at you with the smack of the big headlines.

Girl Friend

Minna Gombell is the "wise-cracking" girl friend of a young bride in "Bad Girl," the much-talked-about film which is on a third week in the Fulton.

Carnival

(From "City Child")

The circus dancer prances
in a petticoat of yellow,
The proud drum-major waves his hand and makes the music play—
The clown pretends to play a tune upon a stringless 'cello,
The elephant catch peanuts,
and the waiting horses neigh.
The lion tamer and his wife expose themselves to dangers
While the people in the stands applaud and marvel at the sights—
And behind a door that's labeled:
"No admittance here to strangers"
An old and mumbling woman
mends a pair of scarlet tights.
—Selma Robinson.

The Old Story

When Rudy Vallee was a sax tooter in Gilda Gray's cafe on Twenty-fifth street, long before he was famous, he once asked Daniel Frohman, owner of the Lyceum Theater next door, if he might use an empty dressing room so he could rehearse.

"I'm afraid not," said Frohman.

The other night at the Chevalier dinner they sat next to each other. Rudy recalled the incident.

"I'm sorry," said Frohman, "but I'll tell you what. Anytime you want to use my theater to rehearse, come right over. I'll even make my actors wait until you are through."

"That's fame for you," said a listener. "Look at Chevalier. They give him a dinner now that he can afford to buy one!"

Goodness!

Jerome Kern, who never raises his voice, bawled out the entire "Cat and Fiddle" company the other day in Philadelphia.

"I've lost my patience with you," he bellowed. "One of you in this cast is a scoundrel. I could tear him in two!"

"Heavens!" ejaculated one of the frightened stiff troupers. "What is wrong, Mr. Kern?"

"Aw," groaned the composer, "when we came down on the train from New York, I left my crossword puzzle on my seat. And when I came back—somebody had finished it!"

Not a Laugh in a Carr-Load

Frisco the joker has suddenly turned dramatic critic. At Reuben's somebody remarked that Alex Carr's recent casualty, "The Wooden Soldier," might have been better.

"Carr," said the talker, "was advised to put some laughs in it. But he said: 'Laughs? Not me! I make them cry! I'm dramatic!'"

"And was it dramatic?"

"Very," snapped Frisco, "one consekkative week!"

As If We Didn't Know

David Murray, of Bridgeport, observes that a Lucy Stoner is a woman who only uses her husband's name to charge things with, and that a Scotsman is a person who brings an empty flask to the party.

An X Marked the Spot

In a city not five hours from Broadway last year was the most prosperous night club in the world, they tell you. It drew the smartest people and its annual profit was $160,000.

But it took a ten-dollar bill to melt that 160 thou'. It started when the leader of the popular orchetsra told the management that a sax player wanted a $10 raise. The management refused. The crew threatened to quit the leader, as a result, and rather than lose his men he arranged backing for a night club across the way.

The town, it seems, just wouldn't support two of them, so both rendezvous failed. It turned out all right for the orchestra, however, for it now enjoys the distinction of being among the prospering favorites on the air waves.

Add Sillies

A person like Earl LaVere can carry a joke too far. He's now going about telling listeners that he knows a Scotsman who found a package of cough drops and started looking for a draught!

O, Mr. Wilstach!

Recommended for the Dictionary of Similes: Paris Tribune: Yaps like a ventriloquist's dummy. . . New York Sun: Up and down like the contents of a shaker. . . Ted Cook: Easy as a bogus count crashing Hollywood society. . . Variety: Babe Gordon's morals were lower than an Austin's axle. . . Helen Rowland: Impossible to glorify—as a frog, a bald head, and the human toe; also: Falling in love with a woman-charmer is like biting into a kumquat; first, you think it's an orange—and then you know it's a lemon. . . In love as in motoring, a woman is always disobeying the traffic rules—and then wondering how the "smashup" occurred.

Overheard

One of the boys asked Monta Bell:

"Are times really so tough on Broadway?"

"Well," said Bell, "instead of tin cups the blind men are using thimbles!"

Logic

When Jack Benny, the big-time comic, was in London recently, he discussed Evelyn Laye, the British star, with his booking agent there.

"Her name," said the agent, "is not 'Ev-lin'—but 'Eve-a-lyn'!"

"But it always sounds so funny," said Benny, "to hear you all say 'Eve-a-lyn' when you mean 'Ev-lin.'"

"Please," begged the Englishman, "it sounds just as funny to us to hear you Americans say 'Ev-lin.' Don't forget. After all, we came first!"

Sotto Voce

H. K.: Walter Wanger is not back with Paramount. Just a falsey.

Bide Dudley: You lucky stiff. No more columus to worry about. Only a radio talk. That's where the money is. Good luck.

Don't Wake Me Up!

(Let me dream!)

According to Variety, a mid-western commentator visited Broadway recently and returned home irritated with us all. He so asserted in a piece for his paper and grumbled long and loud.

Particularly distressing to him were our first nighters. They were such bores. So much so that many people in New York, he added, went to the second nights to avoid them.

Another writer, according to a confrere recently returned to the town from which he came (for success) and lambasted the columnists, New York and Broadway.

Such attacks are annoying when you pause to think of the damage they might do to Broadway. Heavens! Such pieces in the papers might frighten away visitors and then maybe the traffic congestion would be relieved!

Seth Parker, Jonesport Folks Here Thursday

Seth Parker and the Jonesport Folks have now started on their coast-to-coast tour, and they will appear in person next Thursday evening in Syria Mosque. Characters to appear will be Seth Parker, the role created by Phillips Lord; Lizzie, the chatterbox; Cephus, the lovable simpleton; the old Captain; Jane and her sweetheart John, and Mrs. Hooper, Laith and Fred.

"Some in Rags . . . . Some in Tags . . . . and Some"

in Velvet Gowns

The "rags and tags" of yester-season have had their day, and women turn to Fall's new fashions with one accord. Velvet—the tale is told. That is, the tale of smart gatherings in afternoon and evening . . . the tale of exquisitely beautiful lines . . . of simplicity that is so clever that it becomes elaborate. With frocks of this kind, there is no need to rely upon bows and bangles . . . and flowers . . . and other whatnots, unless one wilfully goes about spoiling the whole effect! The necklines are soft . . . the hips molded . . . the bottom of the skirt just full enough to be graceful. The colors are Black . . . or Brown . . . or a new Plum shade that has just put in an appearance and is proving interesting for those who are wont to have a bit of change. Every well-ordered wardrobe should have at least one Velvet to its credit if it aspires to smartness this season.

Madelon Says:

Speaking of velvets . . . I saw some accessories that were just made to go with the new ones. New York shops are showing a new chiffon hose known as "waffle chiffon" . . . that looks as if they had been put through a tiny waffle iron. Not mesh hose, remember, but chiffon in a pattern effect. Then there were some velvet bags—one in particular was a perfect circle with a slice cut out of the top to form a handle. A circle of rhinestones was its only ornament. After all, though we may not be "grande ladies" . . . we may feel like them when we see ourselves as others will see us in a rich, beautifully cut velvet frock.

Read Madelon's Mirror every Sunday for smart things of interest to women.

Knowing that Velvet frocks are so much in vogue, the Pittsburgh department stores and specialty shops have made careful selections, which are now awaiting your approval.

Since the velvet frock is playing such an important part this Autumn, you will do well to give careful thought to your purchase of one. Note the advertisements that appear throughout this paper. You will find that they feature different styles and types . . . and that they are uniformly low priced in accordance with the general trend toward more value at more savings.

STOCK MARKET SOON LOSES ADVANCE

Gains of 1 to 5 Points Dwindle and Losses of 1 to 3 Appear; Steel Off

NEW YORK, Oct. 2 (AP.)—The stock market found it lacked the strength for a sustained upturn today, but it experienced no further convulsions of heavy selling.

A better tone in the bond market, particularly in the United States government issues, was regarded as a sign that distress liquidation had been completed and there was considerable talk in brokerage circles of good buying in the share market on scale down. A brisk upturn of 1 to 5 points attracted no following and soon lost.

Soft spots cropped out here and there. Losses of [illegible] points appeared in [illegible] hide, Eastman, Coca Cola and Allied Chemical. Rails sagged after midday, several issues losing a point or so. United States Steel sold up 1¼ in the early trading but this advance was later replaced by a moderate loss. American Telephone pushed up 2 only to fall back about 4 from the top. American Tobacco B rose 5 and fell back 6. Trading was most active on the advance however and dwindled considerably as the list slid back.

On the whole speculative sentiment in Wall street brightened considerably with the [illegible] heavy selling pressure. Nevertheless, the fact that advances so regularly attract fresh selling, possibly representing the liquidation of stock bought for support purposes appears to have destroyed confidence on the bull side. Furthermore many traders are reluctant to follow upturns unsupported by impelling signs of general business improvement.

The Weekly Mercantile Reviews provided a little encouragement. Bradstreet's reported that retail buying had been stimulated by cooler weather, low prices and large advertising expenditures. Clothing dealers are reporting a good volume and a normal turnover is reported in groceries and foodstuffs, electrical appliances and various housewares. This agency, however, says:

"A normal seasonal rise has by no means materialized."

It mentions shoe manufacturing and California fruit canning as lines feeling the adverse effects of conditions in Europe.

The weekly Federal Reserve statement showing that the system had been able to absorb some $125,000,000 in bankers acceptances dumped on the market as a result of the European disturbance, without permitting any marked stiffening of money rates was interpreted as striking evidence of the huge credit resources of the system and tended to still any uneasiness over the outgoing movement of gold. Leading bankers regard the outflow of gold as a distinctly constructive development. The short term money market remained plentifully supplied today with outside offerings of call money at 1½ per cent.

BRIGHTER TONE IN LONDON

LONDON, Oct. 2 (INS)—Stock prices closed brighter on the London exchange today with fractional gains recorded in a number of leading industrial and utilities issues. The pound sterling closed at $3.97.

PARIS, Oct. 2.—Trading on the bourse was marked by active buying of French rentes. International stocks and coal and electric shares were nervous and uncertain with business inactive.

GAINS IN GRAIN SUBSTANTIAL

CHICAGO, Oct. 2.—Substantial upturns in grain prices early today accompanied rallies in stock market quotations. Unexpected strength shown by the Liverpool wheat market tended also to lift values. Opening ⅛-½ to ⅝ cent higher, wheat continued to point upward. Corn started at a shade to ¼ gain and subsequently scored an additional advance.

Wheat bulls emphasized 1,353,000 bushels decrease in Russia's exports during the last week and called attention to London reports that a serious financial crisis had shaken Russia. The advices said Russia's unfavorable foreign trade balance was rapidly increasing and that the finance commissar had ordered rural co-operatives to collect debts forthwith and compel peasants to sell grain. Liverpool reports said grain collections in Russia were much below the quantity planned, that world shipments of wheat were expected to decrease and the British traders considered recent declines in wheat prices excessive.

Corn and oats derived firmness from wheat price upturns.

Tobacco Company Adding Employes

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—The American Tobacco Company has made a substantial addition to the force at its Durham (N. C.) plant. This increase was made necessary by a doubling in the production of Bull Durham tobacco since the inauguration less than a month ago of a new advertising campaign for that brand of tobacco.

Erie Employes Seeking Business

MARION, O., Oct. 2.—Five hundred employes of the Erie Railroad voted to organize to solicit freight and passenger business for the railroad with the point of view of increasing revenues and maintaining the present wage scale.

Sugar Market.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—Raw sugar was firmer early today. Refiners showed more interest but were not inclined to raise their bids above 3.40c. Holders, however, who yesterday were said to be willing to sell at 3.45c are now asking 3.50c. Some small parcels were said to be available at around 3.45c to 3.48c. The only sale confirmed was 20,000 bags of Cubas for prompt shipment to Savannah at 3.41½c delivered.

Refined prices were unchanged at 4.50c to 4.55c for fine granulated with a little better inquiry reported but still limited to nearby requirements.

BUYING DEMAND LIFTS LONE STAR GAS

Fuel Leader Moves Ahead On Local Stock Exchange; Mesta, Harbison Decline

Lone Star Gas rallied on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange today, influenced by the sharp upturn at the opening of the New York market. Lone Star's volume of trading in the stock than was noted yesterday. The price held steady later when the "big board" turned reactionary.

The general list was inclined to firmness but aside from the big fuel leader there was no concentration of activity in any particular stock. Most of the changes were fractional. Two exceptions to the general trend were Mesta Machine which dropped back to 17, a new low, and Harbison, which sold off to 20, also a new bottom. Pittsburgh Plate Glass held steady in face of the announcement that the annual dividend rate had been reduced from $2 to $1.

Solar Refining Approves Merger

LIMA, O., Oct. 2 (AP.)—Merger of Solar Refining Company of Ohio was approved by Solar stockholders. The consolidation was ratified on the basis of 3.6 shares of Solar stock for one of Standard.

Standard stockholders will meet today in Cleveland to consider the merger. Solar is capitalized at $4,000,000 and has total resources of $6,157,000.

SEPTEMBER CAR SHIPMENTS

DETROIT, Oct. 2.—Olds Motor Works produced 2,590 cars in September comparing with 2,367 in August this year and 2,298 in September, 1930.

Graham-Paige Motor Company shipments totaled 1,612 cars, which was an increase over both July and August, and the first month this year to exceed the similar month of 1930.

LOANS DECLINE $35,000,000

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—Loans on stocks and bonds to brokers and dealers by reporting Federal Reserve member banks in New York City, decreased $35,000,000 during the week ended September 30 to $1,172,000,000. This is a new low and compares with $1,207,000,000 in the preceding week and the record high of $6,804,000,000 on October 2, 1929.

Theater Company Defaults Interest

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—(AP)—The Theater Realty Company, subsidiary of the Fox Theaters Company, has advised holders of $10,000,000 in bonds issued to finance theaters in St. Louis and Detroit that the semi-annual interest payment due October 1 will be defaulted.

Youngstown Mills To Maintain Rate

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—Dow, Jones & Co. says the mill schedule of Youngstown district steel plants for the coming week is likely to show little change from the current average of 30 per cent, but a narrow increase rather than a loss is anticipated if any change develops.

CHICAGO STOCK QUOTATIONS

Forbes

Short Selling Not Suited To These Times, Should Be Banned for the Present

By B. C. FORBES

PRESIDENT WHITNEY and the governors of the New York Stock Exchange should forthwith ban short selling until this latest spasm of hysteria has passed.

B. C. Forbes

LET US GRANT for the moment that the stock exchange governors are not only sincere but are sound in their contention that short selling is defensible and salutary in normal times.

But the stock exchange authorities should frankly recognize that we are not at this moment living in normal times but are passing through historically abnormal times and that the American people are much more seriously concerned with current trying conditions than with idealistic theories.

SHORT SELLING can be and often is wholesome when security quotations are unduly inflated. Inflation most assuredly is non-existent today. Rather has deflation been carried to absurd extremes.

The shrinkage in 100 representative stocks since the 1929 boom has been fully 70 per cent. Last month alone these common stocks shriveled in market value $5,700,000,000, or more than 30 per cent. Twenty leading utility and oil stocks included in the list shrank almost $2,000,000,000.

Amusement stocks fell over 38 per cent, motors 36 per cent, electrical manufacturing and mining and retail and chemical stocks approximately one-third of their value.

NOBODY CAN claim that there is need today for forcing securities still farther down. And that is the sole purpose of the professional bear—to precipitate fresh demoralization so that he can rebuy at slaughter prices what he sold higher up.

The people the Stock Exchange governors should have solicitude for today are not the bears but the many millions of citizens who were induced to put savings into stocks and bonds.

CERTAIN STOCK Exchange governors argue that the forbidding of short sales would help the market only temporarily. Without attempting here to admit or rebut that assertion, I would like to submit other and weightier considerations.

Whether they know it or not, the indisputable fact is that the Stock Exchange and all those intimately identified with it have fallen into grave public disfavor. A very large number of citizens hold "Wall street" chiefly blameable for the nation's present plight.

They are convinced, rightly or wrongly, that Wall street concerns and individuals, from J. P. Morgan & Co. all along the line of investment firms and promoters, foisted upon them billions and billions of dollars' worth of securities during the stock market boom and the sponsors of these countless pieces of paper must have known that the buyers would be badly burned.

Many people go further in their anger over the ruinous losses they have suffered; they ask:

"If it was right for all these Wall street people to move heaven and earth to lead us—mislead us — into purchasing their securities, isn't it their bounden duty to move heaven and earth to protect the market value of these same securities?"

THE ARGUMENT is that there was no lack of leadership during the inflation movement but that there has been a scandalous lack of leadership during the deflation movement; that the mighty banking firms and banking institutions that fathered and sold stocks so aggressively owe it to their millions of victims to show the same aggressiveness in buying and in every way possible upholding the market for these securities now that wreck and ruin are threatened.

WALL STREET firms and institutions can and do make this reply:

"Our business is to distribute, to sell securities, not to buy them."

That may or may not satisfy their own conscience but it most certainly does not satisfy those they persuaded to buy.

THE STOCK Exchange governors, our foremost international bankers, responsible investment firms and everyone else occupying a position in Wall Street should not be blind to what is occurring in the minds of the American people regarding them.

Even should the banning of short selling be regarded as of scant practical value, the authorities should give weighty consideration to public opinion and should not frustrate it if any other course be available. Such a course is available in this matter of prohibiting short selling.

Unless Wall Street ceases to flout an incensed public, politicians will not hesitate to take up the cudgels on the public's behalf. It is high time for Wall Street to exercise statesmanship, not short-sighted stupidity.

Railroad Officials Reach Merger Agreement

By GEORGE H. SNYDER

RAILROAD MERGERS IN THE EASTERN trunk line territory were brought a step closer yesterday with the completion of an agreement by the four dominant systems for a general consolidation plan. The rail leaders did not make the details of their ideas on the consolidation public but stated that the proposal would be placed before the Interstate Commerce Commission within a few days.

For months rail officials have been at loggerheads over several details of the consolidation arrangement. At times these obstacles appeared to be unsurmountable. As near as can be judged from their announcement following the last conference, the attitudes of all the opposing interests have been brought into harmony.

The actual completion of railroad mergers is still far away but the greatest preliminary stumbling block has been pushed aside. It now will be necessary for the railroads to convince the commission that their four-system trunk line plan for the Eastern territory is preferable to the commission five system plan. After that the carriers will be free to set about the business of working out plans for the exchange of securities to make the consolidations effective.

Difficulties Encountered

WHILE THE RAILROADS have expressed their ideas about the ideal allocation of systems to four major trunk lines at several times in the past, they were unable, until yesterday, to present a detailed plan because of several minor disagreements. Among the questions blocking progress were the Pennsylvania's insistence on trackage rights over the Nickel Plate lines along Lake Erie, the Pennsylvania's domination of New England through its control of the New Haven, Pennsylvania's control of such lines as the Wabash and the Virginian, and the Nickel Plate's demand for an entrance into Bethlehem, Pa., over the Lehigh Valley.

Just what solution has been reached on these questions is not clear at present, but it seems certain that the troubles have been ironed out or the railroads would not have declared that they are prepared to appear before the commission with their plan.

Opposed to Commission's Idea

IT IS GENERALLY THOUGHT that the Interstate Commerce Commission will be willing to recede from its proposal for five trunk lines in the Eastern territory as outlined in its general consolidation plan for the entire country.

If the railroads are successful in winning the commission over to their way of thinking on the merger question, the principal effect on Pittsburgh will be the abandonment of the proposed Taplin trunk line from the Great Lakes through Pittsburgh to Baltimore.

Taplin had his Pittsburgh and West Virginia Railway build an extension to Connellsville to connect with the Western Maryland, eastern unit of the projected line. The Wheeling and Lake Erie was to be the western unit.

The fact that Taplin has sold his Pittsburgh and West Virginia stock to the Pennroad Corporation, child of the Pennsylvania Railroad, is believed to indicate that any sincere effort to complete his plan has vanished.

In the Interstate Commerce Commission plan the Taplin trunk line was to be a part of the Wabash-Seaboard, or fifth system. The railroad four-system plan proposes that the Baltimore and Ohio keep its control of Western Maryland, that Chesapeake and Ohio keep the Wheeling and Lake Erie, and that the Pittsburgh and West Virginia be a jointly controlled terminal line.

BIG BANK DEAL ASSURED

NEW YORK, Oct. 2—(AP)—The National City Bank, second largest in the United States, and the Bank of America, National Association, awaited today only the fulfilment of certain conditions to become a merged institution—the second largest bank in the country.

Directors of both banks approved the merger plans yesterday. The actual consolidation was made conditional upon the deposit of 85 per cent of the shares of the Bank of America stock with a special committee before October 17. As 63 per cent of the stock is controlled by the Transamerica Corporation, founded by A. P. Giannini, directors of which approved the plan yesterday, the deal is regarded as assured of consummation. The exchange basis is one share of National City for 1⅔ shares of Bank of America.

The combined assets of the National City Bank and the Bank of America are approximately $100,000,000 less than the $2,429,000,000 assets of the Chase National Bank, the largest in the world.

Dr. A. H. Giannini, A. P. Giannini's brother, is chairman of the Bank of America. It is understood that his status under the merger is as yet undecided. The matter is complicated by the dropping of A. P. Giannini and other members of his family from the Transamerica directorate last week when they were replaced by members of the large banking firm of Lee, Higginson & Co.

Bancamerica-Blair Corporation, investment affiliate of Bank of America, is not included in the merger. It will become a separate investment company.

St. Louis Upholds Cotton Belt Sale

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2—(AP)—The City of St. Louis today urged the Interstate Commerce Commission to reject the report of Examiner Sullivan, opposing acquisition of the St. Louis-Southwestern by the Southern Pacific Railroad.

Communities on the St. Louis-Southwestern, also known as the Cotton Belt, are backing the project.

Baldwin Awarded Westinghouse Job

NEW YORK, Oct. 2—The Baldwin Locomotive Works has received an order from Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company to build bodies and mechanical parts for 20 electric locomotives for the Pennsylvania Railroad.

U. S. Steel Reduces Price on Tin Plate

The price of tine plate for the fourth quarter has been reduced 25 cents a box by American Sheet and Tin Plate Company, United States Steel Corporation subsidiary. The new price is $4.75 a box, Pittsburgh, and $4.85 a box, Gary. Independents are expected to follow the cut.

COTTON STEADY AT DECLINE

NEW YORK, Oct. 2—(AP)—Cotton opened steady today 4 to 6 points lower under a continuation of southern selling which appeared to be combined with some selling for Liverpool and continental account. This was probably influenced by reports of continued good weather in the South but the early offerings were absorbed by trade buying.

Some little commission house demand was also reported, supposedly attracted by the new low level of prices and the market held steady during the first half hour with prices showing rallies of 2 to 3 points from the lowest.

The market eased again later in the morning under a renewal of southern selling while there was some liquidation or local selling promoted by reactions in the stock market. December eased off to 5.78c or 8 points net lower, and the midday market was quiet at net declines of about 6 to 7 points.

LIVERPOOL, Oct. 2—Cotton—spot moderate business done, prices 14 points lower. American strict good middling 4.96d, good middling 4.61d, strict middling 4.41d, middling 4.31d, strict low middling 4.16d, low middling 3.96d, strict good ordinary 3.76d, good ordinary 3.46d. Sales 6,000 bales, including 3,500 American. Receipts 5,000, American 1,700. Futures closed steady. October 3.96d, December 3.90d, January 3.92d, March 3.98d, May 4.05d, July 4.10d, October 4.16d.

No Apprehension Felt In Washington Over Drop in U. S. Bonds

No apprehension was felt in Washington official circles at the slight downward quotations on government bonds in the last few days. A strong factor in the drop was the lack of confidence in foreign countries, especially in London, which has led to the selling of a large amount of American government bonds for which there is normally a wide international market. General conditions in the industrial and commercial bond market have been weak, with a consequent reaction on "governments."

In connection with the reduction in the Columbia Gas and Electric Corporation's dividend, the company issued the following statement: "During the past two years the revenues of the corporation have been unfavorably affected by depressed industrial and seasonal conditions. However, these declines are being largely offset by operating economies which are not yet fully reflected in the earnings. Under the most adverse earning conditions yet encountered, the earnings per share of common stock have exceeded $1.50 a share on the number now outstanding." President Gosser stated that the company has shown an increase in earnings in every month during the past four months over the same months in 1930.

The drop in stock market values on a percentage basis during September proves to have been about equal to that experienced in the panicy months of October and November of 1929, when the market first started on the toboggan. Stocks closed higher on only five days last month and closed lower on 20 occasions. Measured by Standard Statistics' 90-stock index, the market lost 33 points, or the equivalent of just about 30 per cent in the period, this comparing with a decline of 75.6 points, or the equivalent of about 31 per cent experienced in the two months' period, October-November, 1929. In short, last month was beyond doubt the worst period of the bear market to date, judged by the decline in values wrought in the period.

Washington administrative officials say they have not heard beyond printed reports of plans for a stock market investigation. They class as ridiculous the intimation that the administration is sponsoring any such move or that legislation could be said at this time to have presidential approval. Officials condemn short selling in times of wide disturbance, such as the present. However, they do not go to the extent of approving measures to bar short selling permanently, regarding it as a market stabilizer.

During the current year Continental Can Company has continued to maintain its strong current financial position with inventories showing further reductions from last year. In spite of the reduced canning activity this year the company had earned its dividend of $2.50 per share by a comfortable margin at the end of August, O. C. Huffman, president, stated today. Earnings for the balance of the year depend to a great extent upon the size of the tomato and other late canning crops which normally can be expected to add substantially to the earnings.

Commonwealth and Southern Corporation had more than $50,000,000 in cash and government securities as of August 31, last, after allowing for cash advances made to various subsidiaries. Current liabilities totaled $28,231,937. Other current assets brought the total to $80,460,980, making working capital $52,229,042, against $47,933,199 eight months earlier. In addition, the corporation owns $25,000,000 first and refunding bonds of its operating subsidiaries and its advances to date entitle it to additional bonds worth several millions of dollars.

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, Oct. 2—The bond market was generally higher today and trading was somewhat more active.

EXCHANGE USED TO REGULATE CASH FLOW

Many British Investors Liquidate Their American Holdings Into Dollars

By MERRYLE RUKEYSER
Universal Service.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2—On account of the British restrictions on foreign exchange dealings, the New York Stock Exchange has recently been called upon to perform what are tantamount to central banking and international exchange functions.

With the normal financial channels clogged by official inhibitions, the stock exchange has been used as an agency for regulating the flow of capital between the United States and Great Britain since the latter country temporarily departed from the gold standard.

Mr. Rukeyser

British individuals owning American securities have in substantial amounts liquidated their holdings here and converted them into dollars. Thinking in terms of sterling, rather than in terms of gold, these foreigners realize an apparent profit. They get dollars, which are worth a substantial premium in terms of sterling, which has shrunken 20 per cent.

By converting American securities into cash, the Britons, who are denied gold at home, get dollars, which are readily convertible in gold.

Thus the liquidations of American securities constitutes one avenue for accomplishing a moderate redistribution of the world's supply of monetary gold, which has become glutted in New York and Paris.

Incidentally, the immediate domestic effect here has been to add to the selling pressure against stocks and bonds, which already had been weak. Those who understand what is going on behind the scenes, however, are saved from drawing false conclusions from the recent decline in prices. The foreign liquidation has been less an adverse judgment on the outlook for industrial profits in the United States than an effort to get dollars and gold in the one convenient way that was left open to them.

THE ROAD BACK

Soldiers Take Exception to Speech of Welcome

Synopsis

Ernst, who enlisted when a schoolboy, tells the postwar story of a group of war comrades who march home when peace is made, to find everything changed — themselves most of all. They cannot seem to adjust themselves to peacetime demands. Their companions and war memories alone seem real and important. Ernst feels a barrier between himself and his family, a divergence of thought and ideals. Invited to a formal dinner at the home of a wealthy uncle, he disgraces himself by eating with his fingers. Next day he accompanies Ludwig Breyer and Albert Trosske to Teachers' College, where they plan to resume studies interrupted by the war.

Now Go On

CHAPTER XX.

In front of the grammar school we meet our old chum, Georg Rahe. He was a lieutenant and had charge of a company, but on leave he only got drunk and loafed about, and took no thought for his finals. So now he is going back into upper second again, where already he has been twice left behind.

"Is it true, Georg," I ask him, "that you've become such a crack Latin scholar up the line?"

He laughs and stalks off on his long legs to the grammar school.

"Watch out you don't get a bad conduct mark," I shout after him.

He was an airman for the last six months and brought down four Englishmen. But I don't believe he can still demonstrate Pythagoras' theorem.

We go on to the Teachers' College. The whole lane is teeming with uniforms. Faces suddenly loom up that one has almost forgotten; names one has not heard of for years. Hans Walldorf hobbles along. We carried him out with a shattered knee in November '17. His leg has been amputated at the hip; now he wears a heavy jointed wooden leg and thumps along on it noisily. Kurt Leipold appears and introduces himself laughingly: "Godfrey of the Iron Hand, gentlemen!" He has an artificial right arm. Then someone comes out at the gate and says in a gurgling voice: "You don't recognize me, perhaps, eh?"

FACE MAIMED

I study the face, if such it can still be called. Across the forehead is a broad red scar that runs down into the left eye. There the flesh has grown over, so that the eye lies buried deep and small. But it is there still. The right eye is fixed; that is glass. The nose is clean gone, a black patch covers the place. The scar continues below it and splits the mouth in two. The mouth itself is bulbous; the parts have grown together askew—hence the unintelligible speech. The teeth are artificial. A bracket is visible across them. In doubt still, I continue to look at him. "Paul Rademacher," says the gurgling voice.

I recognize him now. Why, yes, of course, the gray suit with the stripes—"Well, Paul! And what have you been doing to yourself?"

"Can't you see?" he says, trying to straighten his lips. "Two cuts with a trenching tool. And these went with the rest." He shows a hand from which three fingers are missing. His one eye is blinking distressfully. The other looks straight ahead, fixed and unconcerned. "Wish I knew if I could still be a school teacher. My speech is pretty bad, isn't it? Can you understand me?"

"Sure," I answer. "And it will improve too, as time goes on. Besides they'll be able to operate on it again later, of course."

He shrugs his shoulders and says nothing. He does not seem very hopeful. If it were possible at all they would have done so already, no doubt.

Willy barges his way through to us to give us the latest news. Borkmann, we hear, died of his lung wound after all. He developed galloping consumption. Henze too—he shot himself when he found out his spine injury could only end in an invalid's chair for life. No wonder—he used to be our best footballer. Meyer was killed in September, Lichtenfeld in June. Lichtenfeld was out there only two days.

We stop suddenly. A diminutive little figure is standing before us.

"No? Not Westerholt?" says Willy incredulously.

"The very same, you old mushroom," he answers.

Willy is staggered. "But you're dead!"

"Not yet," retorts Westerholt amicably.

"But I saw it in the newspaper."

"That was just a misprint," says Westerholt, with a wide grin.

"A man can't rely on anything these days," says Willy, shaking his head. "I thought the worms had eaten you long ago!"

"After you, Willy," answers Westerholt complacently. "You'll be the first. Red-haired people never live long."

ADDRESSED BY PRINCIPAL

We go in. The quadrangle, where we used to eat our bread and butter at 10 o'clock, the classrooms with the desks and the forms, the corridor with the rows of hat pegs—they are all just the same, and yet to us it seems somehow as if they belonged to another world. Only the smell of the gloomy rooms is familiar—not so rank, but still similar to that of the barracks.

The great organ with its hundreds of pipes is gleaming in the hall. To the right stand the masters in a group.

I look at the group of masters. For us they were once more than other men, not merely because they were in charge of us but because, however much we may have made fun of them, we believed in them. Today we see them merely as so many somewhat older men of whom we feel mildly contemptuous.

There they stand now and propose to teach us again. But we expect them to set aside some of their dignity. For, after all, what can they teach us? We know life now better than they; we have gained another knowledge—harsh, bloody, cruel, inexorable. We could teach them for that matter, but who would be bothered? If a sudden raid were to be made on the hall just now, they would all be rushing about like a bunch of poodles frightened out of their wits without a ghost of an idea what to do, whereas not a man of us would lose his head. As the first thing to be done—merely that they should not be in the way—we should quietly lock them all up and then begin the defense.

The principal is clearing his throat for a speech. The words spring round and smooth from his mouth; he is an excellent talker, one must admit that. He speaks of the heroic struggle of the troops, of battles, of victories and of courage. But for all the fine words, I feel there is a snag in it somewhere; perhaps just because of the fine words. It was not so smooth and round as all that. I look at Ludwig; he looks at me. Albert, Walldorf, Westerholt, it does not suit any of them.

The principal is getting into his stride. He celebrates not only the heroism out there, but now the quieter heroism at home, also. "We at home here have done our duty too; we have pinched and gone hungry for our soldiers, we have agonized, we have trembled. It was hard. Sometimes perhaps it has been almost harder for us than for our brave lads in field gray out yonder—"

"Hopla!" says Westerholt. Murmurs begin to be heard. The Old Man casts a sidelong glance in our direction and goes on. "But indeed such things are not to be weighed and nicely balanced. You have looked into the brazen face of Death without fear, you have discharged your great task. And though final victory has not accompanied our arms, yet all the more will we now stand together, united in passionate love of our afflicted Fatherland; in defiance of all hostile powers we will rebuild it, rebuild it in the spirit of our ancient teacher, Goethe, whose voice now rings out so commandingly across the centuries to our own troubled time: 'Let might assail, we live and will prevail.'"

WILLY ANGERED

The Old Man's voice sinks to a minor. It puts on mourning, it drips unction. A sudden tremor passes over the black flock of masters. Their faces show self-control, solemnity—

"But especially we would remember those fallen sons of our foundation who hastened joyfully to the defense of their homeland and who have remained upon the field of honor. Twenty-one comrades are with us no more;—twenty-one warriors have met the glorious death of arms; twenty-one heroes have found rest from the clamor of battle under foreign soil and sleep the long sleep beneath the green grasses—"

There is a sudden, booming laughter. The principal stops short in pained perplexity. The laughter comes from Willy, standing there, big and gaunt, like an immense wardrobe. His face is red as a turkey's, he is so furious.

"Green grasses!—Green grasses!" he stutters. "Long sleep? In the mud of shell holes they are lying, knocked rotten, ripped in pieces, gone down into the bog—Green grasses! This is not a singing lesson!" His arms are whirling like a windmill in a gale. "Hero's death! And what sort of a thing do you suppose that was, I wonder? Would you like to know how young Hoyer died? All day long he lay out in the wire screaming. Then a bit of shell took off his fingers and a couple of hours later another chunk of his leg, and still he lived; and when night fell at last he was done. And when it was dark we went out to get him and he was full of holes as a nutmeg grater. Now you go and tell his mother how he died—if you have so much courage."

Famous Screen Actor Reweds His Divorced Wife

"Your voice is great—registers exceptionally well," Dobson said. Dobson was the production manager of a unit of the great Apex Pictures Corporation.

"So far, so good," Conley Wood answered, smiling hopefully. "I certainly want to keep working for another year. I don't mind telling you that by that time I will be able to sit back and live not riotously but comfortably."

"Retiring in a year, Con? Hell's bells, in a few more years you'll be making another fortune doing old men roles."

"God forbid!"

"Why not? Big money in it. Men with brains to put real work in old men parts are scarce. Just now you're betwixt and between."

"Between what? Come on, you've got bad news, so let's have it, Mr. Dobson."

"Well, be honest with yourself. You are too old to do young men parts and you aren't old enough for old men parts."

"How about middle-aged men?"

"You know yourself that the woods are full of 'em and that pictures seem to run mostly to either juveniles or to the old boys."

"Meaning that you can't cast me in the next picture—is that it?"

"Can you do Wally Rennessler, the profligate boy of 21?"

GIVEN ADVICE

"Afraid not," Conley Wood confessed, "afraid it would be quite a strain."

"Not on you, but on the imagination of the fans. And there's the part of Gen. Rennessler, the stern old grandfather. He's 90 in the story—and with our modern cameras the old wigs and grease paint wrinkles won't do."

"Well?"

Dobson slapped Conley Wood on the back.

"You're in luck. Go take a few years' vacation; you can afford it. You like roughing it—get a shack in the mountains. Live the life of Riley. Later you'll be drawing down five centuries or more a week for the old man parts, which are easy."

"I'll think it over, Mr. Dobson."

Dobson told him that was the spirit. He knew well enough that Wood would try elsewhere and that he wouldn't have much of a chance for juvenile parts.

Conley Wood was disappointed but he did not rail at the fates. He knew that the years marched on and could not be stemmed. After all, he was 45 and had been playing juveniles and young men steadily up to now. He had no kick coming.

JEALOUS WIFE

He liked San Francisco, and thought of going up there to live quietly. He had many friends there. But Helen was there. It would be better for him not to go. Helen had been his wife for 10 years. They had been happy enough most of the time but after a while, Helen being a non-professional, she acquired a jealous streak.

When a man is good looking and talented and makes a good living at playing juveniles and young lovers in pictures, he has to do a great deal of lovemaking—in pictures.

Trouble was, Helen took this too seriously. It made her furious to see her husband passionately kissing this and that good looking star—on the screen.

Plenty of Helen's would-be friends would say, "Well, if it were my husband I'd watch him. How does it feel to see your man making such mushy love to those painted up movie queens?"

Conley couldn't do anything else. He had to live, he wanted to save money. And so when Helen had a particularly high-tempered session with him he suggested that she run over to Reno and get her freedom.

He didn't want to be sending her money all the time; he would give her a lump sum, fifty thousand, which was at that just five-sixths of what he had saved.

Conley hadn't been East in many years. So he came East and met many acquaintances, some having come back from the Coast because of the hard times there in the picture game.

Harboard, who was the star director for the Ajax unit at the Long Island studio, saw Conley Wood between the acts of a revue and greeted him with surprise.

"Thought you were riveted to the West Coast," he said.

"Taking a little vacation. What are you doing now?" Wood asked.

"Getting ready to make a swell opus, Conley. Can you get away with a juvenile, now?"

"Sure."

"You're on. I'll send a script over to you," and Harboard dashed away.

READS MAGAZINES

When Conley Wood read the manuscript he was in a mental turmoil. The part indicated was practically the lead—it would be a long job, and a well-paid job, for Harboard had named the figure, which topped the best Conley Wood had received heretofore. But could he do it? Could he get away with a 25-year-old part? If he flopped it would be terrible. And if he refused then word would get around that he was past juveniles.

Going through some of the picture magazines, studying the illustrations to find instances of actors of around his age who were still able to get away with youthful roles, he noted some beauty lotion advertisements. Certain well-known women of almost a generation ago were writing testimonials and backing it up with photographs to show how well they retained their youth.

If women of 50 who confessed to being "over 30" could be made to look like finishing school girls, why wouldn't it work on him?

With some hesitation he dropped in at Madame Deschamp's Beauty Shoppe. An attractive young lady came forward.

"If," Conley Wood said, "you people can make elderly women appear youthful, why couldn't you do the same for me?"

"I—I would say that it is possible, but I am new here. Mme. Deschamps will return in a few minutes. I would rather have her give you an opinion," the girl said.

Conley Wood sat in a small room trying to get interested in the magazines and wondering if he hadn't made a sort of a fool of himself. He heard someone enter and heard the girl talking with her. He caught part of the conversation.

There was more talk. Evidently Mme. Deschamps was doubtful, but she was cautious and her voice was only a murmur. Finally a plump woman with an extremely fresh complexion came into the room.

"I am Mme. Deschamps," she said; "just what it is that you—"

Conley Wood had arisen. He stood there staring at her. She stopped suddenly in the midst of her sentence and returned his stare.

"Why, Conley," she said, finally. She said it very quietly.

"At first I didn't know you, Helen—you have gained—and you seem, well, different. So you are here in the East, running a beauty parlor?"

"Yes, Conley. I was silly and thought the money you settled on me would last forever. I saved enough to open up two of these shops. So you want to be young again?"

Every day Conley Wood underwent beauty treatments at the hands of his former wife. He did not enjoy them, the massages, and the skin foods, the electric treatments, also the silly contrivances he had to sleep in to help take away a trace of double chin and to keep his skin soft.

"It's rather queer, Helen, to imagine you beautifying me so that I may take a lover's part again."

"A woman can be forgiven for being a fool once, Conley, but not for a second time."

"The girl is new to me," he went on. "She .. from Denmark, they say—mighty clever. I've seen her pictures."

"Yes, Lida Vechtman."

When Conley Wood showed up for work Harboard was delighted.

"You're a wonder, Conley; don't know how you do it," he said.

KEEPS SECRET

All through the making of the picture Conley Wood went evenings for his beauty treatment. When the picture was finished Helen—Madame Deschamps to the trade—wanted to see the projection.

"All right, Helen, but I warn you, I make mad love to this stunning girl."

"I won't be jealous again," she promised.

Conley Wood's divorced wife enjoyed the picture.

"You were great—you used to make love to me that way in real life, Conley—I'm sorry I was such a jealous fool," she told him.

"Let's try again, Helen. I know now that you are cured. You saw me making passionate love to this beautiful girl and it didn't even annoy you."

And so Conley Wood remarried his former wife. They were, and still are, comfortable and happy together. Helen has no jealous traits now and only one secret from him—that this Lida Vechtman was also one of her Beauty Shoppe patrons—and Lida was 45, herself!

JOSEPHINE WAS ALWAYS SO UNDERHANDED WE WARNED THAT SILLY LAWYER TO BE CAREFUL. OH, IT JUST MAKES ME GRIND MY TEETH TO THINK HOW THAT WOMAN, OF ALL OTHERS, IS LAUGHING AT ME.
SWEETHEART, OUR LAWYER NEEDED SOMETHING LIKE THIS TO PUT HIM ON HIS TOES. HE KNOWS NOW THAT A PHONY LIKE GEORGE HAS TO BE WATCHED EVEN BETWEEN ROUNDS.
OH BOLERO WHY SAY ONE THING AND THINK ANOTHER? I KNOW RIGHT NOW THAT WE'LL NEVER SEE ONE NICKEL OF THAT MONEY.
WHAT! SWEET, DO YOU REALIZE WHAT YOU'RE SAYING? WHAT IS THE BIG IDEA OF THROWING A MONKEY-WRENCH IN THE WORKS WHEN I'M TRYING TO KEEP FROM THINKING ALONG THE SAME LINES? IS THAT CO-OPERATION?
OH, THAT CATTY JOSEPHINE! I'VE A GOOD MIND TO CALL HER UP RIGHT NOW AND AT LEAST HAVE THE SATISFACTION OF TELLING HER—
NO, SWEET! NO VIOLENCE! LET THE LAW TAKE IT'S COURSE! BY CALLING HERE AT 2 A.M. OUR LAWYER PROVED AT LEAST THAT HE WAS ON THE JOB NIGHT AND DAY. EVERYTHING CONSIDERED, I'M NOT ONE BIT DOWNHEARTED.

Avail Yourself of Our Travel Service

Above picture illustrates the work our Travelers' Aid Bureau does without pretense or ostentation. The young man wants to go to Australia. He meets our T. A. B. field worker in the park by appointment. She looks him square in the eye and answers any question he may ask, providing, of course, it is proper and has to do with Australia. Sometimes a pretty romance springs up, and there is a pathetic parting as the friendless traveler tears himself away while the T. A. B. lady walks slowly back to the office to munch her lunch, silent and alone, in this big city of shattered dreams.

For the Superior Court

Gov. Pinchot Will Win Approval If He Names Judge Stadtfeld for the Superior Bench.

Gov. Pinchot shocked many of his supporters the other day by placing on the state's payroll a "ward heeler" who had just been exposed as having procured hundreds of tax receipts for use in the primary election, including one in the name of a man dead 18 years. We refer to the appointment of Howard Neely to a place in the Department of Justice.

That was a bad appointment, and Pinchot can atone for it only by making a good one. An opportunity is open in the vacancy on the Superior Court bench created by the elevation of Judge Drew to the Supreme Court.

Judge Stadtfeld is admirably equipped for the place. Pinchot will win golden opinions from the legal fraternity and the laity if he will appoint this learned and popular jurist to the vacancy.

Allegheny County contributes a large share to the business of the Superior Court and should have representation on its bench.

The appointment of Judge Stadtfeld would be reassuring as evidence that Gov. Pinchot has not completely surrendered to the organization politicians.

Judge Stadtfeld is independent of the organization. That is the reason why his nomination for another term in Common Pleas Court is in doubt. His independence is an additional recommendation.

Huge Buying Power

Polk Canvass Shows There Is Plenty of Business Available Here for Aggressive Merchants.

The 18 questions put to the women heads of 218,980 families in the Pittsburgh district by R. L. Polk & Co., the directory publishers, elicited information of great importance, which was presented to the Retail Merchants' Association at a luncheon yesterday.

The canvass disclosed the following facts:

Ninety per cent of the families have one or more persons gainfully employed.

More than half the families have from one to five active bank accounts each.

Eighty-nine per cent carry insurance, averaging $4,692 per family.

There is encouragement in the report for aggressive merchants. It reveals huge buying power. Plenty of business is available for those who go after it.

The Sun-Telegraph announces elsewhere today it has purchased from R. L. Polk & Co. the privilege of presenting to the merchants of Pittsburgh the facts which have been uncovered in this consumer study.

A Constructive Step

Mellon National Bank Makes Helpful Move In Bank Situation.

The Mellon National Bank has performed a service to this city of inestimable importance. The liquidation of the Third National Bank without any interruption to that organization's business may have prevented embarrassment to hundreds of depositors.

This action will do much to maintain the confidence of depositors in banking institutions. The Third National accounts have been transferred to the Mellon National Bank. New pass books will be issued and depositors will have immediate access to their funds.

The step taken by the Mellon National Bank was a most impressive move toward the elimination of fear.

The Illiteracy Menace

Adult Citizens Unable to Read or Write Constitute a Serious Problem.

In a system of government like ours, in which the people choose their governing officials by voting, it is obviously of the highest importance that the voters shall be intelligent and well-informed. Otherwise they run the risk of becoming a prey to demagogs and tyrants.

The Census Bureau reports that Pennsylvania has 240,323 persons above 10 years of age who are unable to read and write, and that 34,284 of them live in Allegheny County.

It would be interesting to know how many of these illiterates voted in the recent primary.

Illiteracy is a menace to good government, and it is gratifying to learn that through the efforts of the State Superintendent of Public Instruction an Advisory Committee on Illiteracy has been set up to attack this serious problem.

League Court Betrayal

Principles of Law Are Sacrificed to Political Considerations, Chicago Paper Charges.

That the League Court not only rendered a political opinion in the Anschluss case, but actually permitted itself to be used as a bludgeon by Old World diplomacy, is the charge made by the Chicago Daily News. An editorial in that newspaper said:

"The United States Senate has yet to decide whether or not it will accept the World Court protocol approved by the national executive. And most assuredly NEITHER THE SENATE NOR ENLIGHTENED PUBLIC OPINION will entertain the idea of adhering to a quasijudicial tribunal that SACRIFICES PRINCIPLES OF LAW TO POLITICAL CONSIDERATIONS OR THE FANCIED INTERESTS OF A PARTICULAR POWER OR ALLIANCE OF POWERS.

"Such a court belies its solemn pretensions and BETRAYS instead of UPHOLDING the cause of international law and justice.

"By no means the least disturbing feature of the Austro-German case is the fact that the substance of the opinion found its way out of the court a week in advance of its formal announcement. Consequently, diplomats and politicians of the old, unregenerate school were afforded the opportunity of using the information for their own purposes and VIRTUALLY COERCING AUSTRIA AND GERMANY INTO RENOUNCING THE INTRINSICALLY EXCELLENT CUSTOMS UNION PLAN.

"A court that cannot or will not protect its own important transactions from pillage, involving commercial or other ignoble uses, CANNOT COMMAND CONFIDENCE IN ANY QUARTER."

Marry-Go-Round

By HELEN ROWLAND

The Masculine Complex

You may convince a man against his better judgment, his intuition, his principles and all his common sense—but you can never convince him against his will and his inclinations.

You may convince him that you can't be kissed—but you can never convince him that you don't really WANT to be kissed.

* * *

You may convince him that you know that all his lovemaking is just a good line of "apple sauce"—but never that you don't enjoy listening to it.

You may convince him that a woman's intuition is uncanny and infallible—but never that he can't succeed in fooling her.

You may convince him that your prophecies were right—but never that he was mistaken in his judgment.

* * *

You may convince him that you adore him madly and admire him extravagantly—but never that you just like him casually and admire him only mildly.

* * *

You may convince him that you consider petting vulgar, cheap and pernicious—but never that any woman couldn't be petted, if a man went about it scientifically.

* * *

You may convince him that he's going too fast a pace, smoking too much, drinking too much and burning the candle at both ends—but never that it's going to land him in the hospital, the poorhouse or the divorce court!

I KNOW YOU LOVE ME!

You may convince him that you understand him—but never that you see THROUGH him or that you are ONTO him.

You may convince him that he isn't an Adonis or a Rudolph Valentino—but you can never convince him that there isn't "SOMETHING about him devilishly taking with the women."

You may convince him that a girl half his age is too young for him—but never that she couldn't "learn to love him."

* * *

You may convince him that you love him—but once that idea has taken root, you can never convince him that you have gotten OVER loving him, no matter what he may have done to cure you!

* * *

In short, next to trying to convince a mule, a secondhand flivver or a "fixed" jury, the hardest feat on earth is that of convincing a man when he doesn't want to be convinced!

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—Thoughts while strolling: Something for the psychoanalysts: In passing a certain Fifth avenue corner I always think of Blanche Ring and Charlie Winninger. And every time I see the Paramount clock lighted up I think of Mabel Normand. Joan Crawford and Pauline Frederick have eyes alike.

Walter Wanger and his wife Justine Johnson retain their youthful looks more than any couple on Broadway. The only actor who looks as big offstage as on is DeWolf Hopper. The actor whose stage size is most deceiving is Dr. Rockwell. He is pint-sized offstage.

I'm fed up hearing: "If we only get through this winter." We'll get through this winter and many more winters. They say several bank presidents and chairmen of boards are smuggled into offices these days through back alleys. Ring Lardner's brother—Rex. Sylvia Field lip-sticking on a hotel step.

John Charles Thomas, a Frostburg (Md.) boy, who made good in the city. Those mournful tooting river tugs touch me off with the miseries. Radio fans waiting outside a broadcasting bureau for Kate Smith. Irving Hoffman, the Morning Telegraph's new Broadway columnist.

Two playwrights and four novelists who retired to Southern France are returning this fall. "Securities" trouble. A grisly gag—calling them "securities." Two historical books about the old Waldorf as the new opens. Smart press work? Or coincidence? Joe Weber in smoked glasses.

Ted Healy and Fred Astaire look alike. What's become of Lillian Lorraine? Talk about "It." None today touch Lorraine in her triumphant days. Neysa McMein always has to stop to think before spelling her married name—Baragwanath. And George S. Kauffman just stuck in the "S" for swank.

Conrad Nagel has had the steadiest employment in Hollywood during the past five years. Wonder if anyone else ever has a letch to trim Messmore Kendall's eyebrows. What will they do with the Radio building when Radio City is built? Or does anyone care?

The de luxe speakeasies are serving equally de luxe free lunches at the cocktail hour. I am told that in one there is a huge table with 10 white-capped and uniformed attendants where there are spread spiced hams, imported sardines, a surprising variety of cheese, olives and cold meats. The same place is reputed to have a square bar and a fleet of 16 bartenders.

The longest bar I ever leaned against was on the main street in old Tia Juana, advertised as the longest bar in the world. So or not, on busy weeks ends 30 bartenders were on duty. It was considered a part of the trip over the border to start with the first bartender and drink a glass of beer with each as far as one could go down the line. Lew Cody, in his serious drinking days, reached the 22nd barkeep but was shaking so with uncontrollable grief that he sagged a bit at the knees. When I left him he had sent out for a horse to make the rest of the journey.

The most picturesque bar to my notion was that in the 42nd street corner of the old Knickerbocker. To my yokel eyes it offered the cream of worldliness. One saw the celebrated Gondorfs, Caruso, Richard Harding Davis, Nat Goodwin, Wilson Mizner and a sprinkling of international gamblers. There was, too, the head barman, "Silver King," with his strip of snow white forelock and over the bar Maxfield Parrish's sweepingly vivid canvas "Old King Cole."

I remember distinctly that memorable Monday morning when the World first-paged momentous news that cocktails at the Knickerbocker had jumped from 15 to 25 cents. The sedate old Evening Post followed it up in the afternoon with an editorial snort of indignation. It was flayed because it established a dangerous precedent. "Who knows," wrote one editorial writer, "but what New York may eventually pay a half dollar for its cocktail?"

* * *

When the Knickerbocker closed, the proprietor, James Regan, had an ordinary sized room filled with canes left hooked over the Knickerbocker bar.

LISTEN, WORLD

By Elsie Robinson

Remember that doleful ditty—

A man's work lasts from sun to sun,
But a woman's work is never done."

Eve, I suspect, composed that theme song when she put the first pot of spinach on to boil. And it has been a red hot household favorite ever since. As a recent explosion in this column proved.

Just to keep things stirring, we printed a letter from a certain Alice Whitley. Alice is a modern working girl. She lives with her married sister, who is possessed of a comfortable home, washings-out-and-help-in-on-Saturdays, a nice car, two lovely babies and a once-fond husband, who is fast getting the heeby-jeebies. All because the Missis believes in the woman's-work-never-done theory . . . and proves it by having the dishes stacked in the sink, the dinner still uncooked, and the babies yelling all over the place when Sister Alice and Husband Al come home at night.

"There's no excuse for her," snapped Alice, with the usual sisterly snort. "The babies are well . . . she's strong . . . the house has every convenience. The trouble is she hasn't any system. She spends hours gabbing over the phone, then wonders why her work isn't done. She won't train the children, so of course they run all over her. IF I RAN MY JOB THE WAY MOST WIVES RUN THEIRS, I'D BE FIRED IN A WEEK."

Which sounded like the makings of an argument, so we passed it on. Thinking how all these Modern Wives would rise in defense of their efficiency. But once again we're wrong. For days the mails have bulged with sympathetic sobs for that Poor Dear Overworked Woman . . . and mean remarks about Working Girls who write letters like that and Female Traitors who publish them!

So I'm wondering. Is it really true that "IT'S UNFAIR TO EXPECT BUSINESS METHODS OF A WIFE OR MOTHER?"

Young Mrs. Lane protests that it is. "Marriage is not a business," she cries. "A HUSBAND HAS NO RIGHT TO EXPECT HIS WIFE TO BE AN EFFICIENT WORKER. She loves him and is his inspiration that is more valuable than the work of 20 servants, and he should be so grateful that he will gladly do the housework after office hours himself."

The lady admits, however, that the idea isn't going over so big with her own husband. But men are ingrates ever.

But 3,789 Mad Mammas can't all be wrong. Here's M. E. G., of Philadelphia, speaking for the rest of them.

"To the girl who works in the office," says she, "life is forever new and interesting. New work, new faces, new ideas, keep this girl mentally and physically alert and fresh. But consider the wife and mother. She, poor thing, hasn't much interest outside her home. Her life consists of the same unvarying routine.

"She rises in the morning and prepares breakfast for her husband, who is probably too absorbed in his paper to notice her face across the table. The hurried good-bye kiss doesn't satisfy the woman who once knew the thrill of his passionate caresses. Then comes dish-washing . . . cleaning . . . baby's bath and nap . . . bottles . . . the laundry . . . getting Junior off to school . . . shopping . . . mending—so, far into the night. Naturally, by nighttime, she is tired and discouraged. She can't possibly be as fresh as the girl who only works during office hours."

Swope Plan Will Not Cure Evils of Reckless Business

By BAINBRIDGE COLBY

THIS much at least can be said for the plan for industrial stabilization put forward by Mr. Gerard Swope, president of the General Electric Company—it is a plan.

Throughout the trying course of the current depression, it has seemed that the heads of our great business enterprises have been stricken with silence or taken refuge in cyclone cellars.

Mr. Colby

Difficulties have multiplied. Confusion has increased. Security values have crashed through one resistance level after the other, and yet NO WORD OF LEADERSHIP HAS COME FROM OUR INDUSTRIAL CHIEFTAINS.

Speaking—a little tardily—for the somewhat discredited body of the country's business executives, Mr. Swope has at least restored them to the picture and rendered their point of view vocal, if not instantly convincing.

The plan contemplates resolving the nation's business into logical and coherent units, and the co-ordination of production and consumption, within the boundaries of each unit, with a resultant stabilization of prices and employment.

The difficulty of achieving this highly centralized control of prices and production, Mr. Swope solves, out of hand, by proposing enlarged federal regulation.

Public regulation, however, has yet to vindicate itself.

The most stubborn resistance it has encountered has come from the utility combinations, more or less closely affiliated with Mr. Swope's great company. It is from the vast industry of electric lighting and power that the boast has proceeded that "we regulate regulation."

NOW, IT IS NOT A PLAN—A NEW THEOREM OR FORMULA—WHICH CONSTITUTES THE CRYING NEED OF THE HOUR.

Serious as present conditions are, they would be served quite as well, and perhaps better, by A LITTLE DOWNRIGHT HONESTY OF APPROACH AND SINCERITY OF SPEECH AMONG BUSINESS LEADERS THEMSELVES.

The truth is that the whole spirit of corporate management in this country, with but few exceptions, leaves something to be desired in the matter of candour and good conscience.

There has been and is a feeling of complete separation of interest between the officers and directors on the one hand, and the stockholders, who are the legal and beneficial owners of a corporation, on the other.

THE insiders deem themselves alone entitled to true information as to the condition of the corporation, its prospects and its purposes.

This information has been used FOR THE ENRICHMENT OF THE INSIDERS, at the expense of the shareholders, and not infrequently for the purpose of DECEIVING AND OUTWITTING the shareholders in their dealings with their company.

The capital stock of corporations has been unconscionably watered. Successive increases have been voted, the nominal value of shares repeatedly cut and reduced, not for any purpose remotely associated with the well being and progress of the corporation, but for the sole object of capitalizing its anticipated growth, upon the most exaggerated assumptions, and then DISTRIBUTING SUCH INFLATED STOCK WITH THE AID OF RECKLESS AND IRRESPONSIBLE OVERSTATEMENTS OF ITS ACTUAL AND PROSPECTIVE VALUE.

The profits of a prosperous year, instead of being equitably distributed between the owners of the property and the workers in the industry, have been seized greedily and used as a basis for ever increasing capitalization, thus enabling the insiders, by shrewd dealings in the stock, to achieve fortunes OVERNIGHT, which should only be the rewards of A LIFETIME OF ZEAL in the service and upbuilding of the corporation.

THESE facts are becoming more and more clearly recognized by the investing public. Capital for industry's revival which would readily be forthcoming but for the destruction of confidence among investors, is constantly being withdrawn from investment and hoarded unproductively.

Instead of conserving and husbanding resources, our corporate directors have squandered the inherent strength of their companies in tinsel schemes of irrational and self-serving expansion.

Business, instead of coming through a period of depression as a sturdy ship weathers a storm, breaks down under a strain for which it has lacked the foresight to prepare; and LABOR AND CAPITAL ALIKE ARE OBLIGED, WITH LOSS AND SUFFERING, TO EXPIATE THE SELFISH FOLLY OF MANAGEMENT.

The men who direct our corporate industries have overplayed their hand. If they have not killed public confidence, they have done their stupid utmost to chill and undermine it.

ISN'T IT SO?

Divorce is a "flunk" of one or both of the parties.

Some people would rather have a vacation than a vocation.

Man doesn't have to join church to become a hypocrite.

Women are less dangerous than men; they usually talk before they act.

An optimist is a man who thinks when he sees a couple of old women whispering they are saying something good about somebody.

When a man's conscience worries him it is a sign that he is about to get caught.

Those who bargain with the devil should expect to be cheated.
